STATE TO INSIST ON ITS TAX METHOD ON STOCK PROFITS

Officials Say Concession in Federal Case Will Not Affect Ruling Here.

FIX VALUE ON JAN. 1, 1919

That and Not Purchase Price to Determine Gain From a Subsequent Sale.

TOTAL INVOLVED UNCERTAIN

Some Authorities Contend Decision May Force New York to Follow Government Action.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—Payers of income tax in this State will be taxed on any excess realized in the sale of stocks above the market value of the shares on Jan. 15, 1919, when the State income tax law went into effect, regardless of whether the whole transaction might have resulted in a material loss to the taxpayer, considering the price he paid for the stock if he acquired it before Jan. 1, 1919.

The New York State Income Tax Bureau will not accept as a precedent in computing the State income tax the position taken by Solicitor General Frierson in the case of Goodrich vs. Edwards in the United States Supreme Court, according to an announcement made today to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent by Mark Graves, director of the bureau. He is upheld in the stand he takes by Attorney General Charles D. Newton.

In the Goodrich case Solicitor General Frierson announced to the United States Supreme Court that the Government having taken an identical stand, was prepared to recede from its position, and asked the court to take judicial notice of the fact.

Mr. Graves pointed out that there was a vast difference between the power of the State Legislature and the power of the United States Congress to impose income taxes. The New York State Legislature, he said, was not restricted by any constitutional limitations, as is Congress, deriving all the power it exercises in such matters from the Sixteenth (income tax) Amendment to the Federal Constitution. If the State Legislature chooses to define as income for purposes of taxation profit which might not be income within the meaning of the Sixteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, it had power to do so, since it had power to tax profits under any designation.

No Limit on State Power.

According to Deputy Attorney General James S. Y. Ivins, who has charge of income tax litigation for the State, there is no constitutional limitation on the power of the State Legislature to tax profits, and it has indicated its intention in the State income tax law with unmistakable clearness.

Director Graves, after consulting Attorney General Newton and Mr. Iselin, told THE TIMES correspondent that the position taken by the Government in the United States District Court and upheld by that court, was correct. The same position was taken as recently as March 9 by Mr. Ivins in arguing the case of The People, ex rel. Klauber, vs. Wendell in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court at Albany.

During the argument of counsel for the taxpayers, members of the court pointed out, in interrogating him, that in any statute taxing profits it was essential that there be a starting point, otherwise profits and losses, which occurred many years ago, would have to be considered in making up contemporary income tax returns. They pointed out that the theory of the statute required a general balancing of the books of taxpayers and appraisal of all property as of the date when the statute became operative, and that all profits and all losses attributable to any time prior thereto should be ignored and that the taxpayer should be presumed to have taken his profits or his losses up to that time and to have started afresh.

Taxpayer's Protest Answered.

A suggestion, Mr. Graves said, was made by one taxpayer that the Legislature only intended to tax as profit the increase in value between the incidence of the income tax law and the date of the sale in cases in which there was an actual profit, as between the date of purchase and the date of sale, and that if there was no such actual profit, there would be no tax to measure. He pointed out that this would lead to complete absurdity and gave the following examples:

If a man purchased stocks in 1890 for $1,000 which on Jan. 1, 1919, were worth $800, but which were sold in July, 1919, for $999, under the taxpayer's suggestion, there would be no tax. Under the State ruling and all the rulings heretofore made by the Federal Government, there would be a tax on a profit of $199. If the sale price was $1,001, however, there would be a tax upon $201 of profits under the taxpayer's theory, as well as under the theory of the officials. It is clearly absurd, he said, that a difference of $2 in a sale price could make a difference of $201 in taxable income.

It is the opinion of the State Income Tax Bureau officials that the Supreme Court of the United States would uphold the decision of the District Court in the Goodrich case, regardless of Solicitor General Frierson's statement, but that even if it did not do so a decision of that court based upon the consent of both parties to the action would not be controlling upon and would probably have very little weight with the courts of the State. The State bureau officials intend to maintain the same position as

Split Infinitive Endorsed By the New Administration

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Authors who have been criticised for the use of the split infinitive took heart today, for an excellent example of it appeared in a letter written on White House stationery and signed by Warren G. Harding, President of the United States.

The letter was addressed to Admiral Benson, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and contained the words "to immediately advise."

Fully to appreciate the joy given to the defenders of the split infinitive it was necessary to be actually among them. No greater joy was expressed by the advocates of phonetic spelling when the late President Roosevelt endorsed it.

OFFERS ARBITRATION TO PACKERS AND MEN

Secretary Davis Asks Both Sides to Meet Agents of the Department of Labor.

EXPRESSES GREAT CONCERN

Labor Union Will Halt Strike Vote if Firms Will Defer Wage Reduction.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, tonight offered the services of his department to the packing concerns and their employes in an effort to settle the dispute over the proposed wage cuts, which threatens to provoke a strike.

Following a conference with President Harding, Mr. Davis sent out late today messages asking the employes and the packing companies to appoint two representatives each to meet department agents with a view to adjusting the difficulty.

These messages were virtually identical. The one to the Secretary of the workers' organization reads:

March 11, 1921.

Dennis Lane, Secretary Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, 166 West Washington Street, Chicago, Ill.:

The Federal Government is deeply concerned about the maintenance of industrial activity, in the fullest understanding, and hopes there will be no interruption of the continuity of employment in the great packing industry. If the Department of Labor can be helpful in promoting understanding and can aid in any way to avoid the cessation of operation, such service by this department will be given most gladly.

The whole problem of industrial readjustment is of such widespread public concern that the Department of Labor, with the knowledge of the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce, requests that two representatives of labor engaged in the packing industry will report to this department to make possible such inquiry into the situation as may prove helpful in leading to a just and satisfactory solution. I am sending a like request to the employers, and am acquainting them with this request to you.

Surely there must be a just solution, and the good offices of this department are tendered in the hope of finding that solution so essential to the common good. JAMES J. DAVIS, Secretary of Labor.

Mr. Davis's message to the packers was addressed to E. A. Cudahy, Cudahy Packing Company; Edward Morris, Morris & Co.; L. F. Swift, Swift & Co.; Thomas E. Wilson, Wilson & Co.; J. Ogden Armour, Armour & Co.

Secretary Davis will await replies before taking any further steps. He is prepared to send a representative of the Government as an arbiter if employers and employes accept his proposal.

The employes' charge of violation of contract by the employers caused discussion here today. The men hold that the agreement was to remain in force until a year after the end of the war, and they insist that the United States is still technically at war with Germany.

The United States Mine Workers took the opposite position when they went on strike in the Fall of 1919. They had signed contracts which were to extend for a period after the war ended and contended that, although the United States was technically at war with Germany, it was unfair to hold that a state of war existed.

The American Federation of Labor recently decided to fight for the maintenance of present wage levels, alleging that profiteering was keeping up the cost of living. In backing up the employes of the packers the federation took the first definite step in this campaign.

Ready to Defer Strike Vote.

CHICAGO, March 11.—If the Federal Department of Labor can obtain from the meat packers of Chicago a promise to defer enforcement of their new wage and hour adjustment, effective Monday, the employes will defer strike balloting, it was announced tonight by Dennis Lane, Secretary-Treasurer of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butchers Workmen of North America.

Mr. Lane made this announcement on being informed of the offer from Washington of mediation by the Department of Labor.

"I note," he said, "that there is no reference whatever to our existing agreement with the packers which we hold to be still in force, but which the packers abrogated. We mentioned this agreement prominently in our message to the President.

"If Mr. Davis," he continued, "can get from the packers assurance that they will maintain the status quo not enforcing the wage and hour proposals effective Monday, we, in return, will be glad to defer our vote for a strike."

The labor chief said the strike ballots would probably be mailed tomorrow, "unless the status quo is agreed to," he said.

The packers were not willing tonight to discuss the suggestion of a conference of the packers and their employes until they had received the telegrams sent by Secretary Davis.

The price of meat in Chicago took a sudden advance today. Pork was 10 to 12 cents higher than on Monday, and beef, veal, lamb and mutton 1 to 4 cents more. It was stated that some small packing companies had suspended operations and that light receipts in the hog market had caused Chicago butchers to bid against each other for the choice meats. The heavy demand naturally forced up the price.

HALF-BREED GUIDE NAMED BY STILLMAN IN DIVORCE SUIT

French-Canadian Indian Employed at Banker's Camp Accused as Co-respondent.

PLEA OF WIFE UP TODAY

Counter-Claims Against Her Husband Are Expected to Be Set Up.

CHILD MADE CO-DEFENDANT

If Husband Wins Suit, Guy, Aged 28 Months, Will Lose Claim to Millions.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 11.—Fred Beauvais, a half-breed Indian, a guide at Three Rivers, in the province of Quebec, is the co-respondent named by James A. Stillman, President of the National City Bank of New York, in his suit for absolute divorce from his wife, Mrs. Anna Urquhart Potter Stillman, once familiarly known as "Fifi" Potter.

The Indian, part French-Canadian and part Indian, is described as six feet tall, 26 years old, and single. According to the first definite information to get through the extraordinary silence thrown about the case, he was employed at the Stillman Lodge, Stillman's Camp, just outside of Three Rivers, Quebec.

Another definite fact established today was that Guy Stillman, now only 28 months old, had been made a co-defendant with his mother. John E. Mack, former District Attorney of Dutchess County, was appointed his guardian-at-law.

Lawyers, some of whom admitted having read the allegations in the unfiled complaint made by the banker, expressed the opinion that if Mr. Stillman won his suit Guy Stillman would lose all claim to the Stillman millions. Strength to this opinion was lent by the fact that two other Stillman children, Anne and James, are not mentioned in the action.

Wife to File Counter-Suit.

After these statements in connection with the proceedings had been furnished to newspaper men, it was announced that the first phase of the divorce suit to be gone through in public would be enacted at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in open court before Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser. Attorneys for Mrs. Stillman will appear then to argue a motion to amend her answer to her husband's complaint. It was reported that she would offer an affirmative defense, as lawyers phrased it, setting up counter-claims against her husband.

This action, if taken tomorrow, will be the first move toward a counter-suit by Mrs. Stillman, notwithstanding a report that she had already begun such action, and indicated that the defense planned a bitter fight against a decree of divorce.

According to the record available, about a year elapsed before the first suspicion of allegations contained in the suit against Mrs. Stillman came to the attention of the banker, and, the record further indicated, nearly another year went by before suit, apparently inaugurated in the latter part of August, 1920, was decided upon.

Owing to the fact that no papers, bearing in any way on the suit, have ever been filed in the Supreme Court here, the Second Judicial Department, Ninth District, the exact date the contest was begun is unobtainable. An examination of the docket of Justice Morschauser's court disclosed that the first step taken in Poughkeepsie was in September of last year. The text of the entry on the court records on that date follows:

"At a special term of the Supreme Court of the State of New York held in and for the County of Dutchess at the Court House in Poughkeepsie on the thirteenth of September, 1920. Present Honorable Joseph Morschauser, Justice Supreme Court. James A. Stillman vs. Anna U. Stillman and Guy Stillman. Order appointing John E. Mack, on whom to serve papers for the infant."

Following the appointment of the former District Attorney to care for the interests of the child the second appearance of the case locally was on Dec. 11, 1920, when, with Justice Morschauser again presiding, both sides joined in a plea that the case be heard by a referee. The text of this entry follows:

"Order of reference. Daniel J. Gleason, referee; Cornelius J. Sullivan, attorney for plaintiff; Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, attorneys for defendant, Anna U. Stillman; John E. Mack, guardian ad litem for infant, Guy Stillman."

The third reference to the action was on last Saturday when a motion to amend Mrs. Stillman's answer to the allegations came up. It is this motion which will be debated tomorrow morning. The entry in this matter was:

"James A. Stillman versus Anna U. Stillman and Guy Stillman, motion to serve amended answer for alimony and counsel fee. Apparances: Nicoll, Anable, Fuller & Sullivan, as attorneys for the plaintiff; Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft and John F. Brennan, the latter of Yonkers, for the defendant. John E. Mack, guardian ad litem. Adjourned to March 12, 1921."

Another move in the case, it was ascertained, was a hearing held about five weeks ago in New York City by Surrogate Gleason, acting as referee. Clinging to his determination not to "violate professional ethics by any dis-

Tons of Girders Fall 10 Stories in Fifth Ave.; Graze the Automobile of Mrs. Henry Clews

Fourteen tons of steel girders dropped ten stories in Fifty-seventh Street, just off Fifth Avenue, when a hoisting crane cable snapped yesterday afternoon, and, though traffic was proceeding east and west across Fifth Avenue, failed to injure any one.

Mrs. Henry Clews, wife of the banker, had just stepped from her car, which stood at the curb, so near to the building, that is being constructed at the southwest corner, that the edge of the load damaged the rear of the car. Her chauffeur escaped with a scare.

The scene of the accident is just across the street from the Vanderbilt house and the roar of the great load of steel as it crashed down, digging a hole in the pavement, attracted hundreds from the dense traffic in Fifth Avenue, who believed a great disaster had occurred. Traffic patrolmen, leaving the regulation of vehicular movement temporarily to the towers, rushed to the place and preserved order.

At first it was feared some one might have been buried under the big load of beams, but that fear soon proved to be groundless.

FOURTEEN NEGROES SHOT IN RACE RIOT

Fight Pitched Battle With Whites Near Midnight in Springfield, Ohio.

TROOPS RUSHED TO CITY

Outbreak Follows Wounding of Policeman—Climax of Negro Assault on White Girl.

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, March 12.—Race disorders broke out here just before midnight tonight, following the shooting of a policeman by a negro who was being searched for firearms.

This was the culmination of a day of excitement following threats of race riots as the outcome of an assault made last Monday on a white girl by an unknown negro.

State officials tonight ordered out the entire Fourth Regiment of the National Guard and troops are being rushed to Springfield from nearby cities by railroad and traction and automobile trucks. The first troops are due to arrive at 2 A. M., and officials announce that the city will immediately be placed under military control.

Within a short time after the outbreak started one negro was in a hospital with a bullet wound, large crowds were milling about the streets and heavy firing was going on in the Yellow Springs Street negro district.

Late reports to the police were that fourteen negroes were shot in the battle between whites and negroes in that area.

Both negroes and officers took positions behind trees and buildings, pot firing at each other in the dark and with the scant aid of nearby street lights.

The police arrested a white man whose name could not be learned, who was scattering dynamite just outside the negro section. He said he was going to use the explosive to blow out stumps.

Everett Larie, white, just before midnight found the rear porch of his home at 719 Orchard Street aflame, he reported to the police.

At 1:20 o'clock a local National Guard company with a machine gun mounted on a motorcycle went to the Euclid Avenue district, where it was reported a band of negroes had formed and were marching into the city. Later reports said the negroes could not be found.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning the firing had ceased and the city was reported quiet. Large crowds of whites who had been on the streets early in the evening had been disbanded by the police. At one time the crowd made a move toward the City Hall and the jail, but was broken up. It re-formed, but was again broken up.

Tonight's disorders followed racial disorders for the last two nights, resulting from the assault, Monday night, by an unknown negro on Marge Ferneau, 11 years old. No arrests have been made in the assault case.

Following the shooting of Policeman Joseph Ryan by an unknown negro every available policeman and officer was rushed to the negro district, where shots were heard.

Lieut. Col. Harry Horner, Assistant Adjutant General, and Major Roy Chezeldine of London had been called to Springfield and had two Springfield machine gun companies ready for action when they were called on. Company C of London, twenty-five miles from Springfield, was ordered to proceed here at once, and the Marysville company was ordered here by motor truck.

Reports early in the day that an outbreak was likely to occur at any moment led the city manager, Edgar E. Parsons, to swear in 150 special officers and put Sheriff's officers, reserve firemen and American Legion men on duty with orders to search all suspicious looking persons for weapons and arrest those having them.

Springfield, a city of 60,000 population, has a negro population of approximately one-fourth. The negroes are grouped in various sections of the city, there being no single negro quarter.

SIMONS AND STINNES CLASH.

Foreign Minister Tells Coal King He Is Not His Office Boy.

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

BERLIN, March 11.—A crisis faced the German Government today when Germany's two strong men fell out.

Hugo Stinnes, industrial king, member of the Reichstag and of the Experts' Council which framed the German counter-proposals, attacked Dr. Walter Simons, the Foreign Minister.

Dr. Simons fought a verbal duel with Stinnes, declaring:

"I would take the advice of the Cabinet with pleasure, but I must remind Herr Stinnes that I am not his office boy."

The split between Stinnes, who controls the People's Party as well as Germany's coal fields, and Dr. Simons, to whom yesterday a vote of confidence was given by the Cabinet, is regarded in certain official circles as forecasting a Government crisis and, perhaps, the Cabinet's fall.

The break occurred in a secret session of the Reichstag Committee on Foreign Affairs. A stormy session of the Reichstag followed.

ROB EXPRESS TRAIN IN JERSEY CITY

Bales of Silk Tossed From Car Just After Starting for Washington.

$50,000 LOOT OBTAINED

Conductor of Another Jersey Central Train Sees Robbers at Work and Flashes Alarm.

A robbery, evidently carefully planned and daringly executed, whereby a solid express car train on the New Jersey Central Railroad out of Jersey City last night might have been despoiled of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of costly merchandise, was foiled by the quick-wittedness of a railroad conductor after loot estimated at $50,000 was obtained by the thieves.

Part of the proceeds, said to have been in the form of bales of valuable silk, was recovered early this morning and the police of Jersey City and Bayonne, operatives of the American Railway Express Company and detectives from the railroad's own police department were pressing an active hunt for the robbers and the rest of the booty.

The train, No. 512, made up of an engine, a tender and seven express cars, left the Jersey City station at 11 o'clock, bound for Washington. It was in charge of a conductor and had one or two armed guards aboard, but, according to custom, there was not a messenger in charge of each car. The train passed Van Nostrand Avenue, Jersey City, after having slowed up momentarily at Claremont Avenue, and was just picking up speed when Edward McEwen, conductor of an incoming train, glancing out as it passed, saw that the side door of one of the express cars was gaping open and a group of men within were tossing bales and packages to the roadway.

McEwen pulled the emergency cord of his own train and the engineer brought it to a jolting stop just under a signal tower. The conductor raced up to the towerman and gasped out his news. A second later the alarm was flying over the railroad wires and being relayed to the police of Jersey City and Bayonne. An automobile load of policemen was rushed from a Jersey City station house to Van Nostrand Avenue and at the same time railroad detectives raced thither.

Meantime word was sent over police wires to Bayonne, and Headquarters there sent a wagon load of detectives to the Eighth Street station, where the dispatcher had ordered the train to be halted. The engineer of the express train stopped suddenly when he saw the red lights set against him at Eighth Street, and then for the first time the crew of the despoiled train learned of the robbery.

The Bayonne policemen reached the scene soon after and at once searched the train from end to end, but failed to find any strangers aboard. The conductor said that he and the guards had exercised every possible degree of vigilance, but that they had seen no intruders.

The conductor had no definite idea where the robbers had boarded the train, but felt confident they had not been aboard when the train started. He recalled the slow-up at Claremont Avenue and thought perhaps the men had swung themselves aboard there, but even then he had no idea how they could have jimmied the door while the train was in motion, unless in some way they had managed to hang down from the roof and force an entry.

Complete reports of the affair had not been received at the headquarters of either the municipal police in Jersey City or Bayonne or the railroad or express operatives and as a result there was some doubt as to how much of the loot had been recovered. It was known, however, that not all the costly packages had been retrieved and this led to the supposition that the affair had been carefully planned and that confederates had been lying in wait at the designated spot and had succeeded in making away with part of the packages tossed off by the robbers.

No truck was seen in the vicinity of the point where McEwen saw the packages being flung to the roadway, and the theory of the investigators was that the men either had loaded those with which they made off into a waiting passenger car, which might have escaped observation, or that there were several confederates and that they carried the plunder off by hand.

Early reports of the robbery were ornamented with details of a hold-up and gunplay which spurred both railroad, express and municipal police to great activities, but investigation showed there had been no lurid features to the robbery.

The authorities felt that the fact that one of the express trains out of the metropolitan district, which depart every few hours with princely cargoes, could be so successfully looted furnished cause for alarm and called for the adoption of more stringent measures to guard against a new, or at least a rare, form of local criminality.

Allies Occupy Oberhausen, Seven Miles From Essen—Will Collect Customs in American Zone.

By CHARLES H. GRASTY.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 11.—According to first impressions Berlin shows little change compared with fifteen months ago when last I saw it. They tell me the Kapp putsch knocked down some of the improvements made after the armistice, but that general business and industrial conditions have recovered and are now somewhat better than at any time since the war.

I came as far as Ostend with the Simons delegation, who seemed to be in a comparatively cheerful mood and thoroughly convinced that they had done all they could do at the conference. Dr. Simons's Berlin reception gave him warrant to believe he had the support of German opinion.

The points of the situation that stand out may be summed up as follows:

First—The extension of the zone of occupation is received very quietly. The view seems to prevail that the penalties were more terrible in anticipation than realization so far as Germany is concerned. The penalties were effective as a menace, but their execution apparently has not yet changed the face of things. Perhaps the French military authorities, looking ahead to future moves, can see a value and importance not yet understood by the Germans, but it is hoped, and in many quarters here believed, that the adoption of military measures prior to May 1 as provided by the Versailles Treaty may tend to compromise the moral status of the Entente.

Secondly—German activities in other directions will now be postponed until after the Upper Silesian plebiscite. The loss of Silesia would, it is contended, destroy Germany's industrial integrity and greatly impair her power to pay. If Silesia remains German the reparations will be approached with something like optimism. Meanwhile all the resources of German energy and thoroughness are being used to mobilize voters in Silesia.

Thirdly—Almost universally in Germany quiet but deep hopes are entertained that the new Administration at Washington will give help, in one form or another. Nearly everybody I have talked with pins more or less faith in this possibility. The Germans do not find it difficult to believe that if France's policy prevails the world will be involved in common economic ruin and that American intermediation will come as a matter of self-protection.

Fourthly—If America remains aloof, Upper Silesia goes to Poland and the penalties are pressed, it is not improbable that Germany will definitely and formally submit to the conditions named by the Allies, placing upon the latter the responsibility for the results.

From the allied point of view the chief obstacle to a settlement with the Germans always seems to be their nonacceptance of the responsibility for the war and their unwillingness to accept the results of defeat. If this is, indeed, the chief source of difficulty in arriving at a settlement of the situation there would appear to be scant chance of agreement.

Conversations here abound in protesting against the idea that Germany was solely responsible for the war. Every one has some kind of evidence to offer showing aggression against Germany in 1914. The story of the destruction of two divisions of Germans by Russians on German soil in July, 1914, and of deliberate organized plans to invade Germany is repeated over and over again.

"We had no quarrel with France, why should we have moved against her?" the argument runs. When one shows indisposition to pursue the discussion there is the triumphant reply: "Ah! You and every other allied partisan shrink from answering that question." If you answer, your answer leads to the inevitable conclusion that Germany attacked France as Russia's ally to protect herself from an attack already made by Russia.

Apparently this talk is organized propaganda. It has no effect in allied countries, but it stiffens the Germans in an attitude to which Mr. Lloyd George pointed so tellingly as barring the way to a settlement.

Emigrants Held at Danzig To Appeal Direct to Harding

DANZIG, March 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—A large number of emigrants whose passports the American Consul refused to visé have decided at a mass gathering to appeal by cable against the Consul's decision to President Harding, according to a Warsaw dispatch.

There is a notable decrease in the number of emigrants trying to make their way to the United States since the difficulties of obtaining a visé for that country recently have become greater.

REBELS SHELLING PETROGRAD AGAIN

Most Furious Bombardment Yet Started Thursday Night, Continuing All Yesterday.

BIG FORT REPORTED TAKEN

Finnish Observer Says Krasnoye Gorka Has Yielded and Turned Its Guns on Petrograd.

STOCKHOLM, March 11 (Associated Press).—The fight for Petrograd has again flamed up, Kronstadt's bombardment, which was resumed last night, continuing throughout the day. In intensity the firing surpassed all previous efforts. At Terioki, on the Russo-Finnish border, and other places in Finland the ground was shaken and windows were broken.

The Dagens Nyheter reports that Kronstadt last night, by means of electric Morse signals, demanded the immediate surrender of Krasnoye Gorka, on pain of complete annihilation. During the day Krasnoye Gorka made only feeble reply to the heavy fire from the battleships Sebastopol and Petropavlovsk.

Telegrams received by the Nya Dagligt Allehanda say that Oranienbaum, on the southern shore of the Gulf of Finland, is partly in ruins and that fires are raging there. The artillery fire against the town on Thursday night was very fierce.

The dispatch says the open discussion of the situation by the Petrograd newspapers proves that Zinoviev, the Bolshevist Governor of Petrograd, now fears to exercise terrorism, as was formerly done.

Since this morning Kronstadt has heavily shelled Systerbäk and Valkiasars, causing fires. Some of the coast batteries replied.

It is reported, but without confirmation, that the insurrection has spread to the Karelian Peninsula, and that in fights there field artillery has been employed. Russian airmen Friday repeatedly flew over Finnish territory, according to the advices received here.

The suburbs of Petrograd, says The Dagens Nyheter, were bombarded Friday. Riots occurred, but details are lacking. Refugees arriving at the frontier today say that machine guns were used on the workers by the cadet officers sent out to put down the unrest.

A new revolutionary newspaper, The Izvestia, has appeared at Kronstadt. It publishes an energetic resolution passed by the soldiers of the fortress, appealing to the leaders to hold fast.

Revolution Reported Spreading.

COPENHAGEN, March 11.—According to special reports, the revolutionary movement is spreading with great rapidity in Russia, workingmen in numerous places rebelling against the Soviets and demanding the abolition of the Bolshevist dictatorship, the demobilization of the army and the re-establishment of communication with Western Europe. In the Don and Donjet districts there have been bloody fights, the local Soviets being replaced by new authorities.

The report of the surrender of Tver (ninety miles northwest of Moscow) to the revolutionists seems to be confirmed. The Soviet having sent troops against Petrograd, the rebels are said to have gained the upper hand easily.

An Ultimatum to Petrograd.

LONDON, March 11. (Associated Press).—Revolutionary authorities at the fortress of Kronstadt have sent an ultimatum to the Soviet authorities in Petrograd, demanding the surrender of the city before March 25. If the city is not given up, the ultimatum declares, there will be a general bombardment, it is asserted in an Abo (Finland) dispatch to The London Times. Wholesale arrests and executions of workmen are said to have occurred at Oranienbaum, Systerbäk and Petrograd.

Kronstadt last night sent out a wireless dispatch denying Bolshevist statements that the fortress was without food, says a telegram from Stockholm. On the contrary, there is plenty of food and ammunition there, according to the wireless message.

"Artillery fire from Kronstadt has been extremely well directed," the wireless dispatch is quoted as saying. "The fortress of Todleben and all other Soviet batteries on the Karelian Peninsula have been completely demolished. Two of the four twelve-inch guns at Krasnoye Gorka have been silenced by shells from the battleship Petropavlovsk. Krasnoye Gorka has been isolated, the railroad to it has been destroyed and a thaw has placed the surrounding marshes in such condition that the fortress has been cut off from the rest of the Bolshevist forces."

A great anti-Bolshevist movement in the vicinity of Minsk, White Russia, is reported in a Reuter dispatch from Helsingfors. Soviet troops are said to have mutinied and murdered Bolshevist Commissaries there.

Another dispatch mentions street fighting between the Bolsheviki and anti-Soviet units in Kiev.

Reports from Reval today state that Russian emigrants are forming a Government there, to include representatives

ALL WESTERN ROADS IN WAGE MOVEMENT; TALK OF RATE CUTS

Union Leaders Attack the Executives as Trying to Overload the Labor Board.

APPEAL MADE TO CUMMINS

Burlington, Alton, Wabash, Northern Pacific and Great Northern Announce Action.

SHIPPERS MAY GET BENEFIT

Reduction of Freight Rates Predicted if Labor Cost Is Cut $600,000,000.

CHICAGO, March 11.—The movement for a general reduction of wages of employes of all railroads, West and East, took on a wider sweep today.

Of the roads entering Chicago the only one tonight that has not summoned its employes to discuss wage readjustments was the Illinois Central. The Burlington, Alton, Wabash and Chicago Great Western all joined the general movement today.

While most of the roads have proceeded no further yet than to take steps to revise the wages of unskilled workers, officials of the Association of Railway Executives said today that all the lines would move to reduce the pay of skilled employes as soon as adjustments could be made in the cases of unskilled laborers. Such reductions will be handled individually by the roads in the same manner as the present announcement of cuts in pay for unskilled workers are being made, with no attempt at concerted action by the railroads.

The railway executives are unanimous in declaring that the reductions are necessary to pave the way for lower freight and passenger rates.

Union Leaders Attack Action.

Union leaders assail this assertion and insist that the railroads are trying to flood the Railway Labor Board with their demands and complaints.

A statement issued tonight by W. Jett Lauck, former Secretary of the War Labor Board, and now consulting economist of the railroads, said in part:

"Notices of proposed wage reductions on individual railroads have been expected since the meeting of the railway executives here on Feb. 18. It is part of the plan to deluge the labor board with a multitude of complaints and cannot be of much financial benefit to the railroads.

"In spite of the fact of the proposed wage reductions and the sanction by the Government to advance payments of its guarantees to the carriers, railroad securities have reached another low level on the Stock Exchange. This would not be so if the railroad executives were straightforward and sincere in their labor policy, and if their plans were directed by the most intelligent and farseeing of the heads of the roads. If financial relief, and not the breaking down of the labor organizations, were the object, the railroads in a certain area or district, would notify their employes of proposed wage cuts, invite them to select representatives to meet the representatives of the carriers in conference, and there, if no agreements could be reached, a complaint, covering a large number of railroads and their employes, be brought before the Labor Board."

Luhrsen Asks Senate Inquiry.

J. G. Luhrsen, President of the American Train Dispatchers' Association, asserted that the train sheets would show that the railroads were not economically managed and in a letter to Senator A. B. Cummins, Chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, he called for a Senatorial investigation of th transportation situation, "so as to avert serious strife over wage reductions."

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad held a conference yesterday with representatives of its 10,000 unskilled employes, with the view of bringing about wage reductions, Hale Holden, President, announced today. The conference adjourned until March 22 to allow the road's proposals to be placed before the employes themselves. The road proposed reductions of about 8½ cents an hour, varying in certain districts, Mr. Holden said. This would make the pay of unskilled men about 40 cents an hour.

W. G. Bierd, President of the Chicago & Alton Railroad, said that the line would take action soon.

"We will take steps to bring about reductions on the Chicago & Alton and all its subsidiary lines as soon as it can be done properly without embarrassing the Railroad Board," he said.

"The present freight and passenger rates are more than the public can bear, and must come down. To bring them down the roads must be taken out of their bankrupt condition, and there are only three steps which can bring that about. The three elements in this situation are fuel, payroll and cost of materials. All three are at their war peak. The price of fuel must come down, cost of maintenance materials must be reduced and wages must be lower."

Proposes a 20 Per Cent. Cut.

The Chicago Great Western Railroad, which announced yesterday that it would seek conferences concerning wage reductions for its unskilled employes, announced today that it would propose a 20 per cent. reduction for every one employed, except train service men, telegraph operators and skilled men. The pay of unskilled workers would be brought down to conform with rates paid in other industries. Conferences will be held with employes at Oelwein, Iowa, March 19. About 9,000 men would be affected.

The Wabash Railroad issued an announcement today at St. Louis that notice of a proposal to reduce wages next month had been served on its 3,500 unskilled laborers. A conference will be held next week to discuss the subject.

At St. Paul today it was said that wage reductions, ranging from 48½ cents to 25 cents an hour, were contemplated for unskilled workers by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroads.

Announcement was made at Omaha that the Union Pacific Railroad had proposed a reduction of 18 cents an hour in the wage scale of common labor. The proposal was submitted to labor representatives yesterday. Another conference will be held March 24.

At Springfield, Ill., the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis Railroad, which is in the hands of a receiver, served notice that it was "at the end of the rope." W. C. Hurst, general manager, indicated that unless the employes accepted reduced wages the road would close down on April 9. It will hold a conference at once.

With the army of the jobless growing in size, several roads have been desirous of splitting up work and wanted to reduce hours of labor instead of reducing their forces of warkers, just as many other industries are doing; but the national working agreements have stood in the way.

The Burlington recently proposed to some groups of employes that hours instead of forces be reduced. But the unions were cold to the proposal. Consequently in trimming expenses on account of languishing traffic men were thrown out of work instead of being kept on at part time. The Burlington has reduced its working force by 20,000 since the slump in business started.

The Union Pacific met its shop crafts and proposed a reduction of hours instead of curtailment of forces. It would have gone into effect, but the national unions threw cold water on it.

The next ten days will see conferences between nearly all the Western roads and their employes over the wage question. The consensus is that the roads will act in conformity with the transportation act. If no agreement is reached between men and managements the disputes go to the Railway Board.

In some instances a settlement will probably come about by agreement between the roads and their employes. Some railroad Presidents report a disposition of the men to be "reasonable."

Says Roads Are Living on Credit.

Statements issued by Presidents of the various roads declared that the proposed cuts were imperative to enable the railroads to run. It was said that the roads were now existing entirely on credit, through the leniency of their creditors, and that if they were forced to pay their bills immediately they would not be able to meet the weekly payrolls.

B. M. Jewell, Chairman of the Railway Labor Department of the American Federation of Labor, said today that he would have to wait until he received more details before issuing a statement on the reductions. Other officials questioned the right of the roads to confer with their employes by individual crafts, as the Pennsylvania Railroad announced it would do. The union men said that each road would have to hold one conference with representatives of all employes whose wages were to be cut and could not deal individually with the unions.

ROADS TO CUT RATES AS WELL AS WAGES

If Labor Expenses Are Reduced Shippers Will Share in the Benefit.

Railroad freight rates will come down in the near future if the big wage reductions proposed by the carriers become effective, according to railroad men who have been going over the statistics. This, it is the general belief, will mark a long step toward stimulating general business conditions and will also do much toward solving the whole railroad problem.

Statistics indicate that the wage reductions, in conjunction with the other economies, will allow the carriers to earn a surplus above the 6 per cent. which the new legislation provides for. With such a surplus in sight, it is believed, the way would be cleared for a contraction in freight rates and possibly in those for passenger traffic as well.

The railroads of the country, it is estimated, are entitled to earn approximately $1,080,000,000, as representing 6 per cent. on their physical valuation. Last year the net operating revenue was roughly $480,000,000, leaving a deficit of $600,000,000. If the roads now are able to save $650,000,000 on the wage account, and can add another $190,000,000 saving in other economies, there will be an apparent surplus of $240,000,000 above the amount which they are entitled to earn, according to the provisions of the Esch-Cummins act.

The display would stand thus:

Amount roads are entitled to...	$1,080,000,000
Earnings, based on 1920 figures.	$480,000,000
Savings in wages	650,000,000
Other economies	190,000,000
Total	$1,320,000,000

Business Improvement Seen.

This compilation does not take into account any improvement in earnings, and railroad men point out that 1920 was the worst in a great many years. Expert observers, including the new Secretary of the Treasury, are predicting an early improvement in general business conditions, including an improvement in railroad traffic, and it is the conviction of many that if railroad freight rates are reduced a reasonable amount business will be so stimulated that what the roads may lose in the returns per unit of freight hauled will be more than made up by the increased volume of business handled.

The situation, viewed in its broader aspects, is one designed to inspire more optimism over the railroad outlook than has been possible in a very long time. It is not to be expected, however, that business will be immediately stimulated. One banker said yesterday that it would require perhaps two months before the effects of any readjustment would be discernible. This was assuming that a general wage reduction went into effect about April 15.

If the railroads are successful in their effort to wipe out the $625,000,000 to $650,000,000 wage award of the Railroad Labor Board in July of last year, and most of the rate increases granted to offset that award were to be done away with, the roads would be back in the same relative position they occupied before the wage award was made when they were earning approximately 3 or 3½ per cent. on the aggregate value of their property. This is a far cry from the 6 per cent. prescribed in the Transportation act, but some managers say that they would be not only willing but eager to have such a revision occur, as they are convinced that the lower level of freight and passenger rates would release a great quantity of traffic which is now held back because of the present high rates.

Requirements of the Law.

On the other hand there are those who offer the objection that the Transportation act places upon the shoulders of the Interstate Commerce Commission the burden of initiating rates which will yield a return on aggregate property value equivalent to 6 per cent.

One railroad lawyer expressed the opinion yesterday that the rate increases which went into effect on Sept. 1, 1920, immediately brought about a checking of traffic and in the case of many commodities the effect was to prohibit their shipment by railroad.

On the question of the legality of wage decreases being announced and inaugurated by the railroads before the Railroad Labor Board has had an opportunity to rule thereon, there is apparently a wide difference of opinion.

Several of the roads which have already announced that on specified dates wages would be revised downward apparently intend to put such schedules into effect on the dates mentioned whether the Labor Board has considered the matter by that time or not.

As counsel for the roads interpret the law the board has no power to enforce its rulings, the only power being public sentiment. This has been considered quite generally as one of the weak spots in the Transportation act, for it is a rule that will work both ways. If the railroad workers refuse to abide by the decision of the board when wages are cut the board has no enforcement power over labor.

Should the commerce of the country be interrupted as the result of disputes between the railroads and their employes it is the opinion that the only protection provided for such an emergency in the law of the land is found in the United States Supreme Court decision 158 U. S. 564. By this decision Eugene V. Debs was sentenced to prison for contempt of court in violating an injunction by a United States Court of Equity to restrain him and other strikers from interfering with the movement of interstate commerce.

PAY INCREASES TABULATED.

Railroads Here Give Out Statistics on Wage Rises.

In connection with the movement to reduce the pay of railroad workers, some railroads and associations of railroad managers made public yesterday tables to show that the increases in wages in six years had been 60 and 200 per cent., with most classes of railroad workers getting a rise of more than 100 per cent.

The average increase since 1917 is figured out as 90.2 per cent.

Class.	Per Cent. Increase.
Masons and bricklayers	105
Clerks	82
Ironworkers	116
Carpenters	106
Upholsterers	113
Electricians	126
Airbrake men	116

Other passenger employes	92
Flagmen and gatemen	128

Watchmen, &c.	60
Machinists	71
Boilermakers	73
Blacksmiths	78

According to estimates, the railroad employes, when the railroads were turned back to private operation, numbered 261,000 more than when the roads were put under Government control. The shops had 149,000 of these men; 54,000 were employed as clerks, 26,000 were in maintenance-of-way work, and the rest were miscellaneous. These men were retained during the heavy traffic of last Summer, but since then the railroads have laid off 289,000 men.

The New York Central's statistical department gave out figures on the pay for shopmen, showing increases of from 102 per cent. for molders to 170 per cent. for carmen. A table on the hourly rates reads:

Machinists	$ .3921	$ .7043	$ .85
Boilermakers	.3800	.7077	.85

FIRST NEW HAVEN CONFERENCE

Manager Bardo Meets Representatives of Unskilled Labor.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 11.—Several hundred representatives of unskilled laborers, employed by the New Haven road, came here today and conferred with General Manager Bardo concerning the proposed wage cut. The cut was unofficially stated to be 22½ per cent.

All day a throng of men filled the streets in front of the general offices of the road, as they waited their turn to be called in groups before officials.

It was stated that the conference was a preliminary one to present to the men a survey of operating conditions and the necessity of readjustments in the wage scale.

Representatives of various other bodies also came to this city during the day, and General Manager Bardo saw some of them. George H. J. Walsh of Boston, a representative of station employes, said he told Mr. Bardo that station men would not stand for any reduction. A conference for that section was set for Tuesday.

From the offices of the company tonight was issued a statement, saying:

"It was not expected to settle anything definitely today, but future conferences will be arranged for. Conferences with other classes will be held up to April 15, at which time it is expected that the entire labor problem will be easily settled."

The conferences of the employes will continue until all classes of employes have been heard. The locomotive engineers are the only ones excepted in the cut.

President Pearson said today that the road is not going to take any drastic steps to put the cut into effect. The representatives of the men will be asked to consider the proposition well, he said. If they accept the cut that will settle the case. If the men hesitate the road will offer no objections to the men returning to their local boards and taking up the matter in each district. After the local districts have taken up the matter the road will meet the representatives for a final session.

BOSTON, March 11.—The Boston & Maine Railroad issued notice today of a proposal to reduce the wages of clerks, maintenance of way men, machinists, carpenters, &c., on April 16. Conferences will be arranged with representatives of the employes to discuss the situation.

PORTLAND, Me., March 11.—The Maine Central Railroad management said today that a reduction of wages would be proposed soon to the road's unskilled workers. It is estimated that 4,300 employes will be effected.

Perhaps 12½ Per Cent. for Classified Workers, More for Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—The Pennsylvania Railroad's proposed cut in wages will probably amount to about 12½ per cent. of present pay in the "classified groups" of workers, according to estimates made today at the Broad Street Station.

The salaries of executives will be cut even more, it is said. One rumor says that as much as 20 per cent. will be taken from the salaries of high officials.

The railroad has always refused to tell how much it pays its executives. It is known, however, that the President gets $75,000 a year. Several Vice Presidents receive $25,000 to $40,000. The General Manager gets $20,000 to $25,000.

Officials and supervising employes will have no redress from the wage decision. They cannot appeal to the Railroad Labor Board. The classified employes, however, can and, it is expected, will appeal.

D., L. & W. CUTS MILK RATE.

Reduction Is Granted to Dairymen in Upper Delaware River Section.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., March 11.—The Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad has granted a reduction in rates to dairymen in the upper Delaware River section. Through interstate shipments, farmers in New York and Pennsylvania could ship milk cheaper to New York City than could New Jersey farmers. The reduction will be from 2½ to 7 cents a can and becomes effective March 22.

The reduction was granted after the dairymen held several conferences with railroad officials. The dairymen were represented by L. M. Hardin, Secretary of the Dairymen's League, and Paul B. Bennetch, market dairy expert of the State Board of Agriculture.

BIG SELLING WAVE PUTS STOCKS DOWN

Sharpest Break Since That After Election Causes Slump of 2 to 10 Points.

INDUSTRIALS THE TARGET

Speculators' Drive Brings Many Issues to New Low Records for Year—Labor Situation Factor.

A wave of heavy selling swept over the stock market yesterday, causing the most drastic decline in prices seen since the sharp break which followed the election of last year, when business interests began to realize that revival of industry would not be so speedy as had been hoped before the Republican victory. The losses registered yesterday ranged from 2 to 10 points throughout the list, including both railroad and industrial shares, but with the selling pressure directed mainly against the latter. This was the reverse of the market operations of Thursday, when the railroads were the targets of the professional traders and the industrials held comparatively firm. The volume of business which resulted from yesterday's selling wave exceeded 1,000,000 shares. It was the largest day's trading on the Exchange in virtually two months, the last million-share day having been on Jan. 10.

Effort to Depress Prices.

It was plainly evident that the major part of the selling came from speculators who had been working on the short side of the market, hoping to depress prices in view of the labor situation, especially as that affects the railroads in connection with their announced wage reductions. It was said in commission houses that there was a good deal of real liquidation from investors, but this was in the minority, as only about 20 per cent. of the day's total was made up of railroad stocks, and not all of this was real selling. Another 30 per cent. originated in the oil group, the main part of the selling coming from professional circles.

The source of the selling was somewhat of a mystery in Stock Exchange circles, although opinion was freely expressed that the greater part of the operations was for speculative account, and that the ease with which prices declined once they got started, soon after midday, indicated that there was concerted action among this following.

As told, the entire list declined, but the "attack" after midday seemed to centre on the oil stocks, which registered the sharpest declines. The main target was Mexican Petroleum, which at its low point for the day suffered a loss of about 13 points, selling down to 143. This was not only a new low record for this year, but was also the lowest price since 1919, the low last year having been 148. The decline in Mexican Petroleum unsettled the entire oil list, and the other industrial shares as well. Pan American Petroleum suffered a loss of 4½ points, at 67¾, the closing price, and the "B" shares broke 6¼ points, to 59¾. Other oil issues, including California Petroleum, Texas Company and Pacific Oil, declined in sympathy.

The drive against the market carried many stocks down to new low records for the year, including United States Steel common, which sold at 78, a loss for the day of 1⅝ points.

Sharp as the decline has been, there are many stocks which still are selling above the low prices reached in the December break of 1920, which culminated just before the last date for the payment of last year's tax assessments.

Railroads Also Suffer.

While the efforts of the speculative following centred on the industrial shares, the railroads suffered again as they had on Thursday because of the fears expressed over the possible outcome of the problems now facing the carriers, but the losses in the rails were not by far so severe as in the industrial shares. Still, many of them made new low records for 1921, as was the case in the other classes of securities. Northern Pacific broke to 75⅝, a new low for the year, and closed at 76, a net loss of ⅝ of a point for the day. New York Central at 66 declined 2 points, and Southern Pacific at 70 was down 2¾ points. Other rail issues which sold down sharply, included such high-grade investment shares as Atchison, which lost 2⅛, Norfolk & Western 2⅝, and numerous others of like character.

The miscellaneous issues, which broke badly under the heavy selling wave, included Crucible Steel, which lost 4¼ points at 86½; Studebaker, 2 points, at 58; Houston Oil, 6, at 60; United States Rubber, 2¼, at 65½, and Baldwin Locomotive, 2⅞, at 84½.

The following table gives the low prices reached in yesterday's market, together with the high for last week and the low prices reached in last year's long period of liquidation:

	Low Yesterday.	High Last Week.	Low 1920.
American Tobacco	111¾	121¾	104¼
Atchison	77⅝	82⅝	76
Anaconda	34¼	38⅝	30
Baldwin Locomotive	84½	91⅛	78
Bethlehem Steel B	54½	57⅞	48⅞
St. Paul	23	28½	21
St. Paul pf.	36½	43¼	36⅝
Crucible Steel	86½	93	70
General Asphalt	49½	66¼	32½
Marine pf.	46½	52⅝	44
Mexican Petrol	142	159	148
New York Central	66	71½	64¼
Norfolk & Western	93½	100	85
Northern Pacific	75⅝	84⅝	66¾
Pan Amer. Pet. B	59¾	67⅞	64½
Pennsylvania	35⅞	40	37⅞
Reading	69⅛	75⅝	64⅝
Republic Steel	62¾	67¼	55¼
Sears, Roebuck	73	79	85¼
Southern Pacific	70	77⅝	88⅛
Studebaker	58	60	37⅝
Union Pacific	113⅝	121¼	110
U. S. Steel	78	82⅝	76¼
U. S. Rubber	65½	68	54½
Utah Copper	46½	51	44½

The above table shows that many of the railroad issues are selling at within a few points of the low levels reached in last year's period of drastic liquidation. There are many issues, with the exception of a few of the oil shares, still quoted far above the 1920 lows.

MEDIATORS ARE REBUFFED.

Atlanta Road Receiver Refuses to Confer on Strike Settlement.

ATLANTA, March 11.—Efforts of two Federal mediators to settle the wage strike on the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railway came to a sudden end late today when, after the refusal of B. L. Bugg, receiver, to join in the proceedings, the mediators, L. C. Chambers and Whitehead Kluttz, decided to return to Washington. There they will put the matter before the President in an attempt to restore service on the road, which has been practically paralyzed for a week.

In finally declining to enter into settlement negotiations through the Commissioners, Colonel Bugg said:

"No matter what conclusion might be reached by arbitration, I could not pay out more money than the road earns, for the obvious reason that I would have no means with which to pay. This proposition is no more susceptible to compromise than the multiplication table."

Colonel Bugg asserts that practically normal service may be resumed next week with new crews.

West Jersey Defers Dividend.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Directors of the West Jersey & Seashore Railroad, which comprises the Pennsylvania Railroad lines to all Southern New Jersey points, decided today to defer action on the semi-annual dividend "until the business and financial conditions for the year can be more definitely ascertained." It has been paying 5 per cent. a year.

WISCONSIN RATE CASE IS ARGUED

Supreme Court Hears Counsel for Roads Backing Commerce Board's Ruling.

44 STATES ARE INTERESTED

Officials Challenge Board's Right to Fix Intrastate as Well as Interstate Charges.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—One of the most important and far-reaching questions affecting State and interstate commerce was brought before the United States Supreme Court for argument today, when that tribunal began hearing counsel in the Wisconsin State rate case involving the power of the Interstate Commerce Commission to prescribe State rates under the Transportation act of 1920.

The case in question has been singled out as one in which every State in the Union is interested. It involves a challenge on the part of the various States and their respective State Railway Commissions of the contention by the Interstate Commerce Commission that it has the right to raise the level of State railway rates to that of the present high interstate rates under the authority of the Transportation act of 1920. Forty-three States have joined with Wisconsin in the test case begun today, which involves a serious conflict of authority between State and Federal rate-making authorities.

In nearly every State the law has been challenged by the State authorities as being in conflict with the rights and powers of States to regulate intrastate rates on traffic wholly within their borders. Wisconsin brought the case forward on appeal to the Supreme Court from an adverse decision in the Federal Court in Wisconsin, which held that the Wisconsin State Commission had been deprived of its power to regulate State rates by the new Federal law, and that this power had been lodged in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The argument of the case will consume nine hours of the time of the court and argument will not be concluded until Monday.

The argument for the State of Wisconsin was opened by W. D. Olbrich, Assistant Attorney General for that State, who contended that Congress lacked power under the Constitution of the United States to include intrastate regulations in its regulation of interstate commerce. He insisted that the breaking down of State regulation of intrastate traffic and rates would eventually throw interstate regulation into a chaotic condition.

The opening argument for the carriers was made today by Bruce Scott of Chicago, General Solicitor of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company. He contended that the Transportation act of 1920 vested the Interstate Commerce Commission with full authority to make such a regulation of intrastate rates.

"When Congress terminated Federal control of railroads as a wartime measure," said Mr. Scott, "it found that the conditions of the railroads, both physically and financially, required new legislation to assure the public against a transportation breakdown. The public did not wish Government ownership, and the alternative was to give new powers to a single agency which would be responsible to the country for the rehabilitation of the railroads in the public interest. These powers it authorized the Interstate Commerce Commission to exercise. Among them was the power for the first time given to the Interstate Commerce Commission to prescribe State rates to remove discriminations.

"The commission on investigation found that increased wages and other costs of operation necessitated increased income. It found that the public interest required immediate increases in freight and passenger rates as an emergency measure.

"Most of the States immediately cooperated. A few, like Wisconsin, were held down as to passenger fares by arbitrary statutes. The Interstate Commerce Commission had no alternative in these cases but to raise the State rates itself. Otherwise a further increase would have fallen on interstate commerce, or there would have been a breakdown of transportation.

"Thirty-one States at once provided the full measure of increase within the borders. The commissions of other States granted the freight increase, but could not act as to passenger fares because of the failure of Legislatures to repeal two-cent-fare laws. The recalcitrant States not only are injuring interstate commerce and the transportation systems of the country, but they are claiming an unfair advantage of their sister States who have acted liberally in the public interest. Unless the Interstate Commerce Commission can right these wrongs, the purpose of Congress to assure adequate transportation will be thwarted, and the old disastrous rivalry between the States renewed with added emphasis. This must be avoided.

"There can be no doubt, in the light of the condition of the country, of the power of Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission thus to protect the whole commerce of the country.

"The order issued by the commission in the Wisconsin case is simply the logical outgrowth of the decision rendered by the Supreme Court of the United States in the so-called Shreveport case, in which the court held Federal authority extended over State rates when they were found to discriminate against intrastate rates."

Kenneth F. Burgess of Chicago, general attorney for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, also appeared for the company.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (Associated Press).—The authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission under the Transportation act to supervise railroad rates within the States was in turn denied and upheld in opening arguments today before the Supreme Court on the test case brought by the State of Wisconsin.

The States joining in the proceedings are attempting to obtain an order vacating the injunction granted by Federal courts to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad preventing any interference with that road in its establishment of increased freight and passenger rates within the State of Wisconsin as authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Permission was given the various States to file briefs and to be represented orally through the attorney acting for all. They selected John E. Benton, General Solicitor of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners, as their representative.

NEWSPAPERS FIGHT RATES.

Nine Complain of Unreasonable Railroad Charges on News Print.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Nine newspapers filed complaints today with the Interstate Commerce Commission, alleging that unreasonable rates were charged by the railroads on news print paper.

The complainants were The Enid (Okla.) Eagle, The Denison (Texas) Herald, The Wichita Falls (Texas) Record-News, The El Paso (Texas) Times, The Kansas City (Kan.) Journal, The Miami (Okla.) News, The Hastings (Neb.) Tribune, The Fort Smith (Ark.) Southwest American and The Hutchinson (Kan.) News.

OPEN SHOP DRIVE STARTED IN QUEENS

Local Chamber of Commerce Committee Asks Views of Manufacturers in That Borough.

The Manufacturing Committee of the Queens Chamber of Commerce has initiated a movement looking toward the possible establishment of the open shop throughout the industrial section of the borough with its more than 600 factories and approximately 100,000 workers. A letter sent by the committee to the chamber's members, representing virtually all the manufacturing establishments in the borough, said the committee wanted to get the views of manufacturers before submitting a plan of action to the Board of Directors, and continued:

"The Manufacturing Committee of the chamber (having given careful consideration to industrial conditions existing before, during and since the war) believes the differences between employers and employes based on the question of the 'open or closed shop,' hours of work, wages, cost of living and other equally live and vital questions can be satisfactorily solved by giving and taking a square deal by both employe and employers."

This statement is followed by an announcement under the caption "We Believe," which in part says:

"That every individual, whether employer or employee, has the right of association for the promotion of his own interests and the protection of his craft or occupation providing such association does not jeopardize the best interests of the public, and providing that such association does not take away from the individual the right to be heard and does not include the introduction of outside influences in the settlement of the internal relations between employer and employee.

"That the closed shop, whether the closed non-union shop established by the employer or the closed union shop created by employees, conflicts with the individual liberty of both employer and employee and with the public interest.

"That the open shop gives the highest degree of efficiency and productivity and the largest return to employer and employee.

"That the forty-eight hour week constitutes a fair and proper week's work.

"That the introduction where possible of the piece work system of pay for labor performed induces efficiency and productivity."

STATE PUBLISHERS UPHOLD 48-HOUR WEEK

Master Printers Pledge Members Not to Grant Forty-four Hour Demand.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 11.—Unalterable opposition to any working basis less than the 48-hour-week was reaffirmed today in a resolution adopted by the New York State Publishers Association.

At the same time the association adopted a resolution "heartily indorsing" the "courageous" stand taken by publishers of The Binghamton Sun and The Binghamton Press in suspending publication because of "unwarranted demands" of the Typographical Union for "very large increases in pay and reductions in hours of labor."

The action of the publishers followed the adoption of a resolution "unalterably opposing" the 44-hour-week by the Second District Typothetae Federation, including 250 master printers of this State.

The Master Printers, at a morning session, adopted a resolution "unalterably and unequivocally" pledging individual members not to accede to demands for the 44-hour-week and further to refuse to make local or individual contracts on a basis of less than 48 hours a week. The resolution declared the 44-hour-week would increase production costs and the selling price of printing. Both organizations appointed committees to bring about full co-operation.

Frank J. Smith of Rochester was elected President of the newly organized Second District Typothetae Federation, the other officers being: Vice Presidents, Ira G. Payne, Albany; Robert J. Hausauer, Buffalo, and W. D. Haight, Poughkeepsie; Treasurer, F. N. Spaulding, Syracuse.

Strike Ties Up Binghamton Papers.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., March 11.—The third day of the printers' strike in Binghamton was marked by a complete suspension of Binghamton newspapers. The striking printers issued a six-page sheet and the dailies posted bulletins, keeping the public informed as to the general trend of events. It is expected today that the Binghamton papers will resume publication on Monday.

HARBOR WAGE CUT REPORTED.

Marine Workers May Share in Reduction by Railroads.

It was reported yesterday that the railroads contemplated a reduction in wages of marine workers at this port and that a new wage scale would be presented on Monday to the workers by the General Managers' Association. William A. Maher, head of the Marine Workers Affiliation, said that he had heard of no movement to reduce the pay of harbor workers.

"I have not heard a word regarding any change in the wage status of marine railroad employes," he said. "We are working under the increased scale granted by the Federal Railroad Labor Board which went into effect on July 20. This was to continue indefinitely and we have received no word that any change is contemplated."

End of Barge Strike Predicted.

The strike of bargemen on coal and grain barges is almost over, according to Joseph Ryan of the Tidewater Boatmen's Union, who said yesterday that nearly all of the owners had agreed not to reduce wages, but to maintain the present rate of $110 a month. He said that he expected there would be further concessions today and the prospects were bright for a speedy and complete victory.

Colorado Fuel Adds 1,000 Men.

PUEBLO, March 11.—The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company announced today that owing to improved conditions in the steel industry, 1,000 additional men would be employed beginning Monday. Four idle mills will reopen, running two eight-hour shifts.

BENSON REMAINS ON SHIPPING BOARD

Announces Compliance With President's Request to Continue to Function.

ACTION AVERTS CONFUSION

Disbursements Would Have Been Difficult With Board Temporarily Unorganized.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Speculation over the future of the United States Shipping Board was renewed today when Admiral W. S. Benson, the Chairman, made public a letter just received from President Harding, asking that he continue to function for the present as though the board were fully organized. Admiral Benson announced that he would comply with the request.

The period during which Admiral Benson would remain at the helm was left in doubt. There were some who expressed the belief that President Harding's request forecast a reorganization of the Shipping Board act which might result in the abolishment of the board and the selection of a single head. This was recommended by the report of the Walsh Investigating Committee.

There was a report today that nominations for the Shipping Board might be sent to the Senate tomorrow, when that body will hold its last meeting before the special session.

The President's letter to Admiral Benson read:

> The White House,
> Washington, March 11, 1921.
>
> My Dear Mr. Chairman:
>
> Word has come to me that there is some embarrassment relating to disbursements on behalf of the Shipping Board because of the temporarily unorganized state of the board.
>
> I am writing to reaffirm my previous request that you continue to function as though the board were fully organized, and assert your full authority under the law.
>
> I would like you to immediately advise department heads, disbursing authorities or other agencies of the board to function in a normal way and be confident of the support of the Executive in meeting the exigencies which arise. I cannot believe in the intention of the Congress to make possible a situation under which the board ceases to function, even though but one Commissioner were on duty.
>
> I would like to be assured of your full understanding of this official request, and will be confident of your compliance therewith.
>
> Very sincerely,
> WARREN G. HARDING.

One explanation of the letter offered tonight was that it was written to Admiral Benson in order to legalize any action he might take in approving drafts on the Shipping Board funds. It was stated that drafts amounting to $3,000,000, which had been drawn to pay crews and meet other expenses of Shipping Board vessels, had accumulated in New York, and that, pending action by the President in appointing a new board, no one had been willing to approve them. This left a situation, it was said, where the credit of the board was under criticism. The opening paragraph of President Harding's letter to Admiral Benson may have had reference to this situation.

In any event, Admiral Benson will remain in charge of the Shipping Board affairs with full power until a successor is appointed. If a reorganization of Shipping Board activities is decided upon in connection with a general reorganization of governmental departments, it is not improbable that Admiral Benson will remain, at least until the changes are effected.

Admiral Benson is a firm believer in the Shipping act of 1920, and thinks that to scrap it would be to play into the hands of those who, he feels, are endeavoring to cripple America as a competitor. He is also an advocate of the remission of Panama Canal tolls for American coastwise shipping. His views, as expressed in an interview, are known to President Harding.

After he was sure that he was officially head of the Shipping Board Admiral Benson consented today to discuss some of the affairs of that organization.

One topic involved the wage scales under which American shipping could be conducted in competition with the tonnage of other nationalities. Admiral Benson expressed the belief that a readjustment of wages must come.

"Before any action is taken," he said, "I believe there should be conferences between the ship operators and the men in any effort to reach a basis which would prove satisfactory to both. I feel that such a policy should be carried out."

But in this and other matters, Admiral Benson said, he would not follow a course which might prove embarrassing to an incoming Shipping Board or Director of Shipping.

A report from Captain Evans, head of the Shipping Board's recruiting service, was made public. It showed that there were 6,008 officers and men on vessels operated by the board and that 77.2 per cent. were American citizens.

BIND AND ROB WOMAN.

Newark Thieves Hid in Her Home and Got $1,750 in Gems.

Mrs Lillian Hettrick, 35, of 351 South Twelfth Street, Newark, was held up and robbed of $1,750 worth of jewelry by three men who concealed themselves in her house and bound her with strips of sheeting when she returned from a shopping trip late yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Hettrick stepped inside the hallway, when she was confronted by three young men. One had a pistol in each hand and the other two had a pistol each.

Two of the men seized and held Mrs. Hettrick while the third went into the bedroom and tore a sheet to pieces, the strips being used to bind her hands and feet. She was tied to a pillar supporting an entry way between the hall and the dining room. The men then stripped her of earrings, a lavallier, and three diamond rings.

When Mrs. Hettrick heard them leave by the front door, she wriggled free and ran to a window in time to see the men running toward a closed car. Her cries frightened the robbers. One of them slipped as he started to enter the car and the right rear wheel passed over his arm. He was dragged into the car by his companions and they disappeared.

Lehigh Valley Presents Proposal.

Special to The New York Times.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., March 11.—Officials of the Lehigh Valley Railroad met representatives of unskilled workers today and presented a proposition to reduce the wages of track laborers from 45½ cents an hour to 35 cents and branch line labor from 46½ cents to 33 cents on April 4. The labor representatives asked until March 22 to give their answer, which was granted. About 5,000 men would be affected by revision of the wage scale.

Go to Courts in Trolley Strike.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 11.—The United Traction Company was served today with an order to show cause why it should not arbitrate the wage dispute which brought about a strike of its 1,200 street car employes in Albany and Troy and near-by municipalities six weeks ago. The order was issued by Supreme Court Justice Howard at Troy this afternoon and is returnable on March 19. It was asked for by John F. Murray of Troy.

HARDING TAKES UP DOMESTIC AFFAIRS

He Has 3 Hours' Conference with Cabinet and Afterward Takes Members to Luncheon.

DISCUSS SHIPPING BOARD

They Also Consider Naming Alien Property Custodian—He Sends More Nominations to Senate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—After a three-hour Cabinet meeting today, in which the President departed from precedent by continuing the discussion with his advisers over the luncheon table, it became evident that Mr. Harding has his official family with him in his determination to settle pressing domestic problems before taking up international questions.

For the time at least it appears as though developments toward a modified association of nations will come from the office of Secretary of State Hughes, and not from the White House. Interrupted by patronage drives, the President is centring his attention upon domestic affairs, as was brought out by Secretary of Labor Davis's letter to the packers and their employes, by the President's letter to Admiral Benson on Shipping Board matters and by today's appointments forwarded to the Senate.

Mr. Harding's conferences at Marion sought to arrive at some basis of international relationship before the definite selection of his Secretary of State. Conforming with the President's inclination to give his Cabinet full responsbility, the principles arrived at in Marion are in Mr. Hughes's keeping until after attempts have been made to solve serious domestic perplexities.

The President regards this course as fulfilling his campain pledge for "America to put her own house in order before she undertakes to play her part in the world," and this phrase was, in effect, repeated in the Harding inaugural address.

One of the subjects discussed at length in this morning's Cabinet meeting was the future of the Shipping Board, which at present does not come under the control of any department. Appointments to the board were discussed and after the meeting it was intimated that the President may send to the Senate tomorrow some nominations for this body.

Another matter considered was the appointment of an Alien Property Custodian to take charge of the $400,000,000 of alien property held and on which a decision has not yet been reached.

Harding Takes Them to Luncheon.

The Cabinet met at 11 o'clock this morning and continued in uninterrupted session until 1:05, when the members ordered their waiting automobiles to return later, and then went to the White House for luncheon, where discussion was continued until 2:30 o'clock, when the President had appointments to receive some diplomatic missions from Latin America.

Among the Ministers received were: Maximo H. Zepeda, Minister for Foreign Affairs of Nicaragua; Ricardo J. Alfaro, Minister of the Government of Panama; Octavio Beeche, Minister of Costa Rica to the United States; Luis P. Aguirre, Minister for Foreign Affairs of Guatemala; Carlos M. de Cespedes, Minister of Cuba to the United States; General José Marti, Secretary of War of Cuba; De la Vega Calderon, Minister of Cuba on Special Mission; Antonio Lazo-Arriaga, Minister of Honduras on Special Mission; Rafael H. Elizalde, Minister of Ecuador to the United States.

Two places on the Interstate Commerce Commission were filled today when the President forwarded to the Senate the nominations of John J. Esch of Wisconsin and Mark W. Potter of New York. The latter was nominated for the commission by President Wilson but was not confirmed by the Senate.

The appointment of Mr. Esch to succeed Robert Wooley, who resigned Dec. 31, is no surprise to those who know the President's regard for the joint author with Senator Cummins of the Transportation act. Throughout his campaign for the Presidency, Mr. Harding, in speeches to railroad men, praised this act as the most "forward piece of railroad legislation in a generation."

It is thought that in consideration of railroad problems the President will rely largely upon the advice of Mr. Esch and Senator Cummins. This was indicated today when Mr. Harding and Mr. Cummins conferred upon railroad matters for the third time within a week.

Another nomination sent to the Senate was that of Fred Morris Dearing of Missouri, to be Assistant Secretary of State. Mr. Hughes's new assistant has been in the diplomatic service for nearly twenty years and began his career as Second Secretary of the Legation at Havana. Since then he has served in various embassies and legations in Europe and Asia. The post to which he has been named has been vacant since the appointment of William Phillips as Minister to the Netherlands two years ago.

Names Pennsylvania Attorney.

Following a conference between the President and Senator Knox, Walter Lyon was nominated for United States District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania. Mr. Lyon is a former Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania.

Another of today's nominations was that of Colonel Ernest Lester Jones of Virginia to succeed himself as Director of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. Smedley D. Butler, who commanded a brigade of marines in France, was named as Brigadier General, permanent rank, of the Marine Corps.

Ignace Paderewski, former Premier of Poland, arrived at the White House Executive Offices unannounced today to pay his respects to the President before leaving for his ranch in California. M. Paderewski was unsuccessful in getting by several batteries of photographers, who "shot" him from every angle, but he was unrecognized by a White House doorkeeper, and had to wait until he was rescued by a friend and taken immediately to the office of George B. Christian Jr., the President's secretary.

Following a conference with Senator Lodge on matters connected with the end of the special session of the Senate tomorrow, the President saw M. Paderewski. Mr. Harding's final conference of the day was with John W. Weeks, Secretary of War, who discussed patronage problems.

Gifford Pinchot, former Chief Forester under Roosevelt and Taft, had a short talk with the President. Others of the afternoon's callers were Mgr. Bonzano, Papal Delegate to the United States, and Mgr. Thomas of St. Patrick's Church, Washington.

The President replied to a message of congratulation upon his inauguration from the President of China.

"LADDIE BOY" A NEWSBOY.

He Carries Morning Papers to President Harding at Breakfast.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—"Laddie Boy" qualified as White House messenger as well as mascot today, carrying the morning papers to President Harding at the breakfast table.

The Airedale has been working on the "stunt" several days, but this was the first time he got through it without a hitch and he was the proudest dog in Washington in consequence.

Chandler Can Name Railroad Police.

ALBANY, March 11.—The State Superintendent of Police, instead of the Governor, may appoint railroad policemen under the Gage bill, which was signed by Governor Miller today. Appointments are to be made only on application of a steam railroad company, and no person who is not an American citizen can be named.

POST OFFICE SPOILS LIKELY TO BE RESTORED

Harding Expected to Rescind Wilson Order—Fess Asks the Views of Congressmen.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Republican leaders, chief among them Senator Penrose, with whom the old idea that "to the victor belongs the spoils" is still an axiom, have advised President Harding that the Executive order which Mr. Wilson issued placing first, second and third class Postmasters under the civil service rules should be rescinded, and that the 25,000-odd Postmasterships which they think are necessary to the maintenance of party machinery should again be made part of the official patronage.

According to general indications, this will be done, but until the sentiment of Republican members of the House has been ascertained in their replies to a questionnaire which Representative S. D. Fess, Chairman of the Congressional Committee, has sent out after a conference with Postmaster General Hays.

Mr. Fess's letter reads:

"There are 301 Republican members of the House in the Sixty-seventh Congress, and in conversation with many of them I have discerned wide general interest as to the best policy to be pursued on the question of vacancies in Postmasters.

"Congress will doubtless be consulted, should the policies of former Republican Presidents be followed; and I am taking it upon myself to ascertain the views of Republican members on the following questions:

"1. Should the Executive order of President Wilson be continued?

"2. Should the order be modified? If so, in what particular and to what degree?

"3. Should the order be revoked?

"As the Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee I should be pleased to have your best judgment."

SENATE GETS NOMINATIONS.

Some Are Confirmed—Session May Continue to Monday.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Nearly a score of nominations were sent today by President Harding to the Senate, which, in turn, confirmed a number. Nominations confirmed by the Senate today were:

D. R. Crissinger of Marion, Ohio, to be Controller of the Currency; Fred Morris Dearing of Missouri, to be Assistant Secretary of State; Elmer D. Ball, reappointed Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; William J. Keville of Boston, to be United States Marshal for the District of Massachuusetts; William S. Culbertson of Kansas, reappointed to the Tariff Commission; Captain Charles B. McVay Jr., to be Chief of the Navy Bureau of Ordnance, with the rank of Rear Admiral, and Ernest Lester Jones of Virginia, reappointed as Director of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Former Representative John J. Esch of Wisconsin and Mark W. Potter of New York were nominated to the Interstate Commerce Commission and their names were reported favorably by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, but final action was not taken. It was said that opposition might develop to Mr. Esch, on the part of Senator La Follette, Republican, of Wisconsin.

Other nominations sent to the Senate today by President Harding, but not acted on, included Thomas O. Marvin of Massachusetts, to the Tariff Commission; William H. Joyce of Los Angeles, renominated to the Federal Farm Loan Board; Walter Lyon of Pittsburgh and former Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania, to be United States District Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania, and Clarence C. Chase of New Mexico, to be Collector of Customs for District 24.

Colonel Gustav Lukesh was nominated for membership on the Mississippi River Commission, and other service nominations included Chaplain John Thomas Axton, to be Chief of Chaplains of the army, with the rank of Colonel, and Medical Director Edward K. Stitt, to be Surgeon General of the navy. Smedley D. Butler, Logan Feland and Harry Lee were renominated to their present rank of Brigadier General in the Marine Corps.

Reappointment of Carl A. Mapes of Albion, Mich., as Solicitor for the Bureau of Internal Revenue was recommended to the President today by Attorneye General Daugherty. Mr. Mapes, who was formerly an attorney in the bureau, was appointed Solicitor last November.

Possibility that the special session of the Senate, called to act on Presidential nominations, might not end tomorrow as had been expected, was indicated late today by Senator Lodge, the Repblican leader, after a conference with President Harding. Senator Lodge said leaders would not consent to a final adjournment until all matters on the calendar had been disposed of, and that possibly this might postpone the end of the session until Monday.

MRS. GARDNER URGED TO RUN

Senator Lodge's Daughter May Be Candidate for House Seat.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Mrs. Constance Lodge Gardner, daughter of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, and widow of Augustus P. Gardner, who served many years in Congress, may get to Congress herself to play a part in the present Administration.

Mrs. Gardner is being urged to run for Congress in the Sixth Massachusetts District in the event that Congressman W. W. Lufkin, who now represents that district, is named as Collector of the Port of Boston.

It is believed here that Mr. Lufkin will receive the appointment. He would then resign as a member of Congress and it would be the duty of the Governor of Massachusetts to call a special election to fill the seat.

Friends of Mrs. Gardner, who is now in Washington, are telling her she would be elected by a big majority.

SCHEME TO SIMPLIFY SWISS GOVERNMENT

It Proposes That Nobody Be Appointed to Office Without Special Fitness.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, March 11.—A proposal the adoption of which would revolutionize the whole Swiss system of government has just been issued in the form of what is known as an initiative; that is, if 50,000 duly qualified Swiss voters sign the proposal it must be voted upon at a referendum by the entire Swiss people and if adopted by them must come into force.

The proposal suggests incorporating in the Swiss Constitution a new article providing that the Government shall be more simply organized and carried on in accordance with business principles. The whole note of the proposal is simplification, and it extends not only to the Government offices, but to the State railways and the postoffice, telegraph and telephone administration.

If it is adopted it will entail much decentralization and will mean that the chiefs of departments will have less power and responsibility, and their subordinates more. It provides, moreover, that persons must not be appointed to Government posts unless they have special knowledge or qualities fitting them for the discharge of their official duties, and their political opinions must have no connection with their appointment.

In Switzerland, as in other countries during the war, Government departments became overstaffed, and the cost of the civil service was greatly increased; and the Swiss have now so many Bumbles that they don't know what to do.

FEDERAL TAX ONLY ON ACTUAL PROFIT

Concession of Error in Stock Sale Cases Again Made in Supreme Court.

BREWSTER CASE ARGUED

Government Would Cut Tax, but Disputes District Court Ruling Against Any Assessment.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—An important concession by the Government as a result of which considerable revenue may be lost in the collection of income taxes, was made during argument before the United States Supreme Court today of the case of James J. Walsh, Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of Connecticut against Frederick F. Brewster. Both in his argument before the court today and in his brief in the case William L. Frierson, Solicitor General of the United States, conceded that where the selling price of property is not in excess of the purchase price there is no taxable gain or income.

The case was argued jointly with that of David M. Goodrich against Collector William H. Edwards of the Second District of New York, in which Mr. Frierson made a similar concession yesterday, but involves also the important question of whether a profit realized from the sale of capital assets is income to the vendor within the sixteenth amendment to the Constitution.

In the Brewster case the Federal District Court for the District of Connecticut held that in so far as the revenue act of 1916 undertook to tax the profit realized on the sale of stock by one not a trader therein, such act was unconstitutional. This decision was rested on the authority of Gray vs. Darlington, 15 Wallace, 63, as approved in Lynch vs. Turrish, 247 U. S., 221.

In the Goodrich case the District Court had sustained a demurrer to the complaint on the ground of insufficiency.

Solicitor General's Concession.

Besides the broad general question above stated, these cases raised the question whether an income tax could be laid on the alleged profit represented by a difference between the value of the stock as of March 1, 1913, and the sale price realized thereafter, in those cases where the original purchase price was higher than such sale price, and the transaction thereby represented a loss instead of a gain. In the Goodrich case the original purchase price or value prior to 1913 was higher than the sale price, while in the Brewster case it was exactly the same. In both instances, however, the value on March 1, 1913, was lower, thus indicating an apparent though not a real profit at the time of sale.

In his argument and briefs in the cases the Solicitor General concedes there is no gain in either case and that the tax was erroneously collected. He said that the purchase and sale price must first be compared, and that if the latter is higher, the tax is payable only on the portion of the gain which accrued after March 1, 1913, the date on which the Sixteenth Amendment became effective.

The Goodrich case came before the Supreme Court on a writ of error to review the judgment of the District Court granting a recovery of $17,756.79 paid under protest as income taxes for the year 1916. The amount recovered included four items, on only one of which the Government now challenges the correctness of the judgment.

The Stock Involved.

One item of the taxes involved was a tax assessed on $39,159 as profits realized by a sale of bonds of the International Navigation Company. These bonds were bought in 1899 for $191,000 and sold in 1916 for exactly the same amount. On March 1, 1913, however, their market value was $151,845. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue ruled that there was taxable income to the amount of the difference between this sum and the selling price of $191,000, and collected taxes on this basis.

"It is apparent," Solicitor General Frierson conceded, "that on the entire transaction there was no gain, since the bonds were sold for the exact amount of their cost, the only returns on the capital invested being the interest collected during the time they were held, which, presumably, was included in the income of the holder for the years in which received.

"In the case of Goodrich vs. Edwards, under consideration by the court contemporaneously with the case, it has been conceded that where the selling price of property is not in excess of the purchase price there is no taxable gain or income. For this reason the Government cannot insist that so much of the judgment as allows recovery for this item of taxes is erroneous."

Another item was a tax upon a stock dividend. On the basis of the decision in the Eisner vs. Macomber case, 252 U. S. 189, it was conceded by the Solicitor General that this tax was improperly collected.

In 1906 Brewster purchased bonds of the International Mercantile Marine Company at a cost of $231,300. These bonds were sold in 1916 for $276,150. On March 1, 1913, however, their value was much lower than the original cost, and they were worth only $164,480. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue ruled that the difference between this sum and the selling price was taxable gain or income, and, accordingly, collected taxes on $111,670. In this transaction the actual gain realized was the difference between the selling price, $276,150, and the cost price, $231,300, or $44,850.

"Since the value of the property on March 1, 1913," the Solicitor General declared, "was only $164,480, it cannot be said that any part of the increase in value occurred before that date. While it is conceded, therefore, that the defendant in error was not properly taxable on the difference between the March, 1913, value and the selling price, it is contended that he was taxable on the difference between the purchase price and the selling price, or $44,850."

The court below granted a recovery for the full amount claimed upon the ground that profits realized from the sale of capital assets are not income, and that, so far as the act of Congress undertakes to tax them as income, it is unconstitutional. This holding is now challenged by the Government in the case argued today.

But on the basis of the statement of the facts given, the Solicitor General declared it must follow that the judgment itself could now be questioned only to the extent that it denies the Government the right to a tax on $44,850, or the price actually realized on the sale of the International Mercantile Marine Company bonds.

HARVEY MAY RECEIVE RECESS APPOINTMENT

White House Intimates Ambassador to Court of St. James Will Be Named Soon.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Strong hints have been thrown out at the White House that with Ambassador John W. Davis now on his way to this country President Harding will shortly announce his selection for Ambassador to the Court of St. James's. No information was available tonight as to whether this appointment is among those to be forwarded to the Senate tomorrow.

If this is not done the probabilities are that the President will make a recess appointment that the new Ambassador may proceed to London and familiarize himself with affairs before he receives his credentials following his confirmation by the Senate of the extra session of Congress beginning early in April.

Although the White House professes not to know the identity of the President's choice for Ambassador to Great Britain, Colonel George Harvey's friends declare that they have positive information that he has been offered and has accepted the post. Harvey's Weekly, it is said, will discontinue publication, while a new editor of the North American Review will take Colonel Harvey's place.

No announcement of an appointment with the President has been given out at the White House, but it became known today that the Colonel was at the White House last night and saw the President. Senator Lodge, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, had a long conference with the President this afternoon. It was not known whether the Harvey appointment was discussed.

DENBY NAMES SECRETARY.

He Appoints Joseph A. Carey of Washington, a Former Enlisted Man

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Secretary Denby has appointed Joseph A. Carey of this city, a former enlisted man in the navy, as his private secretary, in succession to Edward E. Britton of North Carolina, who served former Secretary Daniels in that capacity.

Mr. Carey is a member of the local bar. He came to this city from New York in 1905. He served as an apprentice seaman in the navy from 1900 to 1904 and reached the rating of boatswain's mate. A year later he took up his residence in this city and was graduated from the law department of Georgetown University in 1915, leading his class. Previous to that year he had made the acquaintance of Mr. Denby and was associated with him in his duties as a member of the House of Representatives. He is a member of the Board of Trade.

When the United States entered the war against Germany Mr. Carey applied for service in the navy. He was appointed a First Lieutenant in the Naval Reserve Supply Corps and assigned to duty on the staff of Admiral Wilson at Brest, France. HARDING INDORSED AT LEAGUE MEETING

Hanotaux Quotes March 4 Address With Approval at Transportation Conference.

38 NATIONS REPRESENTED

Absence of United States and Argentina Regretted—Germans There to Consult.

BARCELONA, March 11 (Associated Press).—President Harding's phrase in his laugural address, "We cannot sell successfully where we do not carry," might well serve as the watchword for the labors of the International Conference on Communications and Transit, declared Gabriel Hanotaux, the presiding officer, to the assembled delegates today.

He described Mr. Harding's message as conceived in a vein which was at once a proud and distinctive one. Then, using some of the words of the American President's speech, he said to the delegates:

"You, too, are ready to associate yourselves with all the nations of the world, great and small, in order to confer and take counsel together. You would be only too glad to associate yourselves in any progressive manifestation the object of which is to illuminate and establish the principles which govern international relations and to afford practical plans for finaity establishing a supreme world tribunal whose mission would be to arbitrate between nations."

Concerning the League of Nations, under whose auspices the present conference was called, M. Hanotaux declared: "The League of Nations has only one purpose, namely, to work out practical details of agreements freely reached, avoiding always any action which might cause it to be regarded as a superstate."

All the expressions of M. Hanotaux were received in a most amiable spirit. Delegates from Brazil, Chile and Venezuela spoke briefly. Llewellyn Smith, Great Britain, proposed that every effort be made toward practical results. He explained he had full power to sign final conventions and requested the other delegates to ask their Governments for the same authority.

Delegates of thirty-eight nations are attending the conference. The most important matter before the meeting was the appointment of a committee to draft a compact relative to transport. This convention was described by Count Quinones de Leon, Spanish Ambassador to France, yesterday as being a document which would "contribute to the development of international commerce, the expansion, progress and equality of peoples and the well being of humanity." It will be an attempt to settle international controversies relative to railroads, waterways and ports.

In his address Count Quinones de Leon called attention to the presence of delegates from countries discovered by Spanish explorers, and declared that he was glad to see that they, by their presence here, gave proof of their relationship with Spain.

Regret regarding the absence of delegates from the United States and Argentina was expressed by many delegates yesterday, and M. Hanotaux referred to the United States by saying: "Our thoughts are with the absent." He said that, as Spain had been one of the first countries to join the League of Nations, under the auspices of which the present conference is being held, it seemed natural that the first technical conference of the League should be held on Spanish soil.

Later in the meeting M. Hanotaux referred to the "overwhelming importance" of the compact to be framed here, which, according to the Versailles Treaty, must come into force within five years after the conclusion of the war. He declared it would form a great feature in the relations of the world in future, because it would facilitate commercial communication and the distribution of necessary articles.

German delegates have arrived to attend the conference, but will act only in a consultative capacity.

LYONS BIDS FOR LEAGUE.

French City Offers Palace and Yearly Subvention of 100,000 Francs.

PARIS, March 11.—The City of Lyons has offered the League of Nations a palace and an annual subvention of 100,000 francs if it will move from Geneva to the banks of the Rhone. The offer is made by Mayor Derriot, who says Lyons will build any sort of home the League wishes.

Brussels, of course, is still a candidate for the honor of being the home of the League. Austria and Rumania also would take it. No movement for removal from Geneva has come up officially. However, there is considerable dissatisfaction because of the experience delegates to the Assembly had last Winter with the prices and weather on the banks of Lake Leman.

STATE TO INSIST ON ITS TAX METHOD

heretofore, unless the Court of Appeals shall hold that they are wrong.

The Klauber case, in which the question is before the State courts, it was said, would probably be decided by the Appellate Division on May 4 and be taken before the Court of Appeals in June.

NEW TAX DECISION PUZZLES EXPERTS

Stock Bought at 100.67, Appraised at 85.28 and Sold for 91.28, Might Obtain Rebate.

Tax experts and those who have sold stock since March 1, 1913, whose Federal income taxes are affected by Solicitor General William L. Frierson's decision that fictitious increases in value are not taxable, were surprised yesterday by the decision and divided as to what its effect would be on the national revenue.

Speculation as to how the State Income Tax law would be affected led most of the experts to the opinion that the arbitrary valuation of Jan. 1, 1919, fixed by State law, also would go by the board. They based this belief on the ground that the State law was modeled to conform in spirit and largely in letter to the Federal law, and that if Mr. Frierson now concedes that the Government's former stand was wrong, the State must admit that it has no power to tax an apparent gain that in reality is a loss.

Attorney General Newton disagreed with Mr. Frierson's opinion holding that the taxing power of the Federal Government was curtailed by the limitations of the Federal Constitution, but that there was no limitation in the State Constitution on the taxing power. Martin Saxe, a lawyer and expert on State taxation, believed that there was no difference between this lack of limitation and the broad power in the Federal Constitution to tax income derived from any source.

Effect on Revenue Unknown.

What effect the decision would have on the State and Federal revenues could not be estimated yesterday, and those whose opinions would have weight disagreed as to the loss by the Government. Collector of Internal Revenue Edwards would not be quoted, but it was intimated at his office that the loss to the Government would run into many millions of dollars. It was said that this question of an apparent gain since March 1, 1913, which actually was a loss from the date of purchase, came up continually to plague collectors. The same story was told at the office of the State bureau for the collection of income taxes in the Equitable Building.

"We have that question before us almost every day," said one official. "We are constantly obliged to placate those who squirm under what they contend is an injustice, and our only way of pacifying them is to suggest that they might under the law suffer fictitious loss which was an actual gain. The Federal law in almost all instances is followed by the State law, and Federal decisions are generally adopted by the State. The sum involved, if the arbitrary valuation of Jan. 1, 1919, is overthrown, will undoubtedly be large."

The action to be taken by those who have large amounts of money subject to the State tax could not be learned yesterday. Dr. Joseph Klein, an expert on income taxation and one of those who framed the present State tax, said that he had no doubt that those who had fictitious gains registered, but had suffered actual losses, would contest the payment of the tax if the State declined to follow the lead of the Federal Government. One of the attorneys for a large estate said that as Mr. Frierson merely was the legal adviser of the Government, he thought it likely that most attorneys would await a decision by the United States Supreme Court in the Goodrich case, in which the issue was raised, before bringing suit to contest the State law.

How the Decision Works.

The way in which the tax would apply on stock sales so as tax a loss that was a fictitious gain under the arbitrary valuation, was shown by THE NEW YORK TIMES stock averages. The date on which all valuations were based by the State was Jan. 1, 1919. On Jan. 4, 1919, the week's average of fifty stocks was 85.28. If a stock was sold on Nov. 15, 1919, it would be affected by market conditions which had raised the average to 91.28, an apparent increase of $6 a share, on which the seller would be taxed. But if that stock had been bought on Nov. 18, 1916, when the market average was 100.67, it would show an actual loss at the time of sale of almost $9. It was this condition on which the protests against the tax were based, and it was this which Mr. Saxe believed the State courts would take into consideration in deciding a suit brought to test the law.

"While it is true as the Attorney General says that Federal power is derived from the Constitutional amendment and that there are no limitations in the State Constitution," said Mr. Saxe, "I believe that when the State courts come to construe the law they will uphold the opinion of the Solicitor General. If property is purchased before the effective date, and on that date its value is lower than the market value when it was acquired, and it is sold at a greater price than on the effective date, but lower than on the date of purchase, then there is merely a fictitious gain.

"I don't believe our courts will turn a theoretical gain to an actual gain in the case of an actual loss. There is no precedent for the present situation, because at the time of the old income tax following the Civil War values were computed merely for the current year. The present method of taxation is contrary to the sense and purpose of the statute, which was to define a tax on income. To tax a fictitious gain is illogical."

State Followed Government.

The intent of those who framed the State income tax law was to follow the Federal law in every particular, said Dr. Klein.

"The spirit of the Federal law was incorporated in the State law," he said, "and in many instances the language of the statute was followed. So desirous was the committee which framed the law to follow the Federal statute that even in cases where they believed the Federal statute to be at fault it was nevertheless adopted.

"There will undoubtedly be suits brought to test the State law and the amounts to be refunded by the Federal Government and the State would undoubtedly be large. I know of one instance in which a tax of $500,000 was paid on this item alone, and that, of course, would be lost to the Government, as well as certain deductions that would follow."

Mark Eisner, former income tax collector of the Second District and now a tax expert, said that he believed the loss to the Federal Government and State would be small.

"I have no doubt that the State law will be found to apply in the same way as the Federal law," said Mr. Eisner. "The present arbitrary valuation practically results in the taking away of property without due process of law. But cases in which this fictitious value is applied are very rare, and in my large experience I have only had one such case. It would apply chiefly, I should think, to where claims for deduction are made for bad debts. The loss on stock transactions to the Federal Government would be small, in my opinion, and even smaller to the State. I would not give $1,000,000 for all the Federal Government will have to pay back."

WILSON GAINS FAST, FREED FROM CARES

Week Out of Office Finds Former President Rested and Improved in Health.

WATCHES PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Devotes Much Time to Answering Mass of Messages Sent to Him From All Countries.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—One week out of the White House, where no President is able to shake himself loose from the heavy responsibilities of his office, has greatly rested Woodrow Wilson. Those who saw him today declare that Mr. Wilson has an infinitely more rested appearance. His face shows the effects of the repose he has obtained as a private citizen. He is looking well and is able to turn a critical eye upon those who have picked up the reins of Administration.

Mr. Wilson has not only become a private citizen but it is learned he does not allow others to become forgetful of that fact. Any visitor calling him "Mr. President" is politely reminded that he is now plain Mr. Wilson. Some of those who have been most intimate with Mr. Wilson during the eight years he was in the White House find it extremely difficult to avoid slips of the tongue by which they have addressed him as "Mr. President."

This is not true of Joseph P. Tumulty, former Secretary to Mr. Wilson, than whom there is no more ardent and sincere admirer in the world, for he has always addressed Mr. Wilson as "Governor." This dates back to the public service of Woodrow Wilson as Governor of New Jersey.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who was Mr. Wilson's physician when in the White House, has not found it as easy as Mr. Tumulty to call the former President "Mr. Wilson." Admiral Grayson has slipped in this respect several times since Mr. Wilson left the White House, and on such occasions Mr. Wilson, with a pleasing smile, has admonished him, "Mr. Wilson, if you please; I ceased to be President on March 4."

Ex-President Busy Answering Messages.

Mr. Wilson has been a very busy man in the rôle of a private citizen. While not weighted down with the responsibilities of office, he nevertheless has found sufficient tasks facing him to occupy much of his time. Chief among these is the answering of the huge stacks of letters, telegrams and cablegrams that have come to him from all parts of this country and from foreign countries. These communications come from well-wishers in every walk of life, from men and women who have admired his fight for the creation of the League of Nations, and many of them have voiced the hope that he will continue to fight for the entry of the United States into such an association of nations. Before leaving the White House Mr. Wilson indicated to some of his closest friends that he wanted to devote the better part of the remainder of his career to work for international peace and a better understanding among nations.

The messages received by Mr. Wilson have been regarded as private and confidential and he has had no thought of making them public. It is learned that they have come from all sorts and conditions of people, from some of the humblest to those who are known internationally.

The Wilson home at 2,340 S Street has been a veritable flower bower since March 4. Many floral tributes have been sent to the house from friends in Washington, while others have been sent on telegraphic instructions from various parts of the country. A number of them have been sent anonymously.

These messages and flowers illustrated perhaps better than anything else the hold which Mr. Wilson has on many sections of the American people. Some of those sending flowers without giving their names have accompanied their floral gifts with expressions of hope that he will experience a speedy recovery so that he may more actively champion the cause of world peace. A number of gifts of one sort or another have also been sent to the Wilson home, including several pieces of furniture, and some of these have been sent anonymously.

A Study Overlooking Washington.

Mr. Wilson rises about 8 o'clock every morning. After breakfast, he reads the morning papers, and then goes to his study, where for the present he is devoting his attention to answering correspondence. His study is a large, sunny room on the second floor of his new home, facing south. It has a large, oval Colonial bay window. All sides of the study are lined with books arranged in shelving running to the ceiling. In this room is a desk and there he dictates his correspondence to a stenographer. As the Wilson home is on Kalorama Heights, it has sufficient elevation for the former President to be able to enjoy a fine panoramic view of the city. From his window he is able to look at the towering white obelisk of the Washington Monument, which was so familiar a daily object to him from the closer view through the White House windows. He may also see the new Lincoln memorial over the roof tops and the dome of the Capitol where the Senate "threw his treaty down," as he remarked.

After dealing with his very heavy correspondence, Mr. Wilson has luncheon with Mrs. Wilson, and the afternoon is devoted to recreation. This consists of automobiling. The former President takes these rides in one of the former White House cars, which he has bought because he found it very comfortable and preferred it to some other vehicle. It is the automobile in which he rode from the Capitol to the S Street home when he left the President room of the Senate wing at noon on last Friday, March 4. The car once bore on each door the Great Seal of the United States, but these have been painted over black.

Today Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, in the course of their afternoon drive, passed down Jackson Place and West Executive Avenue past the Executive Offices of the White House. A battery of movie men had just finished photographing Paderewski and Senator Lodge as they had entered the Executive Offices.

There were a number of hangers-on of one sort or another—strangers viewing the sights, job hunters and others—in the White House grounds at the time. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson turned their heads toward the east and got a good view of the changed scene around the historic mansion. There were no Secret Service men accompanying Mr. Wilson during his ride. He has discarded such protection entirely since March 4, and his car is now never accompanied by Secret Service men.

After these afternoon rides and dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson spend their evenings at home. They have had no house guests since leaving the White House, but there have been a number of visiting friends, who have called during the day or evening. Mr. Wilson's retirement hour is about 9:30 o'clock.

Following Events Closely.

Mr. Wilson is doing considerable newspaper reading. He has followed closely events under the new régime in Washington, and is "keeping his eye" on what has occurred. Some of the things that have occurred have probably amused him considerably. He has been able to read of the approval of a number of things that were acts of his own Administration. In tomorrow morning's paper he will be able to read, for example, that the new Secretary of War and new President have sent to the Senate for confirmation the names of 1,500 officers promoted up to the grade of Captain. The list was the identical one Mr. Wilson had sent to the Senate several months ago and which was blocked in the Senate by Republican opposition.

Mr. Wilson has found considerable difficulty in housing his large and well-selected library. He owns about 8,000 volumes. Every nook where a book could be placed has been utilised without finding sufficient shelf space for all. After all such space was utilized it was found necessary to pack and store some of his books. Part of his library he had with him in the White House. The rest had been left at Princeton. His books were brought from both places to his new home for use in an amalgamated larger library.

It is understood that the former President has not yet resumed the literary activities which were interrupted when he became Governor of New Jersey. There is no information vouchsafed as to when he will do so.

Although Mr. Wilson has been out of the White House only a week, he and his wife have settled down very comfortably in their new home and have it running with well regulated routine. He has enjoyed the thrill of again being an American citizen, free of the responsibilities of office, and those close to him say that he not only underwent well the ordeal of a strenuous March 4, but that there is now every prospect that his health will steadily improve.

Baruch and Davis Wilson Guests.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (Associated Press).—Woodrow Wilson rounded out the first week of his return to private life tonight with a private dinner at which B. M. Baruch of New York and Norman H. Davis, formerly Under Secretary of State, who has been retained in the Harding Administration as the American member of the International Communications Conference, were guests. It was said to signalize Mr. Wilson's intention to keep in touch with men and affairs. Both Mr. Baruch and Mr. Davis were among Mr. Wilson's advisers in drawing the economic sections of the Treaty of Versailles.

DECLARES LEAGUE MET FIRST REAL TEST

D. H. Miller Says Wilson Showed World Moral Grandeur of America.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—The covenant of the League of Nations was declared a success, in that it met the first real test when it was accepted by the competent governmental authority of nearly every country in the world, by David Hunter Miller of New York here tonight. Mr. Miller, who with J. B. Hurst of the British Foreign Office, drew the final draft of the document, spoke before the Philadelphia Public Ledger forum on the Peace Conference.

"Those who framed the covenant have seen it accepted by the competent governmental authority of nearly every country in the world, and that is the first real test of success," said Mr. Miller, "and when I say nearly every country, I include my own, for so far as the Lodge reservations made changes in the League, they were of a wholly minor character; they left its structure intact, and they would have interfered with its working not at all."

Telling of the meeting at which the Monroe Doctrine was considered, he said:

"At the close of the debate President Wilson replied to the French in an extempore speech of witching eloquence—a speech made after midnight, which left the Secretaries gasping with admiration, their pencils in their hands and hardly a word taken down. The proposal was then adopted."

Responding to a question from the audience as to whether President Wilson had failed at Paris, Mr. Miller said:

"How could I believe that such a man had failed—a man that showed to the world the moral grandeur of America. He went out of office broken in health but with a place in history few have equaled and none have surpassed."

"Is there really such a thing as a League of Nations without the United States?" was asked.

"We are writing notes to it about Yap, and we don't usually write notes to a nullity," was the answer. "It can continue without the United States, but not as effectively as if the United States were a member."

HYLAN MEMORIAL PLAN BALKED AGAIN

Board of Estimate Refuses to Put Through 'Liberty Altar' in Madison Square.

Mayor Hylan's second attempt to put through the Board of Estimate a resolution favoring the erection of an "altar of liberty" in Madison Square at a cost of $200,000 as a "preliminary" war memorial was defeated yesterday as a result of the opposition of Henry H. Curran, President of the Borough of Manhattan, and Henry Smith, Deputy and Acting Controller. Discussion of the plan at the board meeting led to an acrimonious exchange between the Mayor and Mr. Curran.

The proposal fathered by the Mayor, which was the suggestion of Rodman Wanamaker, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Permanent War Memorial, was referred back to Mr. Wanamaker as Chairman of the committee, on motion of Mr. LaGuardia. The Board of Estimate made no recommendation, leaving the matter to the committee, which has not yet acted on Mr. Wanamaker's project.

The Mayor moved to refer to the Park Commissioner of Manhattan Mr. Wanamaker's letter, in which the project was suggested. The plan was to build the altar on the site of the temporary altar of liberty, which was part of the scheme of the temporary arch in Madison Square. Mr. Wanamaker made the suggestion as an individual. The Committee on Permanent War Memorial has never reached any decision as to the form of the memorial. The cost of the altar would be about $200,000, which would be paid from a fund in the possession of the committee from private subscriptions.

Both Mr. Curran and Mr. Smith objected when the Mayor brought the matter up at yesterday's meeting. Mr. Curran asserted that he was going to oppose it on the ground that the matter was being conducted with "indecent haste" and that Mr. Wanamaker and the Mayor were the only ones in favor of it.

Mr. Curran, following the meeting, issued a statement in which he said:

"Mayor Hylan's indecent haste to erect at once in Madison Square Garden an 'altar of liberty as a preliminary step to the permanent war memorial,' is a deliberate desecration of the memory of our soldier dead. No soldier has approved this memorial. How does Mayor Hylan know, how does any member of the Board of Estimate know, that the city should build a memorial to its soldier and sailor dead under the billboards in Madison Square Garden? I hope that the people will be heard from without delay on this insult to the memory of the men who died for their country in the World War, and I believe that there will be such an outcry against the Hylan scheme for a Hylan memorial that even Hylan will hesitate."

MEXICAN ENVOY DEPARTS.

Senor Tellez Expects to Visit Mexico City for a Week or Two.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Manuel C. Tellez, Secretary and Chargé d'Affaires of the Mexican Embassy, who has been in charge of the Embassy for some time past, left here tonight for Mexico City. He is going to the Mexican capital in order to be there when his brother is operated on next week. It is believed that while there he will take the opportunity to discuss with his Government the whole question of relations between the United States and Mexico and the probable attitude of the new Administration in dealing with the Mexican problem. Mr. Tellez said he did not expect to be in Mexico City more than a week or two.

In some quarters dangers is seen in the Mexican railway strike which has not been settled. It is feared by some authorities who have been keeping in close touch with the situation that the germ of revolution may lurk in the railway situation.

Another factor causing some uneasiness is the apparent effort being made by the more radical element in Mexico to embarrass the Obregon Administration.

Former Valet Tells of George Schroeder's Visits at Long Branch Home.

Artist's Chauffeur, Testifying for Husband, Describes Scene in His Employer's Studio.

The second corespondent to be named and the third mentioned in testimony figured yesterday in the trial of the W. E. D. Stokes suit for a divorce from Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes before Supreme Court Justice Finch. He is George Schroeder, a mining engineer, and was named in the testimony of John S. Mosby, negro, formerly employed by Mr. Stokes as valet, and by Valentine A. Kubicke, who was chauffeur for S. Montague Roosevelt, an artist, in 1916.

The testimony of the valet referred to an alleged incident in 1911, which, he said, he did not mention to Mr. Stokes until after the divorce suit had been brought, although Mrs. Stokes had caused his discharge. The testimony given by Kubicke referred to incidents in 1911.

Mosby said he went to work for Mr. Stokes in 1909, and was discharged in 1912. He said that after the marriage of the couple in 1911 they went to the house owned by Mr. Stokes in Long Branch. Mr. Stokes's mother and a woman friend and two children were in the party. He told of hearing Schroeder's introduction to Mr. Stokes.

"When did you next see Schroeder?" asked Francis L. Wellman.

"I next saw him in the Summer of 1911, the same year, at Long Branch. Mrs. Stokes was at home, and the cook was in the kitchen and I was in the pantry. I heard a motor car arrive, and went to the pantry door to see who it was. I saw Mrs. Stokes meeting Mr. Schroeder coming upstairs. She met him on the stairs, put her arm around him and kissed him, and they walked around together."

Tells of a Kiss in Dining Room.

The witness said he heard them walking in the hallway between the bedrooms and heard a sliding door of Mrs. Stokes's room close. About an hour later he saw them leave the house, he said. Further questioning brougnt testimony that Mosby saw Schroeder and Mrs. Stokes walking in the dining room and that he kissed her.

Mosby said that Schroeder also visited the family after Mr. and Mrs. Stokes returned to the Ansonia. He said he received many telephone calls for the defendant from Schroeder, and that Mrs. Stokes called the co-respondent "George" when she spoke to him on the telephone. Mosby said he told Mr. Stokes about the incidents "a long time later," because he was "troubled in mind."

Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, said he would prove that Mr. Schroeder was at the Long Branch house only twice, and then as the guest of Mr. Stokes, but was at no time alone with Mrs. Stokes.

Just as Mr. Littleton started to cross-examine the witness, Mr. Shroeder entered the courtroom and took a seat beside Hal C. Billig, the co-respondent-cousin of Mrs. Stokes, and Mrs. Arthur S. Miller, her mother.

Attorney Wellman objected to repetitions in questions asked on cross-examination, but Mr. Littleton said he intended to get at the bottom of the case if it took 100 years.

In answer to a question Mosby said: "I did not keep a diary," whereupon Mr. Littleton opened a small book and said,

"But I have this small book, although it may be discomforting to you that I have it."

The witness admitted that the kissing he spoke of took place on the porch, which was open to the view of every one.

Thought It "Highly Improper."

Mosby insisted that he didn't know Stokes had filed the divorce suit when he wrote from California in May, 1919, telling about the "kissing" episode at Long Branch. He said that Stokes had given him $300 before that when he was ill. Asked how he happened to remember the kissing incident, he said:

"I thought it highly improper for a lady, married a few months, to be kissing another man."

The next witness, Valentine Kubicke, said that his memory was somewhat hazy, due to the war. He was chauffeur in 1917 for Samuel Montgomery Roosevelt, artist and former agent for a well-known brand of Scotch whisky, he said.

The witness said that he once walked into the Roosevelt studio and found Mrs. Stokes sitting on a chair smoking a cigarette and clad in a kimona. The artist had several brushes in his hand, the witness said, and on an easel was the picture of a nude woman in the same pose Mrs. Stokes had been in, smoking a cigarette. He had merely gone into the room to deliver some paint, he said, and had knocked before he entered.

Kubicke said he first saw Schroeder when he went to 111 Broadway to get him, and took him to the home of a Mrs. Yerkes and Mrs. Kearney in West Seventy-second Street. Schroeder, Mrs. Stokes and the other two women went in the car to Long Beach where they had dinner in Castles by the Sea, stopped at the Palais Royal in New York on their return home and then went back to Mrs. Kearney's. He sat in the car and slept until 2 A. M., when Schroeder came out and was driven somewhere in the Bronx.

The witness said he took Mrs. Stokes and Mrs. Kearney to the Ritz, the Waldorf and the Astor on many occasions. Mr. Wellman asked him about checks said to have passed between Mrs. Kearney and Mr. Roosevelt and when Mr. Littleton objected the attorney said he wanted to prove "the character of the woman," and also that Mr. Stokes had cautioned his wife about going around with Mrs. Kearney.

The witness said he was certain that the incidents referred to had occurred in 1917, but Mr. Wellman acquiesced in the suggestion of Mr. Littleton that Mrs. Stokes was out of the city at the time.

Francis Beard, a chauffeur, employed by Stokes in 1917, corroborated the testimony regarding the kissing and hugging at Long Branch. He is now living in Port Huron, Mich., and had his fare paid to come here, he said.

The trial will continue on Monday.

CHINATOWN DEATH MYSTERY

Cleveland Man Believed to Have Been Robbed, Possibly Drugged.

Mystery veils the circumstances under which a man believed to be W. B. Martyn, Superintendent of the Star Commissary and Employment Company of 504 Superior Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, came to his death in the hallway of a tenement at 70 Mott Street early yesterday morning, in the heart of Chinatown.

Detectives working on the case were inclined to believe the man was robbed either before or immediately following his death.

"There was evidence of the man having been drinking whisky immediately before his death," said Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner. "Whether he was drugged will be developed by the chemical analysis."

Detectives scoured the Chinatown district all day in search of information which would reveal whether the man walked into the hallway of the tenement or was carried in from some nearby "speak-easy."

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 11.—E. B. Martyn was Superintendent of the Star Commissary and Employment Company for the last five years. Prior to that he was employed by W. R. Grace & Co. of New York and spent three years at Lima, Peru, for that firm. Martyn maintained bachelor apartments at 1,747 East Thirty-second Street. E. A. McCabe, manager of the Star Commissary concern, was unable to suggest any motive for his being in Chinatown. He did not know Martyn to use intoxicants. He has gone to New York to claim the body.

Fifth Prisoner Convicted by Court-Martial Gets Life Sentence on Account of His Age.

POLICE SHOT IN BELFAST

Dublin Republicans Duck Salesman and Raid Warehouses in Boycott Campaign.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, March 11.—It was announced tonight that the general officer commanding in chief has confirmed the court-martial sentences on Bernard Ryan, Patrick Doyle, Thomas Bryan, Frank Flood and Dermot O'Sullivan. They were tried in Dublin last month on a charge of high treason by levying war and have been sentenced to death by hanging. In the case of O'Sullivan the Lord Lieutenant has commuted sentence to penal servitude for life, on account of the prisoner's youth. His age is 17. One of the remaining four prisoners is married, with four children. The others are aged about 20.

At the trial it was stated that the police were ambushed at Drumoondra on Jan. 21, and the prisoners were afterward captured by auxiliaries who arrived on the scene.

Two other prisoners, Thomas Whelan and Patrick Moran, are under sentence of death in connection with the murder of officers in Dublin in November last. It is understood the men will be executed on Monday unless reprieved.

Black and Tans Killed in Belfast.

BELFAST, March 11.—Three auxiliary policemen from the Gorhamstown depot in Dublin, used for English troops, were shot outside a music hall here this evening while conversing with several young women. The group of men who did the shooting were not identified. The wounded men died shortly after their admission to a hospital. A civilian also was wounded during the affray.

Belfast Salesman Ducked in Canal.

DUBLIN, March 11 (Associated Press).—Pedestrians proceeding to their homes this evening witnessed a sensational incident in the heart of the city at 6 o'clock when members of the Irish Republican Army ducked James Magee, a salesman for a firm of Belfast drapers, in the Grand Canal.

Magee was taken from his lodgings on Thursday by Irish Volunteers and spirited to an unknown destination. He was held prisoner until this evening, when he was brought to the canal pinioned in an automobile. He was taken from the machine, dipped twice into the water and then tied to a post, from which spectators later released him.

The ducking of the salesman is said to have been only one incident of the campaign of the Irish Republican Army to tighten the trade boycott against Belfast. In the last fortnight dozens of freight depots and business houses have been raided with the purpose of securing books to show Belfast trade connection with Dublin.

Former New York Policeman Held.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The State Department has been advised of the arrest, conviction and imprisonment of John Scanlon, formerly of New York City, by the British authorities in Ireland on a charge of having cartridges unlawfully in his possession. Announcement was authorized by the State Department today that it was making inquiries into Mr. Scanlon's citizenship. The case was brought to the attention of the department in a routine way and is being handled according to the usual policy in such cases.

According to information reaching Washington, Scanlon, who was arrested at Killaloe, near Dublin, was formerly a police officer in New York. He rose to the rank of Lieutenant, the State Department is informed, and his record was clear when he was honorably discharged from the service. He went to Ireland about the latter part of 1915, but the reason of his journey is not known to the department. He was born in Ireland, but is understood to have been a naturalized American citizen. The inquiry of the State Department is being made for the purpose of ascertaining whether he has repatriated himself.

PEACE TALK STILL VAGUE

But Commercial Men Are Said to Be Mobilizing for a Settlement.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, March 11.—Suggestions that attempts are being made once more to reopen negotiations with a view to peace discussions between the Cabinet and Sinn Fein are being eagerly canvassed here. It will be recalled that at Christmas the conversations broke down on the question of the surrender of arms by the republicans.

My inquiries show that there is no definite basis at present for the latest rumors. That the feeling of hopefulness is rife even in this black hour of Irish history is indicated by a statement at a meeting of the Royal Dublin Society to the effect that the commercial men of the country were now mobilizing in the interests of peace.

REFUSE HALL FOR MEETING.

Indianapolis Authorities Say City Building Is "Purely American."

INDIANAPOLIS, March 11.—Permission to use Tomlinson Hall, the only available building for a big meeting, on April 1, was denied to J. B. Nellager, representative of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, by the Indianapolis Board of Public Works today. Donal O'Callaghan, Mayor of Cork, Ireland, was to have made an address on that date.

The board, in explaining its refusal, declared Tomlinson Hall to be "purely an American hall," and said it could not be used for spreading of propaganda against countries allied with the United States. It was pointed out that leading Indianapolis Irishmen were not among those present urging use of the hall. The American Legion opposed the meeting.

KAROLYI ASKS INTERNMENT.

Naples Police Arrest a Priest Said to Have Been Associated With Him.

ROME, March 11.—Count Michael Karolyi, who was expelled from Italy last week and who has failed to find a refuge in any country in Europe, has asked the Italian Government to intern him pending an investigation of his activities in Florence. He asserts he is innocent of the charges preferred against him.

Police authorities in Naples have arrested John Hoch, a priest, who is declared to have been closely associated with Count Karolyi in Florence, from which city he disappeared at the time of the Count's arrest. The man showed a letter from a high personage at the Vatican recommending him to prelates in the United States, to which country he intended to sail with two compatriots. It is stated by newspapers that the American Consul refused to visé Hoch's passport, and as a result the police have asked the Government to decide what shall be done with the man under detention.

GERMANY SETS RECORD IN OUTPUT OF DYES

Production in 1920, Greatest in Country's History, Will Be Exceeded This Year.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 11.—A special correspondent of The Daily Chronicle who recently returned from Germany writes:

"The German dye industry has scored another record. Before the war German production of dyestuffs was 135,000 tons. Last year the amount was 145,000 tons, the biggest amount ever produced in one year in the whole of the industry's thirty years of history.

"But that record has been broken during the months of January and February of this year. In January the total production was 13,000 tons and the amount rose in February to 15,000. Presuming the monthly production remains for the rest of the year at the February figure, Germany will this year produce 178,000 tons of dyestuffs. It is not too much to say that the figure will be a good deal nearer a quarter of a million tons.

"I learn that the dye concerns have decided on a big spurt. Never have they been so efficiently organized, never so well provided with capital and never so determined. Though they turn out between four and five hundred different shades the industry is concentrating mainly on the making of those for which there is and will most likely be the greatest demand. The cost of production is still very low—about a quarter of the British figure.

"Early in the Summer it is hoped to have completed large stocks of the colors most in demand, and the financial position of the dye concerns will permit of these stocks being sold at extremely low figures for the express purpose of conquering foreign markets.

"Germany's two great dye opponents are Great Britain and the United States, and it is the markets there she has set her heart, or rather her brain, upon, in spite of restrictions, for she thinks she will be able to overcome these.

"An intensive campaign is being organized and will be opened in a few months. Already the German dye industry is doing very well in the Far East and South America, in both of which regions sales have even now surpassed the pre-war figures."

FLIER HITS A TREE.

Lieut. E. C. Black, After Jumping With a Parachute, Hangs From a Branch.

Lieutenant Edward C. Black, an aviator attached to Mitchell Field, jumped from a plane yesterday with a parachute, and after falling into two diverse wind currents, crashed into a tree a mile north of Mitchell Field, from the branches of which he hung thirty feet above ground, entangled in the ropes of the parachute, until cut down by members of the ambulance squad of the flying field.

Lieutenant Black stepped from a wing of a plane piloted by Lieutenant L. V. Beau, at a height of 5,300 feet. The parachute opened promptly, but after falling about 2,000 feet a wind from the north blew him out toward the Atlantic, until a stiff land breeze carried the flier into the tree.

IROQUOIS ASK ASYLUM HERE.

8,600 Living in Ontario Refuse to Become Canadian Citizens.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 11.—More than 8,600 Iroquois of the Six Nations, residents of the Brant Grant in Western Ontario, determined to resist compulsory citizenship in Canada, have asked Dr. Earl A. Bates of this city, an adopted chief, to appeal to President Harding for asylum in Indian reservations in New York State.

A great council meeting of the chiefs of the Six Nations will be held this week at the Onondaga Reservation to outline a plan of action. The Indians, it is asserted, have been ordered to take out citizenship papers in the Dominion within thirty days. The situation may bring to a head the long continued negotiations between the Indians, the State and Federal Governments as to the future of the tribes in this country.

FINDS SHIPS SUFFER IN MUD ANCHORAGE

Report of Survey of 28 Craft Off Staten Island Shows Deterioration.

'LEAN AGAINST EACH OTHER'

Inspector Says Shipping Board Vessels Are Not Properly Laid Up in Harbor.

The condition of the thirty-eight freight steamships of the United Shipping Board now laid up off Prall's Island, Staten Island, has been made the subject of a special report by the United States Bureau of Survey, 23 Liberty Street, is was learned yesterday. The report has confirmed the opinion of those officials of the board who hold that the vessels now anchored off Staten Island are not properly cared for and are deteriorating. Although that report was made several weeks ago, so far as the Bureau of Survey knows, nothing has been done about it, either by the Shipping Board or by the American Marine Insurance Syndicate.

The Bureau of Survey is a private corporation that has had a contract with the Shipping Board to inspect its vessels four times a year, and the inspection of those now laid up at this port was incident to that contract. The inspection was made by L. A. Block, a marine surveyor.

"There were twenty-eight steamships at Prall's Island when I went there in January," said Mr. Block. "I spent four days there. The work of laying them up had been so poorly done that not only were the hulls deteriorating but the machinery showed evidence of neglect. I found these ships rising and falling into the mud with the movement of the tide. Several of them were resting on their anchors and chains whenever they settled.

"The method of placing the fenders was amateurish. Some on a mud bank were leaning against others. Indeed, I doubt that $10,000,000 will be sufficient to put them back into shape. I should say that eight or ten of them were leaking. The man who laid them up might have been a good pilot, but he knew little about laying up ships. I found the Maddequet's bows stove in because of poor mooring and the Guaro bare of paint, the bottom being eaten into by the action of chemicals. During the four days I was down there the engineer in charge came every day and remained less than an hour on each visit.

"I see it has been contended that the bottoms could not be painted in Winter because frost gets in the steel. That does not hold, for we have had practically no Winter this year and private concerns have been having their ships scraped and painted right along.

"The question of escaping 'wharf profiteers' does not enter into this case, because it is not necessary to place these vessels alongside docks, but rather is it a question of properly laying up."

Navy officers, Mr. Block holds, though highly trained for navy service, are amateurs when it comes to commercial shipping. They are trained, he said, to spend money, not to save it.

It was estimated by an official of the board that the saving in dock fees was about $1,669,000. For some ships, he said, the Government had paid $125 a day in wharfage fees when the regular fee should have been only about $28. The whole trouble, he thought, was the result of economy.

Of this number five showed noteworthy scholarships by securing degrees cum laude, namely, Manuel Prenner of Rochester, N. Y.; David S. Herman of Passaic, N. J.; Ben B. REBELS SHELLING PETROGRAD AGAIN of all the anti-Bolshevist parties, which soon will enter Russia.

The flood of Russian refugees over the frontier has suddenly ceased, the reports say, and it is presumed that the Soviet authorities are preventing any one from leaving Petrograd.

Lenin Can't Last, Says Kerensky.

Russia today is in the beginning of phases of upheaval which will have essentially the same result as the memorable occurrence of March 12, 1917, according to Alexander F. Kerensky, Russia's former "man of destiny."

"The fundamental causes of the outbreaks in Russia," M. Kerensky said today, "are the same as those which brought about the first revolution just four years ago, and the outcome inevitably will be the same—the overthrow of the dictatorship.

"To the Russian working masses and the peasantry Czarism and Bolshevism are indistinguishable—both of them are terrors which must be ended. The Lenin and Trotzky régime depends entirely on bayonets for its maintenance. With the aid of its Lettish, Chinese and Tartar mercenaries, the Soviet may be able to suppress the present rising, but it will be only a postponement of its fall, for the Russian hordes are tired of the Bolshevist experiment.

"The Soviet claims that the present risings are due to allied intrigue are entirely unfounded. Allied aid to the anti-Soviet forces ended with the collapse of General Wrangel, the commander in Southern Russia. The success of the present movement depends largely on non-interference from the outside world. Russia must be left alone."

The leaders of the revolutionary movement now developing in Russia are entirely unknown in Russian political circles, which indicates that the movement is non-poltical and one of the broad masses of the Russian people themselves, according to Anatelyn Baikaloff, President of a group of Russian Social Democrats in London.

M. Baikaloff today communicated to British labor leaders important private information which had filtered in to Russian political and commercial circles in London from what he characterized as "most reliable" sources of information in Russia.

"Statements of the Soviet Government is concentrated in Petrograd, but a White counter-revolt and the Entente are entirely false," declared M. Baikaloff in his communication to the labor leaders. "The revolution is being carried on by workers, sailors, soldiers and peasants. The Socialist parties are not even indirectly responsible. The movement is concentrated in Petrograd, but already is spreading through the country.

"We have reliable information that the garrisons of Pskov and Smolensk have revolted; that in Tula Serpukhoff and Kolomna (respectively 100 miles south, fifty-seven miles south and sixty-three miles southeast of Moscow) the workers have expelled the commissaries and proclaimed a general strike, and that the peasants of the Ukraine, Western Siberia and the Ural are in open revolt.

"Moscow, where the most reliable Soviet troops are concentrated, now is quiet, but only by military force can the authorities prevent the Moscow workers from joining the revolutionaries."

Prizes for Capture of Rival Leaders.

WARSAW, March 11 (Associated Press).—Leon Trotsky, the Russian Soviet War Minister, according to Russians here who are in daily touch with their country, has offered a reward of 5,000,000 rubles for the body, dead or alive, of General Koslovsky, the revolutionary leader in the Petrograd region. General Koslovsky, in return, is reported to have offered 10,000,000 rubles for Trotzky's body.

It is pointed out here that a million rubles now is worth about $50.

A dozen or more insurrections are in progress throughout Russia, and the anti-Bolshevist movement daily is encouraging other uprisings, the local Russians say, asserting that they are gaining confidence of the ultimate success of the counter-revolutionary movement as they learn of fresh anti-Soviet forces appearing from Odessa northward.

Besides a dozen or more main insurrections, many anti-Bolsheist bands are reported to be operating under the stimulus of the Kronstadt movement, East of Kiev and the Volga River region there are five main bands, the most important of which is headed by General Makno, the Ukrainian anti-Bolshevist leader, who recently consolidated his forces with those of General Antonoff. These bands are said to number from 10,000 to 15,000 men, all mounted and well equipped. The bands defeated the Bolsheviki in several encounters east of Kiev, but the Bolsheviki have tightened their hold in Kiev and are preparing to defend it from within and without.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Petrograd is virtually in a state of military occupation, according to advices reaching the State Department today, the Bolshevist régime having disposed of large bodies of communist soldiers along the main approaches to the city and begun a policy of wholesale arrests of workmen and other citizens suspected to be in sympathy with the revolutionists.

Workmen in nearly all the factories in Petrograd have voted to join the revolutionists, whose headquarters are at Kronstadt, although direct aid to Kronstadt is at present difficult because of Bolshevist police and military domination. It is reported, however, that the workmen's organizations of Petrograd are in constant communication with Kronstadt.

Traffic is forbidden on all streets of Petrograd after 7 o'clock in the evening. Troops suspected of being disloyal have been disarmed. The Soviet of Defense is reported to be meeting in continuous session.

MOSCOW JESTS AT REVOLT.

"Sorry Not to Oblige Prospective Undertakers," Press Agency Says.

Soviet Russia, a publication issued at 110 West Fortieth Street, last night made public the following cablegram dated Moscow, March 10, from the Russian Telegraph Agency:

"Juding by the wireless messages circulated abroad, the foreign press and public are much exercised over the alleged downfall of the Soviet Government. We are sorry not to oblige prospective undertakers, but feel too sturdy and in too excellent health just now to think of death. Therefore please have the funeral indefinitely postponed. Disappointed funeral directors may get good jobs here in the jolly task of sweeping out the last remnants of the counter-revolution.

"Some one, affected by the crazy rumors about a counter-revolution in Petrograd, sent a radio from Reval to the Petrograd wireless station inquiring: 'What Government have you at Petrograd?' Petrograd replied: 'We have the Soviet Government of workers and peasants, which possesses more stability and longevity than all bourgeois Governments put together.'

"It is reported here that Hoover relief in Soviet Russia has been made conditional upon the release of 'innocent Americans' imprisoned in Russia. No innocent Americans are imprisoned in Soviet Russia—only a few spies; and even they might have been freed long ago had the American Government made any straight-forward inquiry on their behalf to the Soviet Government.

"Yesterday was celebrated as an international national holiday by the women workers in Moscow. A number of model day nurseries were opened for the children of women workers and for training mothers."

CURRENT HISTORY MAGAZINE as an Authority.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I found on my desk last evening a copy of the March number of the CURRRENT HISTORY MAGAZINE.

I commenced reading several articles on naval affairs with more or less indifference, but before I laid down the magazine I found I had read every word pertaining to naval matters and found the articles exceedingly interesting and illuminating, and I am glad to say that in a greater part I was able to accept the views of several of the articles.

TESTIFIES HAMON SAID GIRL SHOT HIM

Quotes Oil Man as Declaring She Wounded Him While He Was Lying in His Bed.

GARMENTS SHOWN IN COURT

Accused Girl Accompanies Jury to Rooms and Arranges Them as on Day of Shooting.

ARDMORE, Okla., March 11.—Clara Smith Hamon, on trial here charged with the murder of Jake L. Hamon, returned today to the hotel rooms occupied by herself and Mr. Hamon, and in the presence of the jury rearranged the furniture as it was on the night of the shooting. A short time later she heard the testimony of Dr. Walter Hardy that Mr. Hamon had come to his sanitarium with the declaration: "I'm shot by Clara Hamon."

Accompanied by Sheriff Garrett and Clara Hamon, the jury visited the hotel where Hamon was shot, first inspecting the room occupied by Clara Hamon and joined by a connecting door to the one occupied by Mr. Hamon.

Clara Hamon personally arranged the furniture and effects as near as possible to the location on the day of the shooting. It was noticed that only by extreme effort did she maintain her composure, dropping into a chair just as soon as she had completed the few changes.

While Dr. Hardy was on the stand the State offered in evidence the bloodstained undergarments of Hamon, which previously it had been said were burned to prevent his wife's seeing them.

Dr. Hardy testified that Mr. Hamon staggered toward him, pale of face, and kissed him on the forehead. In reply to the doctor's question he said: "I told you she would do it. I'm going to die. I am weak and I want to go to bed."

Dr. Hardy told of caring for Mr. Hamon when he came to the sanitarium and quoted an admonition given by Mr. Hamon, thus:

"Doctor, take my right hand. I want you to promise me you never will reveal how I was shot, except in open court."

As Attorney General Freeling displayed the underclothing Hamon had worn and a gown in which he was placed at the hospital, both Mrs. Jake Hamon and Clara wept into their handkerchiefs.

Dr. Hardy said the hole in the underclothing and shirt corresponded with the wound; that the garment looked just the same.

Mrs. Jake Hamon Breaks Down.

Mrs. Jake Hamon was unable to compose herself and her son led her sobbing from the court room. Judge Champion called a five-minute recess. It was the first time Mrs. Jake Hamon had seen the garments. Previous statements by Hamon's friends had indicated they had been burned to keep the widow from seeing them.

Dr. Hardy said that after the operation Hamon rallied and had the use of his faculties. He said Clara Hamon came to the hospital the next morning and was permitted to see Hamon alone, the nurse being withdrawn.

"She did not stay more than two minutes, maybe three," Dr. Hardy declared. After Clara left, Dr. Hardy said he went in and Hamon said he was going to die.

"That's the woman that did the work. I was lying in the same position as I am now," he quoted Hamon as saying. Hamon then was lying on his back on the hospital cot.

Dr. Hardy testified that the bullet which killed Hamon entered between the eighth and ninth ribs and lodged four inches lower at the back, penetrating the liver.

Dr. Hardy described the day-by-day progress of Hamon's case, and said that the condition was brought about by the wound. On the Thursday after Hamon was shot all indications pointed to a change, but his condition gradually grew worse, with heart, stomach and kidney functions failing until he died the next morning at 7 o'clock, the doctor declared.

"A gunshot wound in the liver," replied Dr. Hardy to a question as to what caused Hamon's death. Under cross-examination Dr. Hardy testified that Mr. Hamon was found to have been suffering from cirrhosis of the liver when he was operated on for the bullet wound, and could not have lived two years longer.

"During cross-examination, W. P. McLean of the defense lay upon the floor and had the surgeon trace the bullet's course with a black pencil on his white shirt. Later he brought from the surgeon as he (the lawyer) stood before him with his arms upraised and body bent forward, admission that if a person then had stood before Mr. McLean and fired, the bullet would have taken a similar course.

Says He Saw Bullet Removed.

Kelly M. Roach of Oklahoma City, a life insurance and oil man, was another witness for the State. He said he came to Ardmore on Nov. 21 to deliver to Hamon a $200,000 life insurance policy. He said he learned Hamon was at a sanitarium, and went there and saw an operation on Mr. Hamon by which a bullet was removed from the back.

Mike Gorman, active Vice President of a bank in Ardmore, testified that he had seen Clara in Hamon's offices, frequently working as a stenographer, when Hamon first came to Ardmore. Mr. Gorman said that once in 1915 he thought he saw Clara with a small pistol in her hand, standing near Hamon, and that she ran into another room as he entered.

This testimony was brought out over strenuous objections by the defense. The Court overruled an objection that it was remote and irrelevant and had no part in this trial.

W. H. Meyers of Oklahoma City, a hardware salesman, testified that in November, 1920, he sold a .25 calibre automatic pistol to Clara B. Smith, the date being near Nov. 9. Mr. Meyers was recalled and testified that he at the same time sold the pistol purchaser a magazine full of cartridges. The defense admitted Clara Hamon was the purchaser.

Myrtle M. Skane, colored, formerly a maid at the hotel where Hamon was shot, testified that Hamon had Room 28 in the hotel, and that the girl had No. 29; that the rooms were adjoining and that the bed in 28 gave indications of the one having been slept in, and that the one in Room 29 did not show it had been used. On cross-examination, she said she had not seen the bed in 28 for twenty-four hours, however, and that no blood was found in Room 29 on the day following Hamon's shooting.

Miss Ella Rission, one of the proprietors of the hotel where Hamon was shot, testified that Clara Hamon occupied the room next to Hamon's part of the time, that Hamon paid for his room and Clara Hamon hers, when she occupied it. On cross-examination Miss Rission said Hamon was called from the girl's room to answer a long distance call about 7 P. M.

HAMON LEFT $1,200,000.

Report Is Made for His Estate in State of Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 11.—Jake L. Hamon had a net estate in Oklahoma of approximately $1,200,000, debts and inheritance tax deducted, according to the report of N. W. Gore, Assistant State Auditor, which was made public today.

Mrs. Jake Hamon, and the two children received $400,000 each from the estates in Oklahoma, the report shows. Outstanding debts were $3,687,426.51, and the inheritance tax on the estate was $42,000, the report showed.

NEW CABLE AGREEMENT IN EFFECT NEXT WEEK

General Understanding Reached by the Conference—Yap Controversy Unchanged.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Norman H. Davis, Chairman of the International Communications Conference, which is charged with the allocation of the former German cables assigned by the Treaty of Versailles to the five principal powers, consulted today with the Italian and French Ambassadors preparatory to calling a general meeting of the conference prior to next Tuesday, when the existing modus vivendi under which the cables are being temporarily operated will expire.

A general agreement affecting the cables is understood to have been reached during a series of conferences with individual delegations, but it has not been disclosed whether the agreement comprehends a definitive distribution of the cables, or merely creates a new modus operandi. An announcement, however, it became known today, would be issued by the conference on or before next Tuesday.

It was indicated at the State Department that Mr. Davis who upon invitation of the new Administration continued to handle the cables negotiations, will conclude his work with the coming session of the conference. It has been his purpose to take a complete rest, having virtually conducted the State Department for several months, and having taken no real recreation since the beginning of the Peace Conference at Paris, where he was economic adviser to the American delegation.

The agreement in prospect, it became known, does not include the solution of the Yap problem, which now is a question for negotiation between the United States and all the principal allied Governments.

Our Move in Yap Controversy.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (Associated Press).—Diplomatic exchange between the American and Japanese Governments concerning the status of the Pacific cable centre of Yap have left the situation unchanged and it remains for the Harding Administration to dictate the next step.

Japan's reply to the protest against Japanese control of the island sent by the Wilson Administration through the American Embassy at Tokio is understood to have contained a reiteration of the Japanese claim to exclusive jurisdiction by reason of the mandate awarded by the League Council.

As to Japanese control of the former German cables centring in the island, against which the American Government particularly protested, Japan is said to adhere to the principle of free use of the cables by all persons, but with operation and control remaining under the power that is in possession of the ends of the cables.

Meanwhile it is suggested that since the League of Nations Council has referred the American protest addressed to it to the allied nations a reply may come from that quarter which may contain the germ of a basis for adjustment.

One incidental result of this suspension may be the preparation of a settlement by direct negotiation of the issue between Japan and the Netherlands arising from the claim of the Dutch Government to control one of the former German cables extending from Yap to the Dutch East Indies.

FLIRTING THIEF SENTENCED.

Youth's Advances in Store Were Made to a Woman Detective.

Henry Rodriquez, 19 years old, who said he lived at 56 Hanson Place, Brooklyn, and was the son of an importer in Spain, who had sent him here to learn American business methods, pleaded guilty in Special Sessions yesterday to stealing articles valued at $49 at Gimbel Brothers, on March 7. He was sentenced to the workhouse for three months. Ethel Cummings, a detective of the Stores' Mutual Protective Association, told the Court that while she was observing Rodriquez taking things from the counters he tried to flirt with her and she had pretended to meet his advances until she got a policeman and had him arrested.

Frank Moran, 53, of 316 East Forty-second Street, who said he was an "old-time actor" and singer, was sentenced to the penitentiary for six months to three years for stealing fifteen pairs of silk socks from James McCreery & Co. An agent of the Stores Mutual Protective Association told the Justices that Moran had been arrested fourteen times within twenty years.

"I seem to have an irresistible impulse to help myself when in a department store," Moran admitted to the Justices.

"Yes, gentlemen, it is an incurable disease, and woe is me since I was on the stage as Harold Lastrange."

KILLED IN EGYPTIAN RIOT.

Three Fatalities Follow Firing by Police on Anti-Churchill Crowd.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, March 11.—The native police, in breaking up a demonstration against Winston Spencer Churchill, the new British Secretary for the Colonies, who is to have charge of Egyptian affairs, were stoned today and compelled to flee. Reinforcements for the police who came up fired on the crowd, killing three persons and wounding others.

Mr. Churchill arrived in Cairo Thursday, accompanied by War Office representatives, in connection with Arab and Palestine affairs. He avoided a hostile demonstration by students who were awaiting him at the station by leaving the train a few miles outside the city and motoring to his hotel.

Small sporadic anti-Churchill demonstrations took place in Alexandria Tuesday and Wednesday.

RULES RIGHT TO SUE FLEET CORPORATION

Appellate Division Holds Company Does Not Enjoy the Sovereign Rights of Government.

SAME STATUS AS A CITIZEN

Has Only the Privileges of a Stockholder and Is Subject to All of the Laws.

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court overruled yesterday a contention of the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation that it cannot be sued because such an action "is in substance and effect an action against the United States of America." The Court rejected a demurrer by the Shipping Board in a suit of the Ingersoll-Rand Company for $1,477. The opinion of Justice Page of the Appellate Division said:

"When Congress provided for the incorporation of the defendant under the laws of the District of Columbia and authorized the Shipping Board for and on behalf of the United States to subscribe for not less than one-half of the capital stock thereof it authorized the creation of an artificial person, capable of suing and being sued, as any other corporation of the District of Columbia. The United States laid aside its sovereign character in which it could not be sued and took that of a private citizen, a stockholder in the corporation exercising its power as every other stockholder by its vote in stockholders' meeting."

Among the authorities cited by Justice Page were the following:

"It is, we think, a sound principle that when the Government becomes a partner in a trading company it divests itself, so far as concerns the transactions of that company, of its soereign character and takes that of a private citizen. Instead of communicating to the company its privileges and prerogatives it descends to the level of those with whom it associates."—Chief Justice Marshall's opinion in Bank of the United States against the Planters' Bank of Georgia.

ASKS OFFICERS TO STAY.

Weeks Urges Need of Reserve and Outlines His Policy on It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Secretary of War Weeks outlined his policy on resignation of reserve officers of the army in a statement issued today, which said:

"On account of the necessity for economy in expeditures and other considerations it will be possible, in the immediate future, to call but a very small number of reserve officers to active duty for training purposes. Prior to June 30, 1922, no reserve officer will be called to active duty for training without his consent.

"During the time specified, to June 30, 1922, the organization of units of the organized reserve and the assignment of reserve officers thereto will be proceeded with. Such assignments will not demand a material amount of time of reserve officers.

"The present number of reserve officers is insufficient. Those who now hold commissions are urged to defer any withdrawal from the reserve contemplated by them until the organized reserve has been formed and definite policies for its training formulated. When such has been done and regulations governing the Officers' Reserve Corps have been published, reserve officers will have a better understanding of their obligations, duties and privileges and will be better qualified to determine whether or not other interests necessitate their withdrawal from the Officers' Reserve Corps."

VIERECK TIP TO HARDING.

His German-American League Wants Quick Peace With Germany.

The office of George Sylvester Viereck sent out to the newspapers yesterday the text of resolutions said to have been adopted by the German-American Citizens' League of the United States, Eastern Division. The resolutions asserted that "the obvious purpose of the sudden English, French and Belgian invasion of Germany, which makes the Treaty of Versailles a scrap of paper, is to thwart the policies of President Harding, and provide a pretext upon which he may be urged to evade his solemn undertaking" to disentangle the United States from European affairs, that "agents and dupes" of foreign Governments in America were "waging a systematic campaign, by means of alleged press dispatches from Washington, to create the impression that President Harding intends to defer the making of peace with Germany, thereby continuing the subservience of American policy to the imperialistic aims of the Allies," and rebuked "the impudence of foreign propagandists and their American tools," expressing confidence in the President's "ability to steer a course ruggedly and aggressively American."

BELIEVES HE IS PERSECUTED

Man Who Appealed to Harding Is Held for Observation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—George E. White of Owatonna, Minn., alleged gun "toter," who applied to President Harding by a twenty-page letter for a squad of detectives to run down a band of persecutors whom he claimed had been hounding his ancestors since 1810 and recently turned their attentions to his family, was remanded for mental observation today when arraigned in Police Court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The letter, which was of an indecent nature, was presented in evidence.

White was arrested Thursday evening in Mr. Vandoren's office, where he had gone for help against the supposed band of persecutors. When searched the police found he wore a false moustache and had in his pockets a lock of red hair, which he claimed was cut from the head of a woman who had tried to marry him; a knife, a dried rabbit foot, two guns, a belt of ammunition, and a large knife.

HALF-BREED GUIDE NAMED BY STILLMAN

cussion of the suit," he declined to be quoted about the hearing.

"It is true that I have been appointed to hear the testimony in the divorce action which James A. Stillman has brought against his wife, but that is all I care to say," he said. "I do not know anything about a suit by Mrs. Stillman against her husband. I was appointed referee about six weeks ago, I should judge."

It was learned, however, that at least four witnesses had been heard at the hearing by the referee, including some brought on from Canada. It was also learned that a stenographic transcript of the inquiry had been taken by James T. O'Neill, described as a court stenographer living in Yonkers.

Surrogate Gleason admitted that he had seen the complaint in the action, but asserted that he did not know where it had been filed—if it had been filed. Justice Morschauser also said he did not know whether the complaint had been entered, adding that he had not examined it, and pointing out that legal procedure in Dutchess County permitted counsel to withhold complaint from the court files until a decision in the matter at issue had been reached.

DETECTIVES GOT EVIDENCE.

Wires Leading Into Stillman Home Said to Have Been Tapped.

A New York City detective agency was used to get evidence to sustain the action for divorce brought by James A. Stillman, President of the National City Bank, against Mrs. Anna Urquhart Potter Stillman, daughter of Mrs. James Brown Potter, the actress, according to information obtained here yesterday. The detectives were said to have tapped the telephone wires leading into the Stillman country home at Pocantico Hills. Officials of the telephone company at Tarrytown, however, denied any knowledge of any wire tapping and said they had never received any complaints to that effect.

The New York lawyers connected with the case continued to keep silence yesterday. Cornelius J. Sullivan, who with De Lancey Nicoll represents Mr. Stillman, said he could not discuss the action. The same reply to questions concerning the action was received at the offices of John B. Stanchfield and George W. Wickersham, of counsel for Mrs. Stillman.

Mr. Stillman did not appear at the National City Bank during the day. At his home, 270 Park Avenue, it was said that neither Mr. nor Mrs. Stillman was there.

Friends of the Stillmans yesterday expressed little surprise over the divorce action. It had been known for more than six months among their acquaintances that there had been an estrangement, it was said, but the belief until recently had been there would probably be a separation. It was rumored at that time that Mrs. Stillman was contemplating establishing a residence in Paris.

The Social Register for 1921 gives Anne and James as children of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman. The name of the child Guy Stillman does not appear.

GERMAN TORIES URGE RIFT WITH ENTENTE

the public which wishes counsels of moderation to prevail in Germany's policy. It is feared that the reactionaries are trying to force the hands of the Government to destroy all possibilities of resumed negotiations and to bring about a break with the Entente in the most demonstrative style.

Their official news agency today issued a communiqué dealing with the just-concluded proceedings of the Foreign Affairs Committee. Mention is also made of the calling of the London, Paris and Brussels Ambassadors to Berlin, and this is followed by the ominous sentence: "It may be accepted that the Ambassadors will not return to their posts so long as a position which is contrary to all international right continues."

The reference is, of course, to the application of the penalties and the implication is that the German Government will demand the withdrawal of the troops from the newly occupied district under threat of breaking off diplomatic relations. It is rumored that the Cabinet has already taken a decision to this effect under pressure of the People's Party, but this I am unable to confirm.

The Stinnes group forms part of a Coalition Government, which is necessarily weak because of being in a minority, the combination depending for its existence on the benevolent neutrality of the Majority Socialists. By withdrawal, or even threat of withdrawal, the People's Party have it in their power to precipitate a first-class political crisis.

Against their attacks and those of the Nationalists Dr. Simons is already on the defensive. When his last London effort was criticised by the extremists in the Foreign Affairs Committee the Minister admitted his offer of five years' annuities on the Paris basis exceeded the Cabinet's instructions, but he justified his action on the ground of Germany's unfavorable position in the Conference and the delegation's desire to do its uttermost to avoid a breakdown of negotiations.

Reparations Bill in Commons.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 11.—Austen Chamberlain formally introduced the Reparations bill in the House of Commons today, and the second reading will be taken on Monday. It was very desirable, said the Chancellor of the Exchequer, that a decision should be come to on the bill rapidly.

The measure sets forth that the importer of goods from Germany shall pay to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise such proportion of the value not exceeding 50 per cent., as the Treasury decides. A receipt of the Commissioners is to be evidence of such payment. On their part the Commissioners will pay the money into a special account as provided by the Treasury.

According to the bill, the value of any imported goods is to be taken as the amount which the importer would give for the goods if they were delivered to him at the place of embarkation, freight and insurance being payable by him. Any dispute as to the value of goods is to be referred to a referee appointed by the Treasury.

PARIS, March 11.—As an addition to the controversy as to whether Frenchmen or Germans pay the heaviest taxes the Intransigeant today contributes the following:

"At Lokau, near Seeburg, in Eastern Prussia, a certain Herr H—— is proprietor of ninety acres of cultivated land, ten acres of forest, five horses, four cows, nine pigs and eighty chickens and turkeys. He had to pay for the year 1921 a fifty-six marks tax on his income.

"In Berlin one egg costs two marks Herr H—— can thus pay his year's taxes with the eggs his chickens lay in one day."

GERMANS FROM HERE TO VOTE IN SILESIA

Heavy Contingents From Germany Pouring Into the Plebiscite Area.

TARNOWITZ, Silesia, March 10.—Five Germans qualified to vote in the coming plebiscite in Upper Silesia have arrived here from Baltimore, Md. Another 120 eligible to vote are on the way from Argentina and Chile.

BRESLAU, Silesia, March 10.—The first contingent of voters for the plebiscite in Upper Silesia to determine whether the region shall be German or Polish, which will be held March 20, arrived here this morning. The train carrying the voters came from Duisburg, and on board were 800 miners and their wives, who will be the guests of private citizens until the day of the voting.

Up to noon today 10,000 eligible voters had registered in the Breslau district.

DUISBURG, March 10.—The French authorities in the newly occupied area have ordered the local bureau of the Upper Silesia Voters' League to cease its activities.

FEAR CIVIL WAR IN SILESIA.

Poles Allege Extensive Plans for Revolt if Germans Lose.

BEUTHEN, Upper Silesia, March 11.—The Silesian plebescite will develop into commission from Albert Korfanty, the civil war unless the Inter-Allied Commission takes immediate action toward dissolving the alleged secret military organizations—the Orgesch and the Einwohnerwehr—which are working in close contact with the German Army commands beyond the plebescite boundary, is the burden of a note received by the Polish Commissioner.

M. Korfanty's communication follows a similar note from the Polish Consul General, M. Kefzycki, here. Both notes are the result of the discovery of alleged plans to incite an insurrection should the Germans lose the province to Poland.

Great quantities of rifles, machine guns, grenades, and poison gas bombs continue to be confiscated in court houses, factories and farms.

OCCUPATION ZONE EXTENDED.

Gen. Gaucher Pays Tribute to French and German Dead.

LONDON, March 11.—Oberhausen, six miles east of Ruhrort and seven miles northwest of Essen, has been entered by the Allies, according to a Central News dispatch from Paris.

Entry was made without incident.

ALLIED MILITARY HEADQUARTERS, Neuss, March 11 (Associated Press).—General Gaucher, commander of French troops engaged in the occupation of the new tariff zone along the Rhine, yesterday placed wreaths on the graves of French and German soldiers who died during the war of 1870 and the world conflict, and were buried in the military cemetery near here. As he placed his tribute over the tomb of the Germans he said:

"These died in obedience to military orders," while at the graves of the French he said: "They were our pioneers."

A French priest led the procession to the cemetery, and was followed by a band playing a funeral march. Then followed French, Belgian and British soldiers and sailors from the gunboats anchored in the Rhine. Bringing up the rear was a straggling crowd of German civilians.

When the priest's prayer was finished the band struck up the "Marseillaise," and the Germans, who had stood bareheaded during the invocation, immediately put on their hats, remaining covered while the French national anthem was played and until the band had completed its rendition of "God Save the King."

After the ceremony, which was attended by representatives of the Belgian and British forces, there was a review of the troops of occupation, and General Gaucher held a reception for correspondents.

"It is very quiet here," he remarked, "and I am going to a theatre."

Referring to telegrams from Düsseldorf to London, in which labor unions protested against General Gaucher's proclamation prohibiting strikes, the General declared they were sent as a result of an improper translation of his announcement. In his proclamation he said strikes of workmen operating public necessities would not be tolerated, but the German translation said that no strikes whatever would be permitted.

HARD PROBLEMS FOR ALLIES.

Economic Penalties Expected to Occasion Many Complications.

By WALTER DURANTY.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUSSELDORF, March 10 (By courier to Paris and thence by cable).—It is already clear that the Allies are up against much worse problems in the Rhineland than was imagined when they embarked upon their latest penalties. First, there is a military difficulty. Actually this is not grave, but there is great and ever present anxiety in the minds of the officers carrying out the operation because they feel that it is contrary to all they ever learned.

The military textbooks lay down that forces occupying densely populated and potentially hostile territory should be in a certain proportion to the inhabitants. I am revealing no military secrets when I say that this is not the case in Düsseldorf, Duisberg or Ruhrort. There is similar anxiety—at least as far as Cologne is concerned—regarding the rear. Cologne is held far too lightly, according to the British war book, and the troops are not of the best quality to boot. Accordingly the soldiers are all rather worried, although, as far as can be seen, there is no reason to expect trouble.

Unless those most competent to judge the situation are wrong, the Germans intend to stand pat and let the Allies do their worst. Just what that means the Allies are now finding out. The difficulties of the new tariff schemes are even greater than the military difficulties. Business men here—Allied just as much as the German—are agreed that the economic penalties will put a blight on industry throughout this area. Englishmen fully acquainted with conditions scout as ridiculous the suggestion that the French can divert Rhineland trade westward. They declare that the feeling against the French is far too bitter for that. It is not as if a tariff could be imposed overnight. Several important officials of the High Commission with whom I have talked say it may be an affair of weeks, if not months. And that means uncertainty, which any business man will admit renders contracts impossible.

Thus a big industrial concern near Cologne has just announced the cancellation of a 60,000,000 mark contract owing to the impossibility of quoting a definite price for a period several months ahead. Money is being withdrawn from the banks, credit hardly exists where it was most abundant and the wheels of industry are slowly but surely stopping. Rumors, too, of allied seizures of deposits and taxes are being circulated. In Düsseldorf hotels and restaurants that four days ago were crowded with merchants are now empty. They have simply fled before the invaders.

The real struggle is yet to come, but it is already obvious that the capitalist—that is, the Right or defiant—elements of Germany are prepared to engage it against the Allies.

Germany's answer to the allied move is a business strike. The question remains, which can hold out the longer? At first sight the trumps appear to be on the side of the Allies—unless there comes a rift in the lute between the French and British over details of the tariff where their inteersts may well conflict. But the Germans are steeling themselves to resistance with their watchword of "better end with horror than horror without end." Like many such phrases it is exaggerated and partly meaningless, for they do not intend violence, but it has caught the imagination of the people and passes from mouth to mouth like wildfire.

Meanwhile the trade barons of the Rhineland feel that there is a factor in their favor whose effect may be incalculable. It is possible reaction of the workers to the expected industrial stagnation. Despite the stories current in France and England about German business prosperity, allied observers here are positive that the German workers have a slighter margin between living and starving than those in any other great European country, except, of course, Russia. Prices certainly seem to bear this out. The workers, particularly the more radical sections, at present seem decided to hold aloof from the struggle between what they regard as two rival capitalisms, but who can tell what they may do if the shoe begins to pinch?

And, anyway, according to the most authoritative information I can obtain, the French do not contemplate anything of the kind. It is a dramatic duel between a passive resistant and superior force. The former swears he is prepared to go to all lengths, even a hunger strike. Perhaps he is bluffing—perhaps not.

AMSTERDAM, March 11.—Exports from the Rhineland to Holland have stopped altogether, says the Essen correspondent of the Rotterdamsche Courant, neither buyers nor sellers being willing to risk imposition of the allied tax levies.

INCIDENTS LAUZANNE SAW.

People of Duesseldorf Go Cheerfully About Their Business.

PARIS, March 11.—Stephane Lauzanne, the editor of The Matin, telegraphs from Cologne:

"When General Gaucher, having established his headquarters at the Park Hotel, convoked the German authorities of Düsseldorf, he said to them:

"'I inform you that I have not come here to carry out a military operation, but a simple operation of seizure.'

"This morning the labor unions, which are numerous at Düsseldorf, asked to be received by the General. The delegates said to the commander of the allied troops:

"'We come to declare to you that we consider you not as enemies but as creditors.'

"'You are quite right,' replied the General.

"And these two dialogues give an exact idea of the way in which Düsseldorf views the allied occupation. There is not the slightest manifestation of hostility among the population. I walked for two hours in all parts of the city today and I saw in the faces of the people only curiosity. Everyone goes about his business. The street cars are crowded, the shops are all open and the children play on the sidewalks and in the squares.

"Before the Park Hotel, where flies General Gaucher's flag, there were fifty persons standing watching the allied officers come and go. A German painter was effacing traces of the German flag painted on the side of the hotel. He was the only sad looking man I saw in Düsseldorf.

"General Gaucher told me there had not been anywhere the slightest incident.

"'I have been living in the Rhineland for two years,' he said, 'and I am a good judge. There is only correction in the attitude of the population. I have'nt had to take many measures—I have invited the natives not to fly the German flag; have invited the merchants to post their prices and have invited night hawks to get home by nine o'clock. I have not touched a policeman of the city; only I am going to ask politely three-fourths of the Sichereitspolizei to go elsewhere to exercise their functions. A thousand guardians of the peace are quite enough here.'

"I saw General Degoutte who passed in an auto.

"'Not the slightest trouble,' he said. 'Just now when my car passed a crowd I heard them call "Vive la France." I am well satisfied.'

"I met further a French officer, Colonel Denvigne, representing the Interallied High Commission, who was examining the contours of the square. I asked him if he was going to put machine guns there. He replied:

"'No, but tomorrow we are going to open soup kitchens in this square for needy families.'

"I would like to bring this fact to the attention of The New York World, which has been conducting a campaign against occupation of the Rhineland. What will it say about this new act of French brutality?"

SNEER AT FRENCH FREE SOUP

But Despite German Editors' Slurs 5,000 Duesseldorfers Are Fed.

PARIS, March 11.—The poilus' soup kitchens, which are distributing what may or may not be justly called propaganda soup to the poor of Düsseldorf, have assumed international importance. These poor, tired soup kitchens, which for so many months fed the French fighting men, stand today in the public squares of the occupied German Rhine city, and from them the company cooks ladle out steaming nourishment in the name of France to hungry Germans.

This evidence of French activity by no means fits in with the "barbarity" demands of the German propagandists, and naturally they turn loose their wrath upon the French field kitchens and what well-fed Germans would call frog soup.

Although the declaration of German editors that this soup, of which 5,000 Düsseldorfers partook last evening, was paid for really by German money did not affect today's breadline. The company cooks are said to have put extra pepper in the caldrons after hearing of this exhibition of German gratitude. And the French Government today takes pains to state that the soup is not paid for out of the army occupation fund made good by Germany, but will be accounted for in the French budget.

Thus the French taxpayer is feeding hungry Düsseldorf. And tonight Düsseldorf papers will so state by order of General Gaucher, who adds that any one who wishes any good French soup can apply to his own priest or minister for cards.

ALLIES TO COLLECT IN AMERICAN ZONE

No Objection to Be Offered to Activities of Their Customs Agents There.

FRENCH MILITARY HEADQUARTERS, MAYENCE, March 11 (Associated Press).—Brig. Gen. Henry T. Allen, commander of the American Forces of Occupation, will follow the same policy regarding the collection of customs along the Rhine as on other problems connected with the occupation, making the decisions of the Rhineland Commission his orders to his army, according to information received here from Coblenz today.

General Allen has taken no action on the customs question, it was stated, and is awaiting notification of the commission's decisions.

WASHINGTON, March 11 (Associated Press).—American forces on the Rhine will take no part in the collection of customs, but no objection will be made to such action by the Allies within the territory occupied by them, it was learned today at the State Department.

Brig. Gen. Allen, commanding the American Army, has reported that the High Commissioner of the Rhineland Commission was studying the plan for the collection of duties at all bridgeheads occupied by allied troops, and it has been understood here that agents of the allied Governments would be stationed at Coblenz to supervise the collection both of import and export duties. General Allen, it was explained, will act without specific instructions.

No change in the status of the American force or its rôle has been authorized, but it was officially stated that no obstacles would be placed in the way of the Allies in carrying out their newly adopted policy. The American troops will continue to act with the Rhineland Commission, but with the understanding that has existed since the occupation of the Rhine, that the American commanding officer is responsible only to his own Government in determining questions affecting the maintenance and operation of his force.

GREEKS DOWNCAST, BUT LIKELY TO SUBMIT

Turks, Elated at Allied Concession, Reach Full Agreement With French.

LONDON, March 11.—The Turks, naturally, are much pleased with the suggested alterations in the Sèvres Treaty. The Greeks, on the other hand, feel rather downcast, but it is believed they will accept the proposals as the best of a bad job, recognizing that refusal on their part would have very serious consequences.

Early this morning Bekir Sami Bey had a conference with Premier Briand. The general terms regarding French evacuation of Cilicia were discussed. It was agreed that hostilities should cease at once and that prisoners of war should be exchanged. The Turks will undertake to deal justly with and furnish adequate protection to Armenians in that region and to all other minorities in the population.

Bekir Sami Bey, who with the Turkish representatives will leave London for home early next week, probably on Tuesday, will break his journey at Paris to meet M. Briand, and a definite arrangement to the above effect will be signed.

The Greek and Turkish delegates hope to return in four or five weeks.

TURN OF AUSTRIA NEXT.

Chancellor Mayr to Ask Long Credits of Supreme Council.

PARIS, March 11 (Associated Press).—Chancellor Mayr of Austria and the other members of the Austrian delegation, on its way to London to discuss Austrian questions with the Allied Supreme Council, passed through Paris today.

"We are going to London with an entirely pacific object—to ask long credits so that we can commence work," said the Chancellor as he left. "We do not wish to be the beggars of Europe, but we need aid."

VIENNA, March 10 (Associated Press).—Three reservations have been made by the Government of the Austrian Republic in accepting the Entente demand for the surrender of military material. The first would cover the guns defending the Danube at Vienna, Kremz, 88 miles northwest of this city, and Tulln, 17 miles northwest; the second would take exception to demands prohibiting the operation of military schools, and the third would relate to the demobilization of the Vienna arsenal. The Government is preparing an appeal to the League of Nations.

The big guns demanded by the Allies are understood to be of the same type as those used by the Germans in battering down the Belgian forts at the beginning of the World War.

Sforza's Course Approved.

ROME, March 11.—Italy's policy with regard to the London reparations conference was today reported in detail to the Council of Ministes by Premier Giolitti. All the ministers announced their approoval of the course pursued by Count Sforza, the Foreign Minister, who represented Italy at the London conference.

The Epoca considers the dissolution of the Chamber of Deputies probable, to be followed by general elections.

MILLER OUTLINES WATER POWER PLAN

Opposes Initiation of Project by State in Message to Legislature.

RELIES ON PRIVATE CAPITAL

Urges Commission to License Corporations and Regulate Operations, Rates and Securities.

FOR LENIENT TAXATION

State's Industrial Development Needs Harnessing of 1,000,000 Wasted Horse Power, He Says.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—Governor Miller, in a special message sent to the Legislature today, came out squarely against the development of hydro-electric energy under State auspices, unless private capital should be found unwilling to undertake it on a scale of broad and real service to the public and under conditions safeguarding the public interest. He expressed the belief that there was little danger of that, once the State has adopted a settled water power policy.

The subject has been a topic of legislative discussion for twelve or fifteen years past, but nothing has been done. Whenever something definite seemed about to be undertaken, the plans have hit a snag. In many instances public utilities corporations, carrying on a lucrative business under franchises granted by the State, and whose interests would be adversely affected by the adoption of a State water power policy have been held responsible.

Governor Miller stated the time was at hand when the State must act. He estimates that 1,000,000 horse power which might be developed forthwith—the equal in potential energy of 10,000,000 tons of coal—has been going to waste needlessly. He believes the State will never have the industrial development to which it is entitled until this vast, latent energy is developed and put to work. Coal and water, made to do team work in the development of electric current under the most economical plan it would be possible to devise, would solve in the most satisfactory manner the problem of conservation of the State's natural resources he sets forth.

Points in Governor's Plan.

He recommends as most effective the enactment of legislation along lines identical ith those followed in a Federal law enacted for the same purpose. His plan involves:

1. The creation of a water-power commission to license corporations consenting to take up water-power development on a scale that would insure maximum development and widest possible transmission.

2. Regulation by the State Public Service Commission of their operations, including rates and the floating of securities.

3. Expropriation of excess profits from projects serving purely private ends and taxation for revenue of such corporations.

4. For projects of a public utility character, leniency in taxation and emphasis on the delivery of hydro-electric energy, or the combined product from coal and water, to consumers at the lowest cost consistent with reasonable returns, with extensiveness of service and efficiency a main consideration in determining the attitude of the State toward private exploiters of such projects.

The message, after showing how the Federal Water Power act complicates the State situation, expresses the Governor's belief that this act "is an infringement upon the sovereign power of the State."

"It is unnecessary, however," continues the message, "for the State to delay the adoption of a policy pending such decision, for however the conflict of authority between the State and the Federal Government may be resolved it will still be necessary for the State to adopt a policy which, as far as I can see, will not be affected by such decision. Indeed, the Federal act makes it more important than ever that a definite policy be adopted, because an applicant for a permit or license under the Federal act must present evidence of compliance with the laws of the State, and the act reserves to the State full regulatory powers, including the control of rates, the right to charge rentals for the use of its rights and to expropriate excessive profits.

Would Follow Federal Act.

"The Federal Water Power act appears to be carefully drawn to prevent the exploitation of the public resources for private gain. I believe that a State act drawn along somewhat similar lines can be made efficacious to secure to all of the people of the State the benefits to be derived from the development of the State's natural resources.

"Under any proper system of safeguards the ultimate consumer will bear whatever taxes are imposed, and it does not appear to me to be wise policy for the State to seek to make the proposed development revenue producing beyond reasonable recompense for the use of State lands or property and reasonable charges for the costs of administration. Of course I am speaking of development of power for distribution to the public, not of private development for private use.

"In order to assure maximum development the act should confer discretion on the Water Power Commission so that licenses may only be granted for projects which provide for the maximum development of a given stream, watershed or territory.

"State lands within the forest preserve will be required for approximately 100,000 horsepower of the possible development, but not more than is now permitted by Section 7 of Article 7 of the State Constitution for reservoirs, for water supply and to regulate the flow of streams. Those purposes do not include power development, and I recommend that an amendment of Section 7 of Article 7 of the State Constitution be submitted so as to include power development among said uses, but retaining the present limitation of three percentum of forest preserve lands as the maximum to be used for all purposes.

"The present provision provides for the apportionment of the expense of an improvement on the public or private property and municipalities benefited, to the extent of the benefits received. That provision is not applicable to a power development and yet the resolution adopted is so drawn as to make it apply. I recommend the careful consideration of this subject and the submission of a workable amendment."

State Projects Last Resort.

Both in his message and in a subsequent interview the Governor made it clear that he did not intend to shut the door against State initiation of power projects, either of development or transmission, on its own behalf, and that he insisted on private initiative merely because he thought private enterprise could do the work much better than the State itslef.

When the Governor received the newspaper correspondents he was asked if he intended that water power licenses should have the right of eminent domain.

"That is right," the Governor replied. "The condemnation law applied to water power is now very inadequate, and one little fellow with a little strip of land absolutely necessary, but not worth [illegible] can hold up a whole development. The point is to make it possible to have the power of eminent domain fully exercised."

"Is it your intention that the Niagara Falls Development Company, to which obvious reference, though not by name, is made in your message, should be brought in under the proposed licensing system or would they be exempt?"

"I should not think that, as far as a license is concerned, this company would be affected," said the Governor. "I would make all electrical companies subject to the regulatory powers of the Public Service Commission. What I said in my message was that all diversion of State waters, except under a license from the State, should be prohibited, except such as is now being lawfully made."

"If a tax were to be placed upon water power as some sort of a revenue by the commission, would the commission have power to tax the existing water companies?"

"No doubt about that," replied the Governor. "The tax, in my judgment, has to be applied flexibly. The only way to insure maximum development is by having various projects tied together. I am looking ahead to a time when there will be one common transmission system for separate projects which will take the electricity from each and distribute it.

Expects More Niagara Power.

"Do you contemplate a State-owned transmission system?"

"No," said the Governor. "That is, unless the State had to do it. In the case of absolute necessity the State might enter the field either of transmission or power development, or both. But it won't be necessary."

"Should the State construct the dams and reservoirs necessary for storage of water?"

"The State might, but I don't think it should," the Governor replied.

The Governor was asked his attitude toward power companies which, in some instances, having had franchises for twenty-five years, had failed to exercise them.

"I would make everybody not now actually developing power get a license," he replied. "I am not suggesting, however, that their charters be repealed."

The Governor expressed the opinion that the treaty with Great Britain would be amended so as to make possible a greater diversion of water at Niagara Falls than the present treaty permits. "I think this is one of the things the Federal Administration will take up, and that we will have some arrangement by which all of the practicable diversion is permitted," he said.

Clayton R. Lusk, President pro tem. of the Senate, said this afternoon that so far as he knew no bills had been drafted carrying out the recommendations embodied in the message. Some doubt was expressed whether there would be sufficient time at the present session to do anything effective.

MILLER SIGNS REPEAL OF DAYLIGHT SAVING

This City Unaffected, Though Clocks May Not Change Until April 24.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—Over the objections of New York and practically every other city in the State, Governor Miller today made a law the bill repealing the Daylight Saving law, and leaving to the cities themselves the right of determination as to whether they want to retain daylight saving. He offered no comment.

If representations made to the Legislature and the Governor, who yesterday gave a hearing on the repeal measure, are fulfilled, taking the statute off the books will lead to untold confusion and prove decidedly unpopular.

The new law provides that the governing board of any city or village, by ordinance, may provide for daylight saving to operate not earlier than the last Sunday in March nor later than the last Sunday in October. All courts, public officers and legal and official proceedings shall be regulated by the ordinance. The new law takes effect at once.

Daylight saving probably will become effective in this city on Easter, March 27, despite the signing yesterday by Governor Miller of the bill repealing the State Daylight Saving law.

There is a possibility, however, that clocks may not be shifted here until the last Sunday in April. The Board of Aldermen is expected to take action next week on an amendment to the daylight-saving ordinance passed last year. This amendment would shorten the period prescribed, lopping off a month in the Spring and another in the Fall.

The stock exchanges, banks and other business institutions will adhere to local time, as they have for two Summers. Railroads entering the city will provide commutation service on daylight time.

Supporters of daylight saving said that they expected virtually all neighboring cities and towns would set their timepieces by New York local time. A bill now pending before the New Jersey Legislature provides for a State-wide daylight law effective between April and September.

POLICEMAN ON TRIAL FOR KILLING OF BOY

Two Were Indicted, but the Defense Obtains a Separation of the Cases.

FLOOD FIRST TO FACE JURY

Counsel Protests Against Whitman's Transfer of Other Police Cases to Another Court.

A jury was selected yesterday in the case of Policeman Cornelius J. Flood, on trial for murder in the first degree before Judge Charles C. Nott in the Court of General Sessions. Flood was indicted jointly with Policeman Robert A. O'Brien for the killing of James Cushing, 15 years old, who was struck by one of several bullets alleged to have been fired by the policemen into a group of boys who were playing with pigeons on a roof at 540 West Fiftieth Street, on Sunday afternoon, July 14, 1918.

The names of both men were on the calendar to be tried yesterday, but William J. Fallon, their counsel, sprang a surprise by asking for separate trials.

"Why not try them together?" asked Assistant District Attorney George N. Brothers, who is assisting ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman in the prosecution.

"I insist on separate trials," said Mr. Fallon. Judge Nott asked Mr. Whitman which of the two defendants he preferred to try first. Mr. Whitman named Flood and he was ordered to trial. The purpose of the defense in obtaining separate trials was apparently to make the most of the fact that only one bullet struck Cushing, although the two men are to be tried for the offense. Flood and O'Brien have both admitted firing on the roof, but insisted that the first shot was fired by accident and that the others were fired into the air, and that they did not know whose bullet killed the boy. They have advanced the theory that in the excitement somebody else shot Cushing.

Mr. Fallon objected to an immediate trial, saying that he had appeared in court ready to go on with the case of Police Captain William A. Bailey, who is accused of taking unlawful fees. This is one of the cases that was removed from General Sessions to the Supreme Court by Mr. Whitman to avoid the order of Judge Crain, which provided that the police defendants should be either assured of speedy trials or receive permission to inspect the Grand Jury minutes in order to prepare motions for the dismissal of the indictments.

"That case is no longer on the calendar," said Judge Nott, after the motion for the trial of the Bailey case had been made.

"But I urge, your Honor," said Mr. Fallon, "that the removal of it to the Supreme Court was an irregular proceeding, and I stand here ready to proceed with the trial. The Supreme Court has not the power to transfer such cases. This court has exclusive jurisdiction in such cases."

"I believe that is quite true," said Judge Nott, "but it has been the practice for years to do such things, although there is nothing in the code that is a basis for that proceeding, and I hope the matter will be tested."

"We will test it," replied Mr. Fallon, "but I will ask your Honor to keep the case here in this court."

Judge Nott denied this request, saying that the point should be tested in another way, as to claim jurisdiction might appear to be entering upon an unseemly controversy with the Supreme Court.

The following jurors were finally selected for the trial of Flood: Foreman, Melvin C. Hascall, founder, 125 West Eighty-fifth Street; James A. Armstrong, manager, 124 Convent Avenue; Edwin M. Silverman, manufacturer, 249 West 107th Street; Warren B. Newkirk, plumber, 256 West Ninety-seventh Street; Sidney S. Long, editor, 305 West Ninety-seventh Street; Charles S. Snow, treasurer, 402 West 153d Street; George F. Jethson, manufacturer, 330 Riverside Drive; Clarence R. Kilbourne, hotel keeper, 302 Convent Avenue; Henry L. Purdy, 66 East Fifty-fourth Street; Frank E. Wright, architect, 61 East Eighty-sixth Street; William H. Moeller, painter, 420 West 160th Street; J. Henry Connell, broker, 146 Central Park West. The trial was adjourned until Monday.

SAYS POLICE WERE DRUNK.

Three in Uniform Disorderly, Citizen Testifies Before Inspector.

Inspector Thomas Underhill yesterday heard a complaint by J. Henry Smythe Jr., who lives at the Republican Club, 54 West Fortieth Street, that three unidentified policemen in uniform were drunk and disorderly early last Monday morning near the Blue Point Oyster and Chop House, 161 East Forty-second Street. Several witnesses corroborated Mr. Smythe.

So far the names of the policemen have not been ascertained. Mr. Smythe said that the last figure of the number on the hat of one of the policeman was 7. Several policemen who had been on duty in the neighborhood whose number ends with 7 were at the hearing yesterday, but Mr. Smythe was unable to identify any one. The investigation will be continued.

A GRACEFUL TRANSITION.

We note with sympathy the hard struggle which it is costing some Republicans to claim as virtue in their own party what they had condemned as vice in the other. It is really an old process in politics. By now it ought to be easy—as easy as lying. All that is necessary is to cling to the fundamental principle that whatever we do is right simply because we, the party of intelligence and morality, choose to do it, even if it be the same thing that we denounced when the shameless other fellows did it. Yet we observe that a few queerly constructed Republicans don't like to see this neat and clear distinction attempted so early.

Here, for example, is The Boston Transcript declaring that the new President has subjected himself to "merited rebuke." What for, pray? Why, for having appointed his old family physician a Brigadier General. The stern and unbending Transcript declares that the Republicans raised cries to high heaven when similar favoritism was displayed by President WILSON in the case of his doctor, Admiral GRAYSON, and that they cannot so soon eat their own words. But for what other purpose does the fastidious Transcript think that a merciful Providence fashioned them "holler"? This newspaper organ of Senator LODGE and of the straitest sect of Republicans ought to be more charitable in dealing with President HARDING. The Transcript should cultivate more flexibility of conviction, greater elasticity of conscience, in order to make more gracefully the acceptance by its party of a whole series of Wilson policies.

Similar advice is needed by The Chicago Tribune. That paper is in a painful tantrum over the revival and endorsement by President HARDING of the Colombian Treaty. What on earth can he be thinking of? Doesn't he know that the said treaty is a miserable and humiliating thing concocted by Mr. WILSON for the express purpose of casting discredit upon President ROOSEVELT? Haven't Republican Senators painted it as a peculiarly disgraceful form of blackmail? How, then, can honest Republicans support even their own President when he drags the disgusting Colombian Treaty out of its pigeonhole and urges the Senate to ratify it? But all this is much too sad and serious. The Chicago Tribune must be familiar with the political manoeuvre known as turning a sharp corner. It will have to do it many times in the next four years and should begin to practice at once so as to be able to go through the movement with dignity and grace.

Another transition for which Republicans must prepare themselves is in tariff matters. A broad hint of this comes in a dispatch from Barcelona, where the International Conference on Communications is now sitting. Its President, M. GABRIEL HANOTAUX, tells the press that he is particularly pleased with President HARDING's statement: "We cannot sell where we do not buy." Is this foreign simplicity? Or is it disguised malice? Either way, it indicates the kind of transformation scene for which the Republicans must make ready. The change will be hard for those who are as "sot" as The Boston Transcript, but they can find encouragement in the efforts of Senator WATSON of Indiana to adjust himself. He has not been thought of as a lightning-change artist, but see him rapidly put on a new costume in the following interview, quoted with approval by Senator CAPPER's Topeka Capital:

> The only way these nations can pay us is in goods, for the money is not available. If we erect a tariff wall so that they cannot send their goods to offer healthy competition with our goods, they cannot pay what they owe. I am still strongly in favor of protection for American industries and will continue so to the end of my days, but I think there is always danger of a tariff being too high, and we face that danger now.

This is to be an era of good feeling, if the President can bring it about, so that there ought to be no carping or gloating over the successive taking up of Democratic positions by the Republicans. If one must smile at it, let him not taunt. But it certainly may be asked of the Republicans to make their shifting of ground without sour faces. The world-wide benediction of understanding which President HARDING invoked will be ample to cover all these party inconsistencies. Political parties have so long stolen each other's clothes that a little more petty larceny of that sort may be forgiven, provided it is good-natured and graceful.

LOOSE LEGISLATING.

Washington dispatches call attention to the similarity between the language of the Interstate Commerce act and the Lever act, just declared unconstitutional for vagueness. The Interstate Commerce law forbids unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory rates. The Lever act forbade unreasonable prices for foods and fuel. The Sherman law also forbids unreasonable combinations in restraint of trade. But there are distinctions between the cases. The Interstate Commerce act provides a tribunal to discover and declare exactly what are the unreasonable acts forbidden. The Anti-Trust act forbids and punishes only those acts and conduct which are unreasonable according to the common law, and that is definite enough to send men even to prison, still more to make offenders responsible civilly in damages done, if proved.

The Lever law lacked both the tribunal of the Interstate Commerce act and the rule of reason as a measure of misconduct. Certain declarations regarding unreasonable prices by the Federal Trade Commission were not authorized by the Lever act, and did not bring offenders within it. As already pointed out, the mere asking of any high price is not misconduct suitable for criminal punishment. The fixing of prices by conspiracy and the extortion of prices by duress are punishable under the Anti-Trust law, but were not named in the Lever law. If the legislators had thought with more precision about what it was that they wished to punish, they would not have legislated so loosely and ineffectively.

MEDICAL BEER.

Trouble is always fermenting for and fermenters are always troubling the vigilant wardens of the Volstead act. A few weeks ago the Internal Revenue Bureau announced that the use of beer and wine as medicine would be allowed, and that the amount to be taken by patients would be left to the discretion of the prescribing physicians. The Anti-Saloon League insisted that only strong waters could be made and used for medical purposes. There was much fluttering among the Drys. They appealed to the Department of Justice against the Treasury ruling. They felt that this Aesculapian malt and grape would be perilous to their favorite statute. On March 3 Attorney General PALMER held that the Internal Revenue Bureau has not the power to limit the number of permits for the manufacture and sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors for medical purposes, save to the extent that retail permits must be issued only to reputable druggists who are pharmacists or have a pharmacist in their employ.

Whereat there was and is great hullabaloo among the powers of evil and the powers of good. The brewers are perhaps prematurely elated. The prohibitionists are perhaps unduly depressed. It will be harder to enforce the law, they think. That makes no difference, if Attorney General PALMER's interpretation is correct. Until Attorney General DAUGHERTY reviews the law and sustains or reverses Mr. PALMER's opinion, the latter's decision must stand. It is taking a very low view of the medical profession to suppose that many doctors are going to abuse the permission to prescribe beer and wine. There is a difference of opinion and practice among physicians in regard to the cup. In the wet era ale, porter, beer, wine were variously prescribed by many doctors and used innocuously by many persons. Mr. WAYNE B. WHEELER assures us, on the contrary, that "beer has no "therapeutic value. It is simply "'booze,' and that is all there is "to it."

Be it "booze," be it blessing, it's not going to flood the country. Till new regulations are concocted at Washington, beer will be the unloved one-half per cent. Only in nine States is "real beer" predictable and many contingencies hedge the prophecy. The new Attorney General may sweep away his predecessor's opinion. If he doesn't, the Anti-Saloon League, a powerful dictator of legislative action, will call on Congress to change the law; and in the nine States still in the bonds of iniquity it will try to secure the enactment of severe Dry codes protecting the interior of every citizen against the untherapeutic "booze." We can depend upon the sincere and sleepless Volsteadians to guard every moment the dikes that shut out the unplumbed, malt, estranging sea. The Volstead act always needs strengthening. Its defense and maintenance are the cardinal duty of the Government.

Philosophically considered, this is the continuous struggle between good and evil. In the Kingdom of the Absolute enforcement is sure. Some prohibition authorities greet this new malice of the enemy hopefully. They are sure that ultimately not only will medical beer and wine but medical strong drink be prohibited. Thus they are from seeming evil still educing good; entitled to subscribe themselves, like the tolerant Superintendent of the International Reform Bureau, "Yours for a better world."

HOMECOMING IN UPPER SILESIA.

Germans who happen to have been born in Upper Silesia have a fine chance to attend Old Home Week without expense. The plebiscite which is to settle the fate of the district will be held a week from Sunday, and already five natives have arrived from Baltimore and 120 from Argentina and Chile. All over Germany special trains are bringing back natives of the district who will want to look over old landmarks, shake hands with old friends, cast a good German vote, and perhaps throw a brick through a Polish window if they find the police looking the other way. The Germans hope to mobilize 300,000 "out-voters," and the most optimistic Poles do not expect that the German non-resident vote will fall below half that figure.

It seems extraordinary that a region with a population of only about 2,000,000 should have produced 300,000 natives of voting age now living elsewhere. A good many of these are children of German officials who were only temporarily stationed in the district, or German technicians temporarily employed in the mines; but there is good reason to suppose that the powerful semi-official organizations which colonize German floaters for the plebiscites will bring in as many hard persons used to voting early and often as they can find. If the vote goes against the Poles, the out-voters will probably be the decisive factor, and the Poles in the region have naturally done their best to discourage their employment. Thousands of allied troops are quartered in the district, but they cannot cover every village; they can probably maintain order in the cities, but according to all indications plebiscite day will be marked by a large number of first-class, enthusiastic fights, in which the local police, half German and half Polish, will as likely as not add to the disorder instead of quelling it.

Upper Silesia seems to be the apple of the German eye. By the original draft of the Treaty it was to be ceded outright to Poland, but the plebiscite was one of the concessions made to BROCKDORFF-RANTZAU's catalogue of objections. It has been an expensive concession; maintenance of the allied troops has cost a good deal of money; there have been strikes, fights, outbreaks of violence on both sides, and at least once the German Reichswehr went through the country almost as murderously as the Germans went through Dinant or Louvain. What could be done by violence, fraud and intimidation to save Upper Silesia the Germans have done, but apparently they feel rather insecure about it. Their counter-proposals on the reparation question were conditioned on Upper Silesia remaining German. The offers of money on the indemnity shifted as the Germans realized the determination of the Allies, but always they held to the demand for Upper Silesia.

It seems probable that they would not have insisted so strongly on this point if they had had any great confidence that the plebiscite would go in their favor. A few months ago it would probably have done so, as did the vote in the Allenstein district in East Prussia; last Summer Poland seemed about to fall before the Bolsheviki, and border districts felt safer in Germany. But the Red armies were stopped before Warsaw, and Poland seems gaining in strength. The issue in Upper Silesia can be decided more or less on its merits. Undoubtedly the great majority of the population is Polish in blood, though until recent years Polish national consciousness was limited to those narrow intellectual circles in which nationalist movements always begin, and where they sometimes end. The Polish patriots have been converting their quiescent countrymen under the leadership of KORFANTY, formerly Polish leader in the German Reichstag, and an organizer of great energy and ability. Economic and religious divisions complicate the case, but in general the line is drawn at the same point. It is a question of German Protestants who are capitalists, mine owners, professional men and city merchants against Catholic Poles who are mostly workmen in the mines or on the farms.

Despite Mr. KEYNES's pathetic plea for German interests in Upper Silesia, there seems no reason to suppose that Germany could not get along without the district. Germany will have enough coal for her own industries and some surplus for export without anything from the Silesian mines; but the Treaty stipulates that if the region goes to Poland Germany shall be entitled for the next fifteen years to buy Upper Silesian coal at the same price that is charged to Polish purchasers, and the Polish Government can lay no export tariffs or restrictions to hinder its removal from the country. Poland, on the other hand, needs Upper Silesian coal very badly. Her industries, growing rapidly before the war, may cause some concern to German competitors in the years to come. But they cannot start again without coal, and Upper Silesia must give them much of their fuel supply. If the province should remain German, the Germans might be able to cripple a dangerous industrial competitor. They want to keep Upper Silesia because they want to ruin Poland.

HUMAN MR. HARDING.

It is already apparent that President HARDING will often do the unexpected, but what will always be expected of him will be some manifestation of homespun humanity. Marion ways have been installed at the White House, Marion points of view are to be regarded, to have their weight. Mr. HARDING has changed his residence, but the Presidency cannot change him, that is to say his disposition and his social qualities. He likes his friends, wants to be associated with them, and will stand by them. Dr. SAWYER woke up one morning to find himself a Brigadier General. The President fancied him as a physician, and he is to be within call to look after the Presidential health, but as the family doctor, who can walk in by the front door at any hour of the day or night. There is nothing military about General SAWYER's port and mien. He simply looks human, like his old friend. There will be no ceremony between them. It will be hard for the Doctor-General to address his patient as Mr. President; probably he never will, except when strangers are about. D. R. CRISSINGER is summoned from a small Marion bank to be Controller of the Currency. He doesn't look at all like JOHN SKELTON WILLIAMS, and is no great financial authority, but he suits Mr. HARDING. The President is willing to be responsible for him. Controller CRISSINGER may wear well, as one of GRANT's Judges did, a country lawyer.

The correspondents haven't a pack of sunny, mischief-loving children to write about, but there is Laddie Boy, the precocious Airedale, bodyguard of the President, to weave stories around. Laddie Boy's pranks will all be chronicled. He is much pictured. Dog lovers have already put the new President on a pedestal. He must be a sturdy friend of the S. P. C. A. Dog-loving Presidents have not been conspicuous. Everything, except on State occasions, is to be free and easy at the White House; no pomp, no pipe-clay, no fustian. Mr. HARDING's latest impulse is to have his Cabinet in to luncheon, right after the regular meeting. "Come in and have a bite," he probably said, just as he would do at Marion when he had visitors. He comes out on the White House porch at midnight, casually and smilingly, to give the waiting correspondents a bit of news. He likes to see people in the White House grounds. He will probably never worry about the state of the shrubbery. If the Presidential dog worries a rug or bites an officeseeker, Mr. HARDING will probably shake his finger at the offender and call him genially a "bad dog!" Mr. HARDING is going to be the despair of precisians, formalists, sticklers for the conventions, and Mrs. Grundy may frown sourly upon him, but he cannot help being kindly, simple, neighborly and genuine.

THE FOG OF PETROGRAD.

For the last few days the great fortress of Krasnoya Gorka, on the shores of the Gulf of Finland, has been taking a prominent part in the battles between the revolutionists and the Bolsheviki. Unfortunately, for some days a fog hung over the whole neighborhood, and it could not be ascertained on which side the garrison was fighting. Then the fog lifted, but observers were still unable to determine what was going on at Krasnoya Gorka. The shooting was so bad that nobody knew whether the gunners were aiming at Kronstadt or Petrograd.

From the rebels' triumphant claim that they had silenced some of the fort's heavy guns, it appears that the garrison is still on the side of the Bolsheviki; but the incident is symbolic of this whole revolt. There is a great deal of fog and smoke, and it is hard to find out who is fighting whom. LENIN alternately blames the Finns and the French, hoping that the old appeal to Russian national sentiment against the foreigner will come to his help once more. No evidence is yet at hand to implicate either of these foreign Governments, though apparently some Finnish volunteers have been unable to sit still and watch the battle from their front porches and have gone over to join the revolutionists. Sympathizers with the Bolsheviki here are sure it is all the doing of the wicked French or the Czarist reactionaries, and Foreign Minister TCHITCHERIN contributes his bit by blaming the British Government for sending out false news, and threatening to tell the Turks on them if they keep it up.

However, it is possible to accept as accurate some few items, usually two or three days after the event. Apparently the rebels include only the garrison of Kronstadt and the crew of the battleship Petropavlovsk. There has been disorder, perhaps serious fighting, in and around Petrograd; but however serious it may or may not have been, it has left the Bolsheviki still in control. On the other hand, attacks on Kronstadt have failed; and it is not very difficult to surmise that the casualty list has nowhere been very heavy.

The strikes in Moscow seem to have been appeased and the riots, if there were any, suppressed. The Bolsheviki furiously deny the stories of peasant risings in Southern and Eastern Russia, but the risings seem to have occurred none the less. Politically, however, the fog is even heavier than the blanket of mist that hangs over military events. The Bolsheviki have tried to represent Socialist Revolutionaries as the leaders of the Kronstadt revolt. But Kronstadt has a wireless station, and so has the mutinous battleship, and both are worked overtime. It is to be gathered from their output that the sailors rebelled first because they did not have enough to eat; that they want the Soviet Government to become a Soviet Government in fact as well as in name, and not as a mask for a Bolshevist oligarchy. Labor unions and syndicalists, together with men who want to eat, seem to be the backbone of the revolt in Petrograd. Socialist Revolutionary leaders place more emphasis on the revolts in the country, but few of the prominent leaders of the party are within reach of Russia.

What does this amount to? In so far as anything can be definitely predicated of Russian happenings, it seems that the Petrograd rebellion and the rural risings are disconnected, promoted by men with quite different objects; that the peasant revolts are probably supported if not fomented by Socialist Revolutionaries, while the Petrograd affair has more of a Menshevist color. There is not much promise in this of success against the Bolshevist military despotism, or of a common program if that despotism should fall. But there is clear evidence that large parts of the Russian people are so dissatisfied with the Bolshevist Government that they are willing to take arms against it; dissatisfied in different parts of the country and for different reasons. LENIN and TROTZKY may and probably will survive this rising; but they will have constantly greater difficulty in their efforts to sit on the lid.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

This Will Remove All Doubt.

Truly valuable information to help it in solving this city's transit problem will be supplied to the Legislature through the carrying out of a plan by which it is to be informed of the opinions of public school children on that subject!

This noble end is to be attained by circulating through the schools for signature a printed petition which states that "we, the undersigned, students of the seventh and eighth year of grammar schools and including all high school students of New York, respectfully request that the Legislature use all proper means in their power to oppose the passage and vote against the increase fare bill."

Exactly who originated this precious scheme is left doubtful. There is mention on the document of a "Public Welfare League" and of a "Student Aid Society," which "thru" Mayor HYLAN are making "a strenuous effort to prevent the passage of the fare grab bill," and responsibility for the petition seemingly is taken by a Mrs. RAE DYMOND as "Committee Sec'y"—of what does not appear. Then, under her name, is the assertion that the petition is "endorsed and approved" by Mayor HYLAN, President LAGUARDIA of the Board of Aldermen, Senator HIRAM JOHNSON, GUSTAVE STRAUBENMULLER, Associate City Superintendent of Schools, and ARTHUR S. SOMERS of the Board of Education.

Both Dr. STRAUBENMULLER and Mr. SOMERS have denied that this use of their names was authorized by them, and it would be charitable, if possible, to hope that a like repudiation will come from the owners of the other names. And Superintendent ETTINGER condemns and forbids the circulation of these petitions.

Excellent Rules Abrogated.

Not many years ago such things as the circulation of petitions and the raising of money in our public schools were sternly forbidden, as they ought to be. During the war, however, in the schools as elsewhere, old rules were relaxed or suspended, and considerable sums were collected from the children. Usually the object was what is called worthy, but considerable pressure was frequently brought to bear in order that "a good showing for the school" might be made, and, the bars once down, they have remained down.

This is something both to be regretted and to be reprehended. Even worse than the collection of money in the schools, which certainly is bad, whatever the purpose, is this attempt to influence the Legislature by a demonstration that the students are against an increase of fares on public conveyances. Of course, they are against it. So is everybody else in the sense that nobody likes higher prices for anything. But a good many New Yorkers have the sense to see that they will have to pay whatever their transit facilities cost, either in fares or in taxes, and that to pay it in fares is, on the whole, better than to pay it in taxes.

There are, of course, some other New Yorkers who either cannot see that or do not want to do so, and they, if adults, have a right of sorts to prefer paying by taxes and to tell the Legislature that fact. The case of the school children is quite different, and no possible benefit of any kind can follow the ascertaining of their opinion on a subject so large, so complicated and so far beyond their knowledge. They are not voters or taxpayers, and the politicians should let them alone.

The People's Will Is Defied.

In signing the Daylight Saving Repeal bill Governor MILLER has disappointed a lingering hope, but it cannot be said that he has caused any surprise. For once it is the expected that has happened.

The Governor's one comprehensible excuse for his action in this matter is that he felt bound by a promise made before election to the voters in the part of the State where the strength of his party chiefly lies, and by a paragraph in the Republican platform. On general principles, of course, promises should be kept, and yet accompanying many or most promises there is a tacit understanding on both sides—something quite different from a "mental reservation"—that circumstances may arise to render impossible or undesirable the carrying out of an agreement. In this matter that is what occurred.

The discussion of daylight saving that has gone on during the last few months has revealed that the Governor made his promise hastily and without proper knowledge of the facts. He has learned that the demand for a continuance of daylight saving was by no means confined to New York City—that at least 90 per cent. of all the State's inhabitants wanted it, that the antagonism was confined to the small remainder, and that even there it was based, not on real injuries suffered from advancing the clocks in Summer, but upon obstinacy, prejudice and jealousy.

All this the Governor knew and knows. But complaint is now as useless as argument. The thing is done, the law repealed. Any city that wants the added hour of daylight leisure still can have it, and many of them besides New York will adjust their clocks to suit their own people. Without a State-wide unity of time there will be a lot of petty inconvenience for both the savers and the non-savers, but that will have to be borne as a price, high, indeed, but not too high, to pay for a very large amount of health and pleasure.

Incidentally, a good many of us will fix firmly in mind the names of the Senators and Assemblymen who ignored and defied the will of the majority in a matter concerning which that will should be decisive. The farmers are not the only folk with a "vote."

CONTROL OF EDUCATION.

Smith-Towner Bill as an Unwarranted Extension of Federal Power.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

All the mature years of my life, until today, I was fatuously of the opinion that the end of education was primarily not the imparting of knowledge, but the training of our reasoning faculties; and that this was especially true of university education, even in its department of rural education. But after reading Miss Dunn's letter in today's TIMES I am beginning to doubt my premises. Can it be that Columbia is one of those institutions of education that should receive Smith-Towner aid "to provide a real education instead of merely going through the form"? Your correspondent quotes Mr. Flaherty as protesting against this bill because "it is ultimately the assertion that the State has rights prior to the parent over the child." Miss Dunn postulates—if indeed it be even that instead of pedagogical dogmatism—that the fundamental right is neither that of the State nor that of the parent, but that of the child. If this means that the propaedeutic and didactic features of education are to be elective from kindergarten to post-graduate course there is no more to be said; the letter is an affair for the Hidalgo of Cervantes. But if she means that the fundamental concern of education is ultimately the highest welfare of the child she is arguing as a kitten plays with its tail, in a circle.

In the last analysis we must get back to the directive authority in educational matters; who shall guide the course of the child's education? Shall it be the parent or the individual State or the Federal State; for in this country it must be one of the three, it can be none other. Let us brutally cast overboard the parent of the child as of no moment; having begotten the child, his love and interest and authority are evanescent. But when we discard him there is no escape from the dilemma—either the individual State or the Federal State is in supreme control. Ever since, in Great Jones Street, I humbly sat at the feet of Dwight and Dillon and Chase of Columbia I have been deluding myself in the belief that the Federal State possessed such powers, and such powers only, as out of their separate treasuries the individual States bestowed on her. Where, then, is there in the Federal Compact so laboriously framed and so vigorously defended by the Fathers of the Nation any grant of power over education? I find none. What I do find, not in the Constitution but in the Congress, is a growing usurpation of State functions, the development of a Government not from Washington but by Washington. We already have a national Ganymede—though he bears a quassia cup—and the Smith-Towner bill threatens us with a national College of Laputa; there is even talk of a national Sabbatarian Censor. Is it not about time to call a halt on this overlordship business and to say to the Congress, "Thus far but not a step further?"

A Memorial Week for Soldiers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have received several letters endorsing the idea of the memorial week for the soldiers. Miss Janet Richards read my poem on the subject, printed in THE TIMES, before a New York audience last week, and the local papers here are taking up the idea, as well our local clubs, and two clergymen are going to preach about it.

Of course, the passage of the bill for the hospital care of disabled soldiers by Congress on Thursday removes a great cause of grievance, but Government action is so slow that it is very possible that red tape, for a long time, may deprive the men of the actual relief. The memorial week would arouse the public, and would tend to minimize the delay; besides, it would make the men feel more cheerful to receive the assurance that the public had not forgotten them.

THE FIRST ROBIN.

Whence has he come? Along what weary route?
Cleaving the air with tireless wings and fleet,
Speeding through miles of space, his only chart
The north wind's breezy guidance, chill and sweet—
Planning his course with subtle reckoning,
To bring a waiting world the song of Spring!

With homing instincts, blind, unquestioning,
He seeks again the haunts of last year's nest—
The cold, stark earth, the bare-boughed, naked trees,
Awake no terror in his dauntless breast.
He only knows a few more weeks will bring
Green grass, and leaves, and apple blossoming.

With wary glance and speculative eye,
He searches carefully a place to build,
And now and then he trills a note of that
Wild ecstasy with which his heart is filled.
And, robin, listening to your melody,
It seems as if joy smiled again at me!

NO DEBT CANCELLATION.

Domestic and Foreign Trade Best Protected by Payment.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The letter of William Greenough in support of a policy of debt cancellation contains a misleading line of argument. He asks, "What would be the material result on our Government and our people of the cancellation of these debts? Certainly it would not increase our taxation, because we have been paying taxes to provide the interest on the United States bonds issued to raise the money loaned by the Government to our foreign debtors for some time."

If the American people were able to create a surplus over their current needs which our Government was able to use as a loan to our allies, is that any reason for assuming that this surplus should now be treated as a gift? The Government must repay the billions of bonds sold to our own citizens which furnished the ten billions now owed by Europe on Government account. These bonds can be repaid only through future taxation if our foreign loans are canceled. The repayment by Europe of the ten billions loaned would reduce materially the amount required to be raised by taxation.

Mr. Greenough's statement that none of this money left America but was used here in the purchase of material has no bearing on the case. Dollars are useful for the purchase of material and services only. What difference does it make whether we furnished the gold with which to purchase goods or furnished the goods? The debt of Europe is no less real because of the fact that they used this money to purchase in our own market the supplies they needed.

By the proper use of the tremendous credit now stored up in these foreign obligations, America has the chance to dominate world markets. Why should we deliberately renounce the advantage which this position gives us?

Our present difficulties in foreign trade are due entirely to the fact that these accounts receivable are not liquid. They are now "frozen." Our domestic situation can also be traced to the same cause, as the ten billions of Government credit and the four or five billions of commercial credit now extended to Europe without hope of immediate return withdraws an equal volume of credit formerly available for internal use. When we are repaid in gold, goods, services, securities or negotiable promises to pay, this credit will again become liquid.

As Europe redeems these promises to pay by accepting such securities in payment for goods sold to us in the future, they will gradually get back to the basis of a free gold market. As they approach this free gold market the present value of their currency in terms of dollars will improve, increasing their purchasing power. Eventually exchange will return to the value based upon the relative weight and fineness of gold contained in the relative units of currency.

While this process of liquidation is going on much of European production will be used in reducing debt, in replacing past expenditure of capital. The effect of current consumption on the balance available will be to raise prices in European markets.

The effect of this liquidation in America will be just the reverse, as we will be converting a frozen foreign credit into a tangible commercial commodity. We are in the position of having paid in advance for the goods we expect to import in the future.

The resulting improvement in exchange and the higher market level of prices due to this liquidation of war debt by Europe will stimulate our exports to those countries.

UNFORTUNATE ALLIANCE.

Irish Cannot Hope to Gain by Siding With Germans.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Patriotic Irishmen who honor the flag and who, I know, love this country and what it represents—and there are thousands of such in our midst—should arise in solemn protest against the irreconcilables who have shown by their conduct and acts that they are disloyal and arrayed against the best Government under which man ever lived.

It is not so many decades ago that the racial hatred between Germans and Irishmen was almost as bitter as between the Irish and English. The disloyal Germans, knowing of the hatred existing on the part of Irishmen toward England, seek an alliance with them for no other purpose than to further their own ends. If Irishmen cannot see through this stratagem and duplicity, they are more ignorant than I was aware of. Americans cannot and will not extend sympathy to any people who ally themselves with the enemies of their country.

The excuse that by helping Germany they are injuring England will never be accepted by the American people. England and France were our allies in the late war, and while of course France stands first in our affections, England cannot be ignored in being our friend and ally.

Quantity Survey Systems.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In today's TIMES, in an article dealing with the reorganization of the Building Trades Employers' Association, the new Chairman of the Board of Governors is quoted as classing "Quantity Survey Systems" with the Hettrick Code of Practice, and with cost systems and price regulating schemes.

The use of quantity survey has received the official recognition and recommendation of the three largest national associations connected with building work, namely the American Institute of Architects, Engineering Council and the Associated General Contractors of America. Furthermore, various quantity survey systems have been in use in Great Britain and on the Continent for more than a hundred years.

The principle of quantity survey is opposed to and extremely remote from any tendency or possibility of adoption as a means of fixing prices. The fundamental principle of quantity survey is the publishing of the true requirements of building construction in order that the architect, the owner and every bidder from the general contractor down to the smallest sub shall have exact data as a basis for intelligent trading.

Quantity survey is adopted and recommended in the spirit of true equity and with a desire to establish fair contract prices—prices which shall be fair to owner and contractor alike—and to accomplish this by removing every uncertainty and ambiguity concerning the amount of work which must be delivered under contract.

Fathers of Presidents.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I observe that Dr. George Tryon Harding of Marion, Ohio, father of the President, is quoted in McClure's Magazine as saying: "No man except me ever lived to see his son elected to the Presidency." This is inaccurate. John Adams lived to see his son, John Quincy Adams, President. Jesse Grant lived to see his son, Ulysses S. Grant, President. I do not at the moment recall other instances, although there may have been such.

"WRONGS OF IRELAND."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A country merchant recently stated that for over thirty years England had ruled Ireland more cruelly and brutally than the Germans did Belgium, and gave an Irishman as his authority. When asked, he was unable to give particulars, and was greatly surprised to learn that Irishmen enjoyed the same freedom as, and all the rights of, Englishmen, Scotchmen or Welshmen.

Our country has been flooded with misrepresentations regarding England's government of Ireland. There is in Ireland no question of taxation without representation, as there was more than one hundred years ago in our own case, for Irishmen elect their own representatives to Parliament, as do the Scotch and Welsh, and these representatives help to make laws for England as well as Ireland. In some important particulars the English Government has favored the Irish above the English. In both countries the owners of great estates have refused to sell an acre of land and it was impossible for one to buy and own his home. The Duke of Manchester, for instance, owned over thirty thousand acres in and around the great city of that name, and would sell none of it. There were similar estates in Ireland and in great sections of that country the Irish found it impossible to buy land. By an act of Parliament, the English Government not only compelled the Irish landlords, who for the most part were Englishmen living in England, to divide up and sell these great tracts of land, but also provided the money by which the poorest Irishman was able to buy a home or a farm on easy terms. No such law, however, was passed for England. The English Government subsequently furnished the Irish with means to build better houses than those they lived in; it further provided great sums for their education, established free schools, agricultural schools and inspectors.

Because England's treatment of Ireland has been generous and her laws just, the North of Ireland, comprising about one-third of the population of the whole country, and a community whose intelligence, industry and prosperity compare favorably with the most enlightened portions of the globe, has always been loyal to England. If England granted Ireland absolute independence there would be civil war, for the North has declared that it would fight before it would exchange the just government of England for that of the South of Ireland.

No higher tribute was ever paid any nation than was paid England in the late war when every colony, every nation which she has overcome and brought under her dominion, enthusiastically contributed to her strength in men and money. India sent her troops and gave her millions as well as Canada; Egypt as well as Australia; even the Boers, so lately conquered in arms, were loyal and devoted allies whom a flood of German gold could not corrupt. The North of Ireland flew to arms when England declared war, and was as active in support of the empire as Scotland or Wales. And we who are unhyphenated Americans should remember how England stood by Dewey in Manila Bay and how she has declared herself recently between Japan and our own nation. We should also be thankful that we inherit along with Magna Charta and the Bill of Rights that strong sense of justice and love of liberty which has uniformly characterized and is the glory of England.

TARIFF PARADOX.

Mr. Harding Would Keep Out Foreign Goods, but Sell Everywhere.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The following line, taken from an old hymn which I have not heard sung for many years, "Leaves, leaves, nothing but leaves," came vividly to my mind as I read the inaugural address of President Harding. The sentiments expressed therein, couched as they were in choice language and frequent beautiful phrases, clearly show the President to be a man of high ideals who ardently desires "Peace on earth, good will toward men." But analyze the speech from beginning to end and we certainly will be inclined to parody the old hymn referred to and say, "Words, words, nothing but words." You look in vain for any attempted solution of any of the terribly momentous questions that face the world today; in it you seek in vain for a "pa[illegible]" that may lead the people out of the abyss of despair into which so many millions have been plunged.

It refers in high terms to "the brotherhood of man," but suggests no means by which this country can do its share toward bringing about the fulfillment of that noble ideal. Instead, it suggests the advisability of maintaining, and probably increasing, the present high customs duties, in order to prevent our country being swamped by goods that can be manufactured more cheaply elsewhere. But, strange anomaly, it further asserts that the United States can only retain its present proud position by selling and shipping large quantities of its goods, manufactured here, mind you, at a higher figure than they would cost in foreign countries, to the inhabitants of these very countries. It practically says in plain words, "We will not admit foreign products here, as they can be made elsewhere at a lower cost than we can make them and therefore the foreigner could undersell our manufacturers. Instead of that we will manufacture what we require ourselves and sell to the benighted foreigner goods which he can produce more cheaply himself. Thus will we build up a great foreign trade and hasten that glorious time when "Old Glory" will ply on all the seven seas and be seen in every ocean port throughout the world. It seems to me this paradox will be a difficult one to solve.

Wilson's Eight Years.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Now that "the strife of divergent opinion is over," when the bitterness and spleen of eight years has gone into the record, I cannot let the opportunity pass without commending the course of your paper.

During the entire eight years of the Administration of Woodrow Wilson I have read your editorials and comments on the progress of events to the closing note of yesterday, and I have noted the spirit of unswerving loyalty, helpful and constructive criticism and ultimate faith.

How different has been the course of some other so-called Democratic journals, and how deep must be the feeling of every true and patriotic reader of your paper when he reflects that during the whole course of the trying period just closed your columns have been used to build rather than destroy, to hold together and see the best in all, looking forward to the final accomplishment of the aims and ideals as expressed in the public utterances of Mr. Wilson.

Permit me to extend my best wishes for the continued progress of THE NEW YORK TIMES, and to express the hope that it will continue its great work.

GREENWICH VILLAGE TOPS ARTISTS' BALL

Twenty-three Strong, It Arrives at Independents' Dance in Prismatic Hues.

YELLOW FAVORITE COLOR

Costumes Included New York Times Building, Love Pirate and Southern Mammy.

All the world and Greenwich Village were at the Independent Artists' ball in the Waldorf last evening. The world, with pretty nearly every nation on earth represented, made a first appearance in the early hours of the ball, but couldn't make a showing, naturally, when Greenwich Village arrived. The Village came by itself, every one of it, male and female, dressed exactly alike, in what it called prismatic colors, with yellow predominating, and when it marched around the big ballroom, with Fontaine Fox's big Katrinka, with a whistle, in the lead, the rest of the ball looked pale.

There were just twenty-three of Greenwich Village; it looked a hundred and did itself proud.

The Independents' ball was fashionably late. The grand march did not come off until midnight, dancing had only just begun at 11, and when Mephistopheles, in flaming red, came around to be sure that things were going his way at an early hour, 10 o'clock, he was the first on the floor. Mephistopheles was Alfred G. Frauenfeller, and it being an Independent ball, he did not have to go in search of victims, for Marguerite, Miss Laura Newell, came to look him up.

The men had done more exciting things in costumes than the women, and the New York Times Building found itself unexpectedly dancing with the Independents on the costume of J. Torres-Garcia, the Spanish artist, who had New York City outlined on his costume, the Woolworth Building on one leg down town, the Metropolitan Tower on the other, he sat on the Bowery, the Times Building was on his chest just above Forty-second Street, and the Bronx ran uptown on the back of his neck.

Some Futurist Costumes.

John Xeron, Greek futurist artist, was in a futuristically painted costume with a tall futuristic hat; Joseph Stella, who painted Brooklyn Bridge—in a picture—not the bridge itself—in a Spanish mantle was an Emperor "with a kingdom" he insisted, and Raphael Sala was a beautiful white satin Pierrot with an enormous black ruff and a heart worn on the outside—"To Let."

Mrs. John Sloan, wife of the President of the Independents, was there in her Spanish costume. Mr. Sloan, who, it was said, had changed his costume from a shower to a sponge bath, was not seen, and he may have been indulging in it at home or arrived later.

The brightest spot on the floor was a little Bobbie De Guary, who said she was "an artist or would like to be one." She appeared as a Love Pirate. Bobbie's nice little costume would seem to prove that she might make good in her piratical profession. It was all red, with a little black band at the waist, decolleté quite so, at the top, and a little more from above the knees to the funny little red loose boots or what ever they were, she wore, and nice little hearts were pasted all over, for modesty, perhaps; anyway they looked all right, and so did Bobbie. With her was a Yaco Indian, Overton Colbert, the Indian artist.

There were any number of Pierrots, lady and gentleman Pierrots. A lady Pierrot in a little, short, pointed skirt, long white hose and a black tricorn hat, was Miss Lucille McMenomy, with Clarence Cole, who was a "little of everything," with a beautiful yellow blouse. A neat little black Southern mammy, who looked the part, in a neat black gown, with white apron, collar and cap, was Mr. Q. Satow of Japan, who is a noted frame maker in his own country, and is over here and is going to France to study airplanes. Little Miss Mymer, a sweet little Japanese girl, in Japanese dress, was in his party, and also a ballet girl in fluffy skirt, white skirt and white silk stockings, decolleté gown, also Japanese.

Egypt and Aphrodite.

Egypt was at the ball in gauzy white veils, silver slippers, jeweled headdress, silver-embroidered trousers, opals, Mrs. Ada Tyler.

An Aphrodite dancer from Alexandria, really M. Chatillon from Paris, a man's costume—it looked like a woman's—cerise long, loose trousers, the upper part all décolletage but for a soft lavender band and silver belt, silver turban and silver slippers, many jewels, an enveloping veil and little curls painted on either side of the ears. A. J. Ozabal was in a real Czechoslovakian costume, embroidery and flowers. The Secretary of the show, A. S. Baylinson, was a Pierrot, in gorgeously adorned black union suit, and there was a Japanese Pierrot. Little Mae Levy and Estelle Baylinson, who have been selling catalogues for the artists, were Turkish and Spanish.

Among the Greenwich Villagers who said they hailed from Winold Reiss's studio were Karoly Fulop, Vilner Hervey (the Powerful Katrinka at the Strand), Jessie Finger, Dora Dehll, Alexandrina Harris, Lea Podgorska, Nicholas Murray, Muriel Pollock, Anna Fronka, Toyohara Yamanouchi, William B. Hamaker and Rita Riches, who didn't have time to get into her Greenwich Village prismatics and was in a pretty evening gown instead.

They turned on colored lights making prismatic effect for all the dancers, and it was a very pretty ball.

HAMMERSTEIN TOMB IMPERILED BY DEBT

Monument Makers to Take It From Grave Monday Unless $1,478 Due Is Paid.

WIDOW TRIES TO SAVE IT

Will Auction Off Impresario's Portrait and Piano Unless Friends Come to Relief.

Oscar Hammerstein's grave in Woodlawn Cemetery is to be stripped of its monument unless the impresario's widow is able to pay the balance due on it by next Monday.

In announcing at the Manhattan Opera House last night that $1,478 was due on the stone and that she was unable to meet the payment, Mrs. Hammerstein asserted that she would sacrifice her last remaining treasures before she would permit the grave to be despoiled. Unless some friend or admirer of her husband came to the rescue, she said, she would put the life-size oil portrait of her husband which hangs in the Manhattan lobby on the auction block before she would permit the grave to be disturbed. If the portrait, from the brush of Baron Arpad Pasthory did not realize the amount needed, Mrs. Hammerstein said, she would auction her husband's piano.

Mrs. Hammerstein explained that she derived no revenue from the Manhattan because of a lien protecting a claim of her husband's two daughters by his first wife, and that another lien in favor of her stepchildren had sealed her own house to her. She even had been deprived of the keys to it, she said, and could not take anything from the place to sell to satisfy the debt due to the E. H. Stone Company of 170 Broadway, monument makers.

The monument, a big granite cube bearing a lyre on one side and a bronze medallion of Mr. Hammerstein on another, was dedicated privately last May. It cost $2,728, of which $1,250 has been paid. The widow said the makers held a lien on the stone, securing the payment of the balance, and that they had advised her yesterday they would seize it on Monday unless the debt were satisfied by then. She believed she could not lawfully prevent them.

Discussing the new phase of her financial difficulties which have made the sale of the Manhattan imminent despite her efforts to preserve it as the sole memento of her husband's operatic labors in New York, Mrs. Hammerstein disclosed that she had endeavored unsuccessfully to have the money now in the treasury of the Oscar Hammerstein Memorial Fund diverted to the payment of the balance due on the monument. The Fund held a memorial benefit in the Hippodrome last May as a step toward raising $100,000 which was to have been used to found two operatic fellowships in Mr. Hammerstein's memory in the American Academy at Rome.

She wrote to Otto H. Kahn, she said, asking him to sanction the diversion of the fund, which amounted to $4,800. To Mr. Kahn she explained that she wanted to pay the E. H. Stone Company, and also wanted to be reimbursed for the sum of $3,000 she had spent on the lobby portrait. The grave monument and the portrait then could become the public's memorial to her husband.

Mr. Kahn in his reply, Mrs. Hammerstein said, declined to accept responsibility for the diversion of a fund raised from the public for a specific purpose. He referred Mrs. Hammerstein to William J. Guard of the Metropolitan staff, another member of the Memorial Committee, and Mr. Guard wrote, Mrs. Hammerstein declared, that he did not see how the fund money could be diverted from the purpose for which it was raised. Thereupon she ceased her efforts in that direction.

No definite plans for the proposed auction were announced last night, because of Mrs. Hammerstein's hope that friends of her husband might meet the situation and save her from parting with the portrait and the piano.

Mrs. Stella Pope and Mrs. Rose H. Tostivin, Mr. Hammerstein's daughters, brought an accounting action against their stepmother, alleging that certain transfers of stock by their father to his second wife were for the purpose of defeating efforts to collect sums due them. Judgments obtained by them have resulted in tying up Mrs. Hammerstein's assets, and her troubles have been increased by her expenditures in furtherance of the effort to keep the Manhattan going as an opera house.

'HEIRESS' WRITER WEDS VILLAGE POET

Greenwich Circles Stirred by the Romance of Robert Menzies McAlmon.

GIRL PROPOSED, IS REPORT

Bride Exploited as Daughter of Sir John Ellerman, to Whom Burke's Peerage Credits Only a Son.

Greenwich Village had a fresh topic for conversation yesterday: the marriage of one of its best-known characters, Robert Menzies McAlmon, "editor and poet," of 351 West Fifteenth Street, and an English girl writer who indited a book of self-revelation under the nom de plume of Winifred Bryner.

But the Village talk veered sharply away from the official records of the Marriage License Bureau, which told briefly that McAlmon and Miss Winifred Ellerman—that is said to be her real name—on Feb. 14 obtained a license to wed.

Greenwich Village gossip was that the bride was wealthy in her own name and that she was related to Sir John Reeves Ellerman, the British ship owner, and some of this gossip even went so far as to say that the author of the revelations was the daughter of Sir John. According to Who's Who, 1920, and Burke's Peerage, 1921, however, Sir John was married only in 1908 and has only one child, a boy 11 years old. Face to face with romance, Greenwich Village was willing to admit that this took a little of the tang out of the romance, but it was still romance nevertheless, because—

The woman writer is reported to have proposed to the "poet and editor" because she became enthralled and entranced with a poem that appeared in one of the Greenwich Village publications. According to the villagers, she then met the poet at a party given by one of her friends. He whispered a line or two of the poetry and there was nothing to do but call a minister.

Captive and captor having sailed away for England two weeks ago on a White Star liner, the imagination of the village could take full wing on this new romance without regard for any of the facts, and it is reported that many more new poems and satires are under way on the subject. And the villagers are only too glad to point out that all their literary efforts lack is appreciation—"just see how this romance turned out on a single poem."

McAlmon was a halfback on the University of Minnesota football team several years ago, and then became an expert on aviation, serving in the air service during the war. Then he saw one of the Greenwich Village publications—so the villagers say—and decided to come to this city to become a Bohemian. Poetry was a last resort, and the village publications have had many of his flings. His parents live in the West.

The girl writer came to this country from England last August and has been living in the village. She wrote her book there, and had decided to remain in this country. Then she met McAlmon and—still according to the villagers—she proposed and won. All of which has enough fact to suit the village imagination.

DR. S. W. BURNHAM, ASTRONOMER, DEAD

Discoverer of 1,300 Double Stars Dies From Injuries Suffered in a Fall at 82 Years.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Dr. Sherburne W. Burnham of the University of Chicago, died today at his home here as the result of injuries suffered in a fall three weeks ago. A hip fracture, under treatment since that time, brought complications which caused death. Dr. Burnham, who was 82 years old, discovered 1,300 double stars.

Dr. Burnham was one of the most remarkable characters in Chicago's history. He studied stenography soon after he was graduated from Thetford Academy, Thetford, Vt., his birthplace, and became so efficient that he was taken to New Orleans with General Butler of the Union Army as a court stenographer. He was a court reporter in Chicago for many years.

A book—"Burritt's Geography of the Heavens"—picked up at an auction in New Orleans, and a keen vision made him an astronomer. While he was attached to the Federal courts he set up a six-inch telescope in a barn at the rear of his house, in East Thirty-sixth Street, and began to obtain practical information on the subjects of which he had read.

With this crude outfit he discovered 450 double stars at that time unknown, and rose rapidly to high repute as a keen and careful observer. High honors were given him by foreign astronomical societies, including the gold medal of the Royal Astronomical Society of England and the Lalande prize of the French Academy of Sciences. Since 1893 he had been Professor of Practical Astronomy at the Yerkes Observatory.

He is survived by his widow and six sons and daughters.

BRIBERY CHARGES DENIED BY TONEY

Pitcher Says He Asked to Be Taken From Box When He Heard of Money Offer.

GIANTS HAMPERED BY RAIN

McGraw Arranges Line-Up for Game Today With San Antonio Team.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 11.—Pitcher Fred Toney, who finally reached camp early this morning, was asked about the accusations made in Heinie Zimmerman's affidavit recently against Toney, Kauff and Benton. Zimmerman had said that he carried a gambler's proffer of a bribe to the three players mentioned to throw a game in the final series between the Giants and Cubs in the 1919 pennant fight.

Toney said that he started to pitch in the second game of that series. Matty was running the team that day, as McGraw was ill. The Giants got three runs in the opening inning, and the Cubs followed with one tally, which came over, as Toney remembers it, on a hit to short left field.

"As we started in toward the bench at the close of the inning," said Toney, "Zimmerman walked over to me and said: 'I'll give you $200 if you lose this game.'"

Toney said that he replied only by an "ugly look," walked over to the bench, and said to Matty, "I'm through; you'd better put some one else in to pitch."

"Whats' the matter?" asked Matty, "Have you got a sore arm?"

"No, there's nothing the matter with me," Toney said he replied.

Toney Told Facts to McGraw.

He insisted upon being relieved, and that evening saw McGraw at the hotel and told the manager that he would have to get rid either of him or of Zimmerman. Upon learning the facts as stated by Toney, McGraw the following morning presented Zimmerman with an edict of suspension and a ticket to New York. That same day Benny Kauff told Manager McGraw that Zimmerman had also approached him with a similar proposition. Later there followed the alleged admissions of Zimmerman to Stoneham and McGraw, the account of which was made public a year or so ago.

Toney's story today was told, by his own request, in the presence of Manager McGraw, that his own recollection of the facts might be enforced by that of the latter. Memories of the two coincided decidedly.

McGraw said this morning that he had received a telegram from Judge McQuade, treasurer of the team, who is now in New York, to the effect that in response to the request of Judge Landis, Commissioner of Organized Baseball, he, McQuade, had summoned Benny Kauff back to Manhattan from Chicago, where the centre fielder went the other day by request of Judge Landis. The manager of the Giants said he thought that the idea was to hasten the trial of Kauff on pending charges relating to automobile speculation. McGraw said he has long favored getting the affair cleared up as soon as possible.

All persons resident in this city who are just ordinary commonplace sleepers and not positive geniuses at the gentle art of slumber, were awakened at about 2:30 o'clock this morning by peals of thunder of genuine Southern fervor and abandon. Accompanying the crashes came a downpour of rain of equal carnestness, and this cataract continued long after the thunder had withdrawn into the caverns of the skies.

Rain Hampers Training.

The net result of all this waste of weather, as far as the New York Giants were concerned, was a morning of idleness and an afternoon of limited and splashy activity. When Henry Fabian, the groundkeeper, reached the ball park this morning he found a lake arrogantly occupying the site of the diamond and an extensive swamp in the outfield. Now Henry is an able groundkeeper, but he is no marine architect and his ability as a worker of miracles is limited to the breakfast table. So he quickly dropped the bowl with which he had begun to bail out the diamond and abandoned the task to the sun, which took up the work at about 10 o'clock.

Manager McGraw this afternoon announced the following line-up for to-morrow's game with the Bruins: Burns, left field; Bancroft, shortstop; Frisch, second base; Young, right field; Kelly, first base; Walker, centre field; Rapp, third base; Snyder, Smith and Gaston, catchers; Barnes, Ryan and Shea, pitchers. In case a portside twirler should go in for the Bears, either King or Brown will take Walker's place in centre field.

PETE HARRISON DIES.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., March 11.—Pete Harrison, National League umpire, died here last night of tuberculosis. He was brought here several weeks ago on a cot, but his case was hopeless from the first. A brother of the former umpire left tonight for Youngstown, Ohio, with the remains.

Although born in England, Mr. Harrison had lived most of his life in this country, as his parents settled in town when he was a child.

YALE NINE OUTDOORS.

Coach Lauder Puts Baseball Squad Through Simple Drill.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 11.—The Yale baseball nine today left the batting cage and took its first outdoor practice, at an earlier time than any Eli team in fifteen years. Coach Bill Lauder selected the following line-up for the initial practice, which consisted of infield and outfield rudimentary work: Catcher, Captain Peters; pitchers, Selleck and Hartnett; first base, Kernan; second base, Murphy; third base, John Hickey; shortstop, Aldrich; left field, Crane; centre field, Dorr Hickey; right field, Sloan.

Reeve Hoover, who had been selected for right field, today received word of his mother's illness, and will be unable to accompany the nine on its Southern trip.

Two invitation races have been arranged, in addition to several other attractions. The races will be at one-half mile and one-quarter of a mile, and the list of prospective starters includes Billy Murphy, Leslie Boyd, Irving Reiner, Al Bach, Roy Becker, Jimmy Smith, William Jaffery, Kenneth Boyd and Mike Kaufman.

Kauff Told Not to Play Ball Pending Inquiry Into Charges

CHICAGO, March 11.—It was learned here tonight that Judge K. M. Landis, National Baseball Arbiter, in his recent interview with Benny Kauff, New York Giants' outfielder, told Kauff that he would prefer that he not play baseball until charges against him have been cleared up.

This information came from a man familiar with Judge Landis's baseball affairs, but who refused to allow his name to be used. Judge Landis was out of the city today.

ROBBIE'S VETERANS SUBDUE YOUNGSTERS

Turn the Tables on Rookies and Win Short Game, 5 to 2—Koney Pounds Ball.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 11.—Cloudy weather and a high wind prevailed here this afternoon, but in spite of the unpleasant conditions Manager Robbie sent his squad of champions through an eight-inning practice contest. The game resulted in a 5-to-2 victory for the champs over the near champs. This helped to heal the veteran's injured feeling over yesterday's defeat.

Leon Cadore was the only regular pitcher used on the mound. He hurled five innings for the near champs and was chased out of the game when the champs claimed he was pitching too many curves for this early date. In spite of his puzzling slants he was found for five hits and three tallies. Other members of Robbie's pitching squad to work were John Miljus, who relieved Cadore; Hank Schreiber and Ralph Phelps. The last named is a southpaw and last season was a semi-pro performer at Fulton, N. Y.

Schreiber hurled the first five rounds for the champs and both runs credited to the near champs were scored off his shoots. He allowed four hits. Phelps succeeded Schreiber and in the three innings he worked he did not allow a single safety.

The near champions bunched two hits off Schreiber in the first round and scored one run. Sheehan drew a pass, but was forced by Keeley. Mitchell singled to right and Keeley stopped at second. The runners advanced on Krueger's infield out and Schmandt's single to centre scored Keeley. The regulars tied the score in the second frame and scored one more in the fourth.

In the fifth inning singles by Johnston and Koney and a pass to Griffith resulted in the champs' third tally. The veterans put the game on ice in the eighth frame when they scored two tallies on three hits. Griffith opened the inning with a single and reached third on Koney's third hit, a two-bagger to right. Neis drove the two athletes over the plate with a single past first.

Buster Caton, the shortstop obtained from the Pirates, reported to Manager Robbie this morning and participated in the contest. He covered second for the near champs and fielded in good style. The newcomer made a single, drew a pass and was tossed out at first in his three appearances at the plate.

Caton reports that he is no longer troubled with boils and is ready to fight for a permanent place in the Robins infield. Umpire Bill Klem also bobbed up in camp and is prepared to umpire tomorrow's game with the Pelicans.

The score by innings:

Champions	0	1	0	1	1	0	0	2	—5
Near Champions	1	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	—2

GOELLER TO LEAD VIOLET.

Star Forward Is Chosen to Captain N. Y. U. Five Next Season.

At a meeting of the New York University Athletic Council yesterday afternoon Frank Goeller, star forward on the Violet basketball team this year, was elected captain for the 1921-22 season. This choice was expected, as Goeller is the only junior on the team this year.

Goeller is a product of the local high school Basketball League, having been a member of the Stuyvesant High School team three years ago. In his first year at N. Y. U. he was captain of the freshman team and last year was a member of the team which won the national A. A. U. championship.

At this same meeting Lesley Henderson of Newburg, N. Y., was elected manager of next year's five and Frank Lahey of Flushing, L. I., was elected assistant manager. Letters for basketball were awarded to Captain Baker, Delaney, Holman, Goeller and Robertson, and numerals were given to Bierce, Bates and Dorff.

Three members of this season's star five will be lost this year. Captain Baker is a student at the Medical School of the university and has competed four years. Delaney, Baker's running mate at guard for two seasons, and Holman, the diminutive forward, will both be lost by graduation.

YOUNG NIMRODS TO SHOOT.

Indoor Trap Tourney of Public Schools League Opens Today.

Practically every public high school in the city will be represented in the annual indoor rifle-shooting championship tournament of the Public Schools Athletic League, which starts this morning on the ranges at Brooklyn Athletic Field. Jamaica H. S., leader among the high schools in this particular sport activity, will defend the title it won last year. Among the formidable teams entered are those of Manual Training H. S., Flushing H. S. and Erasmus Hall H. S. The tournament consists of a series of weekly trophy shoots. This morning's opening match will be for the du Pont Trophy, donated by the officers of the du Pont Powder Company for the encouragement of rifle practice among the schoolboys.

General George W. Wingate is the leading moving spirit in the schoolboy shooting, and is particularly interested in this sport. For the last ten years rifle shooting has been conducted as a major sport among the schoolboys, under the supervision of the P. S. A. L.

TROOP B POLOISTS WIN.

Defeat Princeton Tigers in Fast Game by 5 Goals to 2.

The Troop B polo trio defeated the Princeton Tigers last night at the Squadron A Armory, Ninety-fourth Street and Madison Avenue, by a score of 5 to 2. Both the soldiers and the Princeton undergraduates did some expert riding and hit the ball in general with a good measure of accuracy. Troop B led throughout the three periods, starting with a trio of goals scored by Snow, who starred throughout the first period. Reichner of the military men added Troop B's two other points in the second period and Princeton's scoring was not done until the closing chukker. Reichner and Stabler both played excellently on defense.

The line-up:

TROOP B (5).	PRINCETON TIG. (2)
No. 1—Snow.	No. 1—Stabler.
No. 2—Ryan.	No. 2—Hall.
Back—Reichner.	Back—Stillwell.

Goals by periods: First period—Snow (3). Second period—Reichner (2). Third period—Stabler, Hall.

SCHOOLBOYS PAY TRIBUTE TO RUTH

Present King of Swat With Huge Floral Bat and Shake His Mighty Hand.

Special to The New York Times.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—Rain today cut in heavily in the training plans of Miller Huggins and the Yankees were forced to spend most of their time in idleness. All the players, except Babe Ruth, who had an important engagement elsewhere, worked out at Gasser Park this morning, but the practice was not as spirited as usual owing to the soggy field. A heavy shower which started about noon made play this afternoon impossible.

Ruth was the guest of the Faculty and students of the Shreveport High School, and they almost separated him from his right arm as they shook hands five and six at a time. Babe was presented with a huge floral bat, about five feet in length, and tonight it hangs suspended in the lobby of the Youree Hotel, where the Yankees are stopping. Every pupil in the school contributed for the floral piece, which consisted of violets, pansies, carnations and lilies of the valley.

Meet Texas Leaguers Today.

The Yankees are scheduled to meet the Shreveport Texas League Club here tomorrow in their first nine-inning game of the year, but some doubt was expressed tonight about the field being in shape after the rain which fell most of the afternoon. Huggins announced this afternoon that he would use Piercy, Ferguson and Doyle in the box; Hofman behind the bat; Ruth, Fewster, Mitchell and Ward in the infield, and Wingo, Bodie and Roth in the outfield for this game. The same teams are scheduled to play again Sunday afternoon, and an overflow crowd is predicted if the weather is fair.

Nothing has been heard from Bob Meusel or Pip Collins, who are holding out, and no effort is being made to reach any agreement with either. Colonel Huston, who is here for a few days, declared this afternoon that the club officials were not worrying about the holdouts, or whether they might see fit to report.

Roger Peckinpaugh has not come to terms up to tonight, but the feeling prevails that an agreement will be reached in the near future. Peck hoped to confer with Colonel Huston and Manager Huggins some time today, but the three had not got together.

Frank Baker Is Ill.

Frank Baker was not able to leave Trappe, Md., today for the training camp, as he had planned. A telegram to Huggins from Baker's physician carried the information that the one-time home-run king is suffering from a badly inflamed throat and will not be able to report for a few days. The telegram also stated that Baker planned to leave for Shreveport as soon as he is able to travel.

Manager George Stallings of the Rochester Club left tonight for San Antonio to look over some of the young players at the camps of the Giants and Tigers. Stallings had been dickering with Colonel Huston and Huggins for some of the young Yanks, but no deals have been completed.

George Moriarty arrived here tonight to umpire the exhibition games of the Yankees. When the Hugmen hook up with the Brooklyn team, Bill Klem will work with Moriarty, but in the games against the Shreveport Club a Texas League arbiter will serve as partner.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 11.—The Princeton and Springfield Y. M. C. A. College wrestling teams ended their dual meet here in the Princeton gymnasium tonight in a tie at 15 to 15. Captain Carpenter saved Princeton from defeat by winning the unlimited weight bout from Bullock in 5 minutes 54 seconds. In the 175-pound class, Mooney of Springfield threw Wilson of Princeton a second after the whistle had blown. If he had won this bout by a throw instead of on decision he would have added five instead of three points to Springfield's score and the latter would have won the meet.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 11.—Yale swimmers tonight defeated the mermen from the College of the City of New York, 48 to 5 points. The C. C. N. Y. water polo combination clung doggedly to the fast Yale team, but the home team finally managed to win by a 20 to 13 count, after closing the first half trailing 15 to 6. The attacks of Menckes and Dondero kept the Yale defense busy and only some phenomenal strategy by Captain Row of Yale, who scored 3 goals, assured his team of outpointing the visitors.

PENN CANCELS SWIM MEET.

Unable to Keep Date Set for Contests With Columbia.

The Intercollegiate Swimming League meet and water polo game between Columbia and Penn scheduled for last night in Philadelphia was canceled yesterday, when Penn notified the Columbia authorities that it would be unable to hold the meet because of a dance being held in the gymnasium building. Efforts to agree on a date next week were fruitless, Columbia having a meet scheduled for the middle of the week, when the league schedule closes. It was said yesterday that the Blue and White would ask the league to declare the game forfeited. The constitution provides that meets can be postponed only by mutual consent of the two teams involved.

DARTMOUTH TIES COLUMBIA.

Dual Fencing Meet Ends With Each Team a Winner in Seven Bouts.

Columbia and Dartmouth fencers divided the honors in a dual meet with the foils, épée and sabre in the Morningside Gymnasium yesterday afternoon. When the hostilities had been concluded it was discovered that each rival had won seven bouts, and the issue remained deadlocked when no fence-off was held. Columbia won the sole épée contest of the afternoon and took five of the nine foils encounters. In the sabre tests, however, Dartmouth evened the count by capturing three bouts and losing only one.

The Hanoverians were in the lead when the sabre tilts had ended, but Captain Reaves of Columbia saved the day by defeating Weld in the épée bout, the final contest of the meet. Reaves scored the one touch necessary to win after a spirited session of parrying with his Green opponent. Farley won three foils bouts for the home team, Bencoe contributing the other two with this weapon. Hertzberg's work with the foils and sabre was the feature of Dartmouth's fencing.

COSGROVE LOSES TO COHEN.

Last Year's Three-Cushion Champion Beaten in Thum's Tourney.

In the continuation of the three-cushion billiard tournament of the Amateur Billiard Players' Association at Thum's last night, Joe Cosgrove, last year's champion, was eliminated as a contender in the current affair by J. Cohen, who won by a score of 35 to 32, in fifty-seven innings.

In the early innings Cohen ran away from Cosgrove until in the twenty-first inning the register was 22 to 11 in his favor. Cosgrove recovered his stroke in the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth frames, making three in each. He also had a fine run of 5 in the fifty-fourth, and this placed him within 3 points of his ultimate conqueror. Cohen played in good luck and made the winning point on a scratch bank shot. Cohen's high runs were two of 5 each.

COCHRAN RETAINS LEAD IN CUE MATCH

Defeats Horemans in Evening Balkline Play, 300 to 187—Belgian Wins in Afternoon.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., March 11.—Starting the evening block with a run of 103, Welker Cochran increased his lead over Edouard Horemans by scoring 300 points to his rival's 187, here tonight. At the conclusion of the tenth block the New York cueist was leading Horemans with a total score of 3,000 to 2,789. With but 600 more points to go, Cochran appears to have the match sewed up. Only an extraordinary run by the visiting star will enable him to overtake Welker's lead.

The leader required eleven innings to reach the 300 mark tonight. Starting with a high run of 103, he scored a blank in the second inning, but came back with a 91, showing only mediocre runs during the remainder of the contest. Horemans attempted to use his safety tactics which gave him such an advantage in the afternoon, but with much less success. His best cluster was a run of 95 in the eighth inning. Cochran turned in an average of 27 3-11, Horemans one of 18 7-10.

Horemans staged a spectacular spurt this afternoon and gathered 659 points while the New York cuiest was scoring 300. Horemans's play was punctuated while the New York cueist was scoring repeated applause from another large gallery, and when the block was concluded the Belgian was but 98 points behind his young rival, the totals standing 2,700 to 2,602 in favor of Cochran.

Horemans missed his first shot, and Cochran counted 58. The Belgian then ran 91, 107, 156 and 70 for a total of 424 points, in four frames, working his famous line nurse to perfection. Changing his style, he resorted to the tightest of safety play, while he garnered other clusters of 67 and 63.

Cochran completed his 300 string in fourteen innings, adding 58 in his first inning to his unfinished run of 234. This gave Welker 292 for his high run of the match.

The score:

AFTERNOON.

Horemans—0 91 107 156 70 1 0 1 0 34 67 26 34 63. Total, 659. High run, 156; average 50.7.

SHOEMAKER RETAINS TITLE.

National Amateur Pool Champion Victor in Chicago Tourney.

CHICAGO, March 11.—J. Howard Shoemaker of New York tonight successfully defended his championship title in pocket billiards. The champion defeated C. A. Vaughn of Chicago, the runner-up in the Chicago Athletic Association's national pocket billiard championship tournament, by the score of 125 to 78.

Shoemaker played a safe game throughout, using twenty safety shots in the thirty-five innings. Vaughn played a brilliant game and led the play-off game tonight up to the eighth inning, running 14 in the second. Shoemaker in the eighth went past him with a run of 7, retaining a safe lead until the end of the game.

At the closing game of the tournament today Vaughn and Shoemaker were tied for first place, each having won four and lost one game. Shoemaker made the tournament high run of 34. His high run in tonight's game was 15.

LAYTON STAGES RALLY.

Beats Cannefax in Afternoon, Ties Him in Evening in Cue Match.

John Layton, world's champion three-cushion billiardist, came unmistakably to life yesterday in his matches with the former champion, Robert Cannefax, at the Strand Billiard Academy. Layton won the afternoon block by 78 to 60 in sixty-nine innings and tied Cannefax in the evening with a count of 60—60 made in sixty-eight innings. Both made spectacular shots in the evening session and aroused a big gallery repeatedly to cheers. The score now stands 600 for Cannefax to 507 for Layton.

In the afternoon match, the champion gave his cue plenty of gas in the effort to overcome Cannefax's lead. Both started slowly, and at the end of the twentieth inning the score was 13 to 6 in favor of Layton. From then on the champion played in his best form. He scored two sevens and two fives, while the best Cannefax could muster were a five and a four.

The scores of the two blocks at the end of each tenth inning were as follows:

AFTERNOON GAME.

Layton	6	13	31	41	61	70	78
Cannefax	3	6	15	24	40	50	60

EVENING GAME.

WILEY WINS CUE MATCH.

Defeats Davidson in A. A. B. A. Pocket Billiard Tourney, 75 to 49.

In the pocket billiard tournament for the championship of the American Amateur Billiard Association, now in progress at John Doyle's Academy, Eugene Wiley defeated Leon Davidson last night by a score of 75 to 49. Each had a high run of twelve. Wiley made his in the opening frame and Daly counted twelve in the fifth frame. The score at the end of the fifth game was 36 to 34 in Wiley's favor and from then on it was anybody's game up to the count of 50. After reaching that mark Wiley struck a winning streak. He made five, six or seven in every inning and ended his run by leaving the balls safe. Davidson in the meantime stood still.

William Waldron defeated Jackson Wood by a score of 200 to 97 in the tournament for the national English billiard championship. Waldron made something every time he was at the table, and in his tenth inning ran twenty-four, making the losing hazard twelve consecutive times off the white ball as the red ball was in balk.

HURD WINS AT POOL.

Defeats Farace by 100 to 58 in Amateur Tourney.

Clarence Hurd defeated Peter Farace by a score of 100 to 58 last night in the metropolitan pocket billiard championship tournament of the National Amateur Association of Billiard Players at the Broadway Billiard Academy. Hurd had high runs of 18 and 19, while Farace could not gather more than 14 in a single run. Hurd played a strong game and Farace could not seem to get started. In the course of his run of 19 Hurd made a difficult three-ball combination bank shot, as well as many other difficult shots. The next match in the tournament will take place Monday night and will engage H. Foss and A. Saunders.

SCHAEFER DEFEATS CUTLER.

Wins Final Block of Balkline Match by 400 to 13.

Jake Schaefer defeated Albert Cutler by a score of 400 to 13 last night at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn. Mail Brought from San Francisco to New York in 33⅓ Hours

PUBLIC HARDLY BELIEVES IT

Complex Civilization Demands Radical Measures

Who would have believed only a generation ago, not to speak of a half-century, that a letter posted in San Francisco would reach New York in less than two days? Yet it is a fact. Our needs demanded the aeroplane and science was taxed to the utmost until the aeroplane was perfected.

Progress Means Change.

Progress has resulted in radical changes in our way of thinking, living and doing business. The cumbersome steam train, good enough for yesterday, is giving way to the fleety aeroplane to-day.

Business Methods Change.

The cumbersome business system with its retailer as the middleman is giving way to the more direct system where the maker and the wearer deal with each other. The public to-day can see no reason why it should pay extraordinarily high prices for clothing just because the middleman retailer adds his profit on to the actual cost of production of the garment. A discriminating mind can see the saving in buying direct from the manufacturer.

We Are Not Saying.

We are not saying we will give you a $100 suit for $35 nor a $75 suit for $30, for we know that a man who has just a wee bit of sense cannot believe it.

We are not saying we are stuck with a stock of suits that we cannot move through the Retailer and are therefore offering them to you for a song. You are not interested in any losses that the manufacturer claims he had. All you care about is to get your money's worth.

We are not saying we are closing out our last year's stock, "clearing the decks for new business" and are "giving our suits away at a tremendous loss." We know that the real live man will not want a garment that is out of style and shopworn even though he can get it cheaper.

We Are Saying.

We are saying that WEKTON STYLE CLOTHES are manufactured in our own factory out of the finest All Wool and Worsted cloths, in the newest shades and tailored up-to-the-minute in style for the man who likes the sporty fit as well as for one who prefers the conservative model.

We are saying that buying WEKTON STYLE CLOTHES means buying them directly from the Manufacturer and saving for yourself the Retailer's profit.

We are saying that every dollar you pay for WEKTON STYLE CLOTHES is in the garment. Our Sales Rooms are on the stoop floor of 818 Broadway, in the heart of the manufacturing district, without any expensive decorations and without high-priced salesmen.

We are saying that in WEKTON STYLE CLOTHES you are getting values that will bring you near to pre-war days. And we are here to guarantee it, and to guarantee your being satisfied. Our prices are: $20, $25, $30 and $35, with no charge for alterations.

Those who come to look remain to buy. Tear out this address. It will save you money.

The ultimate in the bike-racing crowds was reached last night in the thirtieth six-day race at Madison Square Garden. For the first time since the grind started, in the small hours of last Monday mornings, the doors were closed and the sale of tickets was stopped.

The famous old sport arena was actually filled to suffocation. Figuratively, the Garden bulged at the sides and both ends with one of the biggest crowds that has ever witnessed a six-day-race instalment in this city. It was estimated that about 13,000 spectators crowded the arena to watch the speed maniacs pedal over the saucer-shaped track. Shortly before 9 o'clock the Police and Fire Departments representatives ordered the sale of tickets stopped and the doors closed.

The point dashes provided all the thrills expected of them, and the crowd was at a high pitch of excitement as the riders tore around the track in their spirited speed bursts. Oscar Egg and Peter Van Kempen, Walter Rutt and Willie Lorenz, and Maurice Brocco and Willie Coburn, the deadlocked teams in the matter of ground covered, retained their positions unchanged after the night's sprints. These three teams are one lap ahead of the field.

Egg-Van Kempen Ahead in Points.

In points, Egg and Van Kempen led, with a total of 859; Rutt and Lorenz were second, with 705, and Brocco and Coburn third, with 347. Four teams one lap back of the leaders had the following scores: Chapman and Lawrence, 280 points; Smith and Taylor, 212; McNamara and Thomas, 170, and Beyn and Lemay, 13. The $100 prize money divided among the three teams scoring the greatest number of points in sprints was divided as follows: McNamara and Thomas, 49 points, $50; Chapman and Lawrence, 43 points, $30; Rutt and Lorenz, 33 points, tied with Egg and Van Kempen, 33 points. The latter teams split $20.

The sprints resulted as follows:

First Sprint—Vankempen, Lorenz, Brocco, Lawrence, McNamara, Smith.
Second Sprint—Rutt, Egg, Coburn, Chapman, Thomas, Taylor.
Third Sprint—Vankempen, Lorenz, Brocco, McNamara, Lawrence, Beyl.
Fourth Sprint—Egg, Rutt, Coburn, Lemay, Chapman, Thomas.
Fifth Sprint—Brocco, Vankempen, Lorenz, McNamara, Lawrence, Smith.
Sixth Sprint—Rutt, Coburn, Egg, Thomas, Chapman, Taylor.
Seventh Sprint—Egg, Lorenz, Brocco, McNamara, Lawrence, Smith.
Eighth Sprint—Rutt, Coburn, Vankempen, Thomas, Chapman, Taylor.
Ninth Sprint—McNamara, Egg, Lawrence.

Before the evening sprints yesterday the field had been reduced to nine teams surviving out of the original fifteen pairs which started the week's grind.

The latest additions to the "retired" list were the combination of Joe Van Bever and Jules Miquel, a Holland-French team, and Gaston De Greaves and Peine Reilens, a Belgian team. The incapacitation of Van Bever caused the withdrawal of the Dutch-French pair, which was officially declared out of the race at 7 o'clock last night. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Van Bever had withdrawn from the whirl because of injured knees. His partner under the rules had four hours in which to secure a riding mate, but there was none available and the pair was declared through.

When the outside world was on its way to daily labor yesterday morning about 7 o'clock the Garden Herald distributed the information that De Greaves and Reilens, a pair of capable Belgian riders, had withdrawn. The subjects of Albert; after discussing the situation between themselves, had decided the race could proceed without them and acted accordingly. Their wretched physical condition, because of the terrific riding that had marked this grind, coupled with the utter hopelessness of their chase, prompted the decision to withdraw.

The lead of Oscar Egg and Oscar Van Kempen, the Holland team, was not lessened by the results of the afternoon sprints for points.

The spectators and the riders were alert and apprehensive of Brocco and Coburn throughout the day's riding. Everybody seemed to have a premonition that the Italian-American pair would attempt to garner a lap which would place them in front and insure a repetition of last December's spectacular triumph. Everybody expected the exciting bid for victory ground, but it had not come before the start of the night riding. The pair, in the opinion of Jack Neveille, veteran trainer, overlooked a glossy opportunity to scamper off to the lead soon after 4 o'clock.

They were soundly upbraided by Neville for what the trainer considered a bad oversight.

Fast Afternoon Sprinting.

Some mad sprinting followed upon the end of the matinée points, and the afternoon crowd stayed as late as it was permitted. At 4:05 o'clock George Chapman, who is teamed with Percy Lawrence, got away in an unexpected burst of speed which produced one of the wildest jams of the race. Followed by Taylor, Chapman sped over the pine track, and, with the partners of two reckless riders relieving them as the dash progressed, the remainder of the field was soon three-quarters of a lap behind, and in hot pursuit.

Lorenz, a Teuton rider, suddenly assumed the chasing task, and, riding steadily for thirteen laps, led the pack around in a pursuit which gradually cut down the lead of the Chapman-Lawrence and Taylor-Smith teams. Rutt then relieved his riding mate, and in a few laps had overhauled the two flying teams bidding for a lap.

Reggie McNamara allowed the noise to subside, when, like a bolt, he was off on a riding tangent which netted a third of a lap before serious pursuit started. Rutt was the pacemaker in the chase, however, and soon overhauled McNamara. Because of the wear and tear of the rest of the field and in view of the fact that the team had followed pace rather than made it during the sensational riding session, Trainer Neville adjudged this opportunity ripe for Brocco and Coburn to pilfer a lap and make their chances of victory that much stronger.

Be it understood here that Brocco worships Neville. One word from the veteran trainer when a race is in progress is sufficient to send Brocco up the side of the track if Neville says so. Jack knew this, and consequently expected results when he yelled from his position on the flat of the track for Brocco to go. Through some inexplicable working of fate Brocco, apparently either misunderstood the advice or determined, for this once, to disobey his trainer. At any rate Brocco got off the track.

Navy Wonders if Its Goat Ate the Army Mule's Blanket

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 11.—The Naval Academy contingent is mourning the loss of one of its most valued athletic troubles, the blanket worn by the Army mule during the service football game on the Polo Grounds last November. It adorned the Navy goat during the celebration at Annapolis on Sunday and has not been seen since. By long custom it became the personal property of the winning Captain, in this case Midshipman Eddie Ewen.

HIGGINS IS FIRST IN TWO-MILE RUN

Captures Johnny Overton Race at Second Division Post Games.

Walter Higgins, winner of the Baxter mile in the New York Athletic Club games, added to his laurels last night by running away with the Johnny Overton two-mile invitation race in the memorial games of the Second Division Post, American Legion, at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory. The Columbia man not only repeated his victory in this classic, named for the captain of the Yale track team who died in the Great War, but he did it with a good deal of emphasis. He won by some fifteen yards from Max Bohland, who raced unattached. Bohland was the former national cross-country champion. Andy Craw was in third place, fifteen yards behind Bohland.

The three men who finished in the lead alternated from the start in setting the pace. One of the three was always showing the way. Going into the last lap, the race was a toss-up. Any one of the three might have been picked as the winner, and the chance of going wrong would have been slight. When they were 100 yards from the finish, Higgins made his big fight. He sprinted gamely and quickly passed Bohland. He went so fast that Bohland never had a real chance. Higgins adjusted his pace nicely all the way, and he was the only one of the three pacemakers to have anything left in reserve at the finish.

Earl Thomson of Dartmouth, world's champion over the high sticks, was the winner of the 70-yard high hurdles. He won from a good field in 9 2-5 seconds. H. E. Barron of Philadelphia also ran a good race, and was a close second. The Olympic champion went into the lead by a stride at the half-way mark, and increased his advantage to two yards at the finish.

Jake Driscoll of Boston College was victor in the special 500-metre invitation race. He won from Frank Murrey of Princeton in an exciting contest. Joe Pearman, the national seven-mile champion walker, finished first in the one-mile walk from scratch. His time of 6:37 1-5 was extraordinarily good.

HIGGINS ELECTED CAPTAIN.

Track Star Chosen to Lead Columbia Team—Face Heavy Schedule.

Walter Higgins, star middle distance runner and recently crowned national junior indoor two-mile champion, was elected captain of the Columbia track team at a meeting yesterday. He will succeed H. G. Hudson, who resigned the leadership when he left college to go into business. Higgins, who is a member of the junior class, first broke into the limelight last Fall when he twice broke the record for the Van Cortlandt cross-country course. Later he ran second to John Romig in the intercollegiate cross-country title race. This Winter he won the Hirshon Trophy and also the Baxter mile at the New York A. C. games, in addition to capturing the junior two-mile title at Buffalo.

The track schedule as made public yesterday calls for two triangular meets, both at South Field, in addition to representation in the Penn relays and the intercollegiates at Harvard. The first of the three-cornered tests will be with Dartmouth and Penn in New York on May 7, when Earl Thomson, the Dartmouth star, and Penn's intercollegiate championship team will be the attractions. The other triangular affair will be held at South Field on May 14, with Wesleyan and Brown opposed to the Columbia track and field men. For the first time in many years no dual meets appear on the schedule, the usual battle with Brown having been expanded into a triangular meet.

In the Penn relays at Philadelphia on April 29 and 30, Columbia will have its usual quota of representatives. At the intercollegiate title events, on May 28 at Harvard, the New Yorkers will also enter a good-sized team. In this meet Walter Higgins will make his long-awaited bid for the intercollegiate honors at two miles, and he will also be one of the headliners at the Penn relays, where he will probably compete against some of the visiting French stars.

Harvey Will Tackle Smith.

Johnny Harvey, sturdy Italian lightweight veteran, will make his first appearance at the Commonwealth Sporting Club in Harlem this evening, when he tackles Mike Smith of Yorkville in one of the principal twelve-round bouts arranged for the Commonwealth's regular week-end entertainment. In the other twelve-round number Johnny Murray, Bronx featherweight, and Jimmy Cooney, known also as Jimmy Sullivan, will mingle. Several preliminaries of four and six rounds' duration will precede these two bouts.

MRS. FALK FINALIST IN INDOOR TENNIS

Champion Wins Match With Mrs. Mills in Women's Metropolitan Title Tourney.

Mrs. Edwin A. Falk is the favorite for final honors in the indoor tournament for the women's championship of the metropolitan district, which will be decided this morning. She won her bracket in the final round yesterday by an unexpectedly decisive victory over Mrs. David C. Mills of Orange by scores of 7—5, 6—2. There were many in the gallery at the Seventh Regiment Armory who expected the former Miss Helene Pollak, who is the national indoor champion, to run away with her semi-final match. There were others who thought Mrs. Mills had an excellent chance to win.

As a matter of fact, Mrs. Falk was never in any serious danger. She outpaced Mrs. Mills throughout the two sets, and inasmuch as the latter was content to allow the issue to depend upon backcourt stroking, in which Mrs. Falk can be beaten only by Mrs. Mallory and perhaps one or two others on American courts, there never was anything but certainty as to the result. Mrs. Falk served with severity and her driving had its accustomed speed. She gained and held the lead most of the time on service in the opening set, which was the only one of the two that was close.

In the first set Mrs. Falk was not quite so steady as she is customarily. Mrs. Mills led up to 5—4 in games and 40—love in points in the following game, and was three times within a point of capturing the set. She played too cautiously or overanxiously, however, and lost control. Miss Bayard won the other semi-final match impressively from Mrs. Strauss, and should prove a worthy rival for the champion in the final.

In the doubles Mrs. L. G. Morris and Mrs. B. F. Briggs had a monumental match with Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Mrs. Albert Humphries before they were able to win their way into the final round. The scores were 9—7, 5—7, 6—4. Both sides played excellently from the baseline, but the winners had the advantage in volleying. Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Briggs won by showing the better position play in the final games.

The summaries:

Singles, Semi-Final Round—Mrs. Edwin A. Falk defeated Mrs. David C. Mills, 7—5, 6—2; Miss Martha Bayard defeated Mrs. T. J. Strauss, 6—1, 6—0.

Doubles, Semi-Final Round—Mrs. L. G. Morris and Mrs. B. F. Briggs defeated Mrs. Frederick Schmitz and Mrs. Albert Humphries, 9—7, 5—7, 6—4.

SQUASH FINAL REACHED.

Mixsell and Cromwell Survive in Princeton Club Title Play.

Harold R. Mixsell and Jarvis Cromwell reached the final round of the squash tennis tournament for the championship of the Princeton Club yesterday afternoon. Mixsell, playing from scratch, defeated John Taylor by scores of 5—15, 15—3, 154, and Cromwell, who had a handicap of eight aces, won from Harvey, a scratch man, by scores of 15—10, 15—10. Mixsell and Cromwell will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

FAST FIELD IN HALF-MILE.

Star Middle Distancers Entered for Mail Clerks' Special.

Seven prominent middle-distance runners are expected to go to the post this evening in the Memorial Half-mile Run, the stellar event on the program which will mark the annual indoor athletic meet of the Post Office Clerks' Association, at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory. Included in the field will be Tom Campbell and H. O'Brien of Yale; Frank Murrey and M. Johnson, Princeton; Jack Sellers, New York A. C.; Mike Devaney, Millrose A. A. and Sid Leslie, unattached, metropolitan 1,000-yard champion.

This event will be one of an extensive program which has attracted more than 500 entries. Fourteen teams are schedlued to start in a medley relay race, the clubs represented including the New York A. C., Paulist A. C., Knights of St. Antony, Loughlin Lyceum, St. Anselm's A. C. and Brooklyn A. A. Nick Giannakopulos, Greek runner, Andy Craw, Brooklyn A. A., and Eddie Garvey, Paulist A. C., will be among the back-markers in a two-mile handicap run. Another event of interest promises to be the one-mile walk for "Old Boys," closed to pedestrians of 40 years of age and over.

BIG ENTRY FOR MEET.

Princeton Club Games Attract Interscholastic Track Athletes.

More than 1,000 entries have been received for the twelfth annual Princeton Club interscholastic track and field meet, which will be held this afternoon at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory. The games are scheduled to start at 2 o'clock. While the meet is not officially listed as a championship, it, nevertheless, carries title significance because of the fact that it is open to high, private and prep schools in the metropolitan district.

Representatives of fifteen schools are scheduled to participate in the struggle for supremacy. Stuyvesant High School tops the list of entries with a nomination of approximately 150 youngsters. This is the largest team ever entered in the meet. Heavy entries are expected also from De Witt Clinton H. S., Erasmus Hall H. S., Boys' H. S. and Poly Prep School. Indications are that a capacity crowd will view the scholastic athletes in their sports. William A. Bours Jr., Chairman of the committee in charge of the meet, has announced that 10,000 tickets have been printed and a majority of them disposed of.

MORE ENTRIES FOR MEET.

Card for A. A. U.'s Track and Field Gathering Still Growing.

Seven additional out-of-town entries were received yesterday for the national A. A. U. senior indoor track and field championships, which will be held March 19 at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory. The latest nominations included Manville F. Lochnicht, Niagara A. A. of Buffalo, national junior 60-yard champion; William Irving Reid, Brown University, national broad jump champion; Harry Goelitz, Illinois A. C., former national 120-yard hurdles title holder; Benjamin M. Baker Jr. and M. R. Baker of the University of Virginia, entered for the 600-yard run and 300-yard run, respectively; Douglas C. Sinclair of Trenton, former Princeton shotputter, and Andrew Hisler of the Meadowbrook Club of Philadelphia, Middle Atlantic A. A. U. cross-country champion.

The entry lists for the games will be closed at midnight tonight. Under the A. A. U. rules any entries received with today's postmark will be accepted. Tickets for the meet have been placed on sale at local A. A. U. headquarters, 290 Broadway.

FLYWEIGHTS MEET TONIGHT

Bobby Doyle and Joe Dillon Will Head Card at Pioneer Club.

A varied card of bouts, providing contests between flyweights, bantamweights and featherweights, will be conducted at the Pioneer Sporting Club in East Twenty-fourth Street this evening. The principal event is scheduled for twelve rounds, and will bring together Bobby Doyle of the west side and Joe Dillon, east side flyweight. In the semi-final, scheduled for ten rounds, Jimmy Tomasulo of Elizabeth, N. J., former national amateur banatamweight champion, will engage Phil Franchini, east side bantamweight. Another ten-round session is slated in which Lew Snyder of Bayonne, N. J., clashes with Stanley Meeghan, Atlanta, Ga., featherweight.

GOULD AND WEAR IN CONVINCING VICTORY

Champions Win Easily in First Round of National Doubles Racquets Title Meet.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., March 11.—Jay Gould and J. W. Wear of the Philadelphia Racquet Club, titleholders, and C. C. Pell and Stanley G. Mortimer of Tuxedo, N. Y., loom up as the finalists in the national doubles racquets championship tournament, which opened here this morning at the Tennis and Racquet Club. The champions rushed away to a straight-game victory over Homer Dixon and Earl Reynolds of the Chicago University Club, 17—14, 15—1, 15—8, 15—6. Pell and Mortimer won a similar victory over Constantine Hutchins and Roger Cutler of the home club, 15—7, 15—8, 15—7, 15—1.

Because of the decisive manner and excellence of their all-around game the victors, who have been drawn in the upper and lower half of the draw, are looked upon as almost certain to gain their way into the final, which will be played Sunday.

There were two other matches, and both produced some worth-while competition. Boston and Chicago were eliminated as a result of the defeats of G. Richmond Fearing Jr. and Philip Stockton of the Hub and Paul E. Gardner and Howard Linn of the Windy City.

Fearing and Stockton, who are veterans of the game, were forced to give way to Hewitt Morgan and Maurice Heckscher, both of the Racquet and Tennis Club of New York. The dropping of the first game forced the veterans to buck up, with the result that they captured the next three. From then on the New Yorkers improved and the Boston pair lost their excellent chance of victory when Morgan and Heckscher won the sixth encounter, 15—12. The deciding game was much easier for the visitors, the score being 15—2.

Fulton Cutting and Fred T. Frelinghuysen of the Racquet and Tennis Club of New York were forced to play two extra games before they subdued Gardner and Linn of Chicago. Steadiness and ability to drive the ball at great speed, varied with a soft game, gave the New Yorkers their victory.

Gould and Wear will play Morgan and Heckscher tomorrow. Cutting and Frelinghuysen will oppose Pell and Mortimer.

The summary:

Jay Gould and J. W. Wear, Philadelphia Racquet Club, defeated Homer Dixon and Earl Reynolds, Chicago University Club, 17—14, 15—1, 15—8, 15—6.

Hewitt Morgan and Maurice Heckscher, Racquet and Tennis Club, New York, defeated G. Richmond Fearing Jr. and Philip Stockton, Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston, 15—12, 11—15, 6—15, 4—15, 15—7, 15—12, 15—2.

C. C. Pell and Stanley G. Mortimer, Tuxedo, defeated Constantine Hutchins and Roger Cutler, Tennis and Racquet Club, Boston, 15—7, 15—8, 15—7, 15—1.

Fulton Cutting and F. T. Frelinghuysen, Racquet and Tennis Club, New York, defeated Howard Linn and Paul E. Gardner, Chicago University Club, 16—17, 15—11, 12—15, 15—12, 15—1, 15—5.

SIROCCO TAKES HANDICAP.

Defeats The Belgian II. in Driving Finish at Havana.

HAVANA, Cuba, March 11.—Sirocco, under Jockey Pickens's hustling ride, scored his second success of the meeting when he accounted for the handicap at Oriental Park today, defeating Belgian II., the 7 to 5 favorite, with Black Prince third. Sirocco was rushed into the lead and ran the first half mile in 0:46 3-5 and at the end was driving to win by a length. The Belgian II. closed fast and was second by a head with Black Prince a length in front of Assumption. Brig o' War was practically left at the post and had no chance.

RIDERS GRANTED LICENSES.

Ensor, Butwell and Thirty-eight Others Named by Jockey Club.

There is assurance of a good supply of competent riders for the coming racing season in the list of jockeys who were granted licenses by the Stewards of the Jockey Club. The list which was given out yesterday contains the names of some of the best-known boys in the country, among them Buddy Ensor, who was the sensation of the last few weeks of last season, and Jimmy Butwell, who led the riders of the country.

Others in the list of forty who received permits to ride were: La Verne Fator, Frank Keogh, Early Sande, Andy Schuttinger, Joe Mooney, Eddie Ambrose, Clarence Kummer, C. Robinson and E. Coltiletti.

Cutbill Abandons Athletics To Begin Career as Preacher

BOSTON, March 11.—Harold Cutbill, the Boston University theological student who showed his heels to many runners on indoor tracks this season until an ankle went wrong, hung up his spiked shoes and took down his Bible today. He announced that he intends to run no more for a while, but to preach as regularly as possible. Next Sunday he plans to talk from the pulpit of the First Methodist Episcopal Church on "spiritual hygiene."

JOCKEY CLUB WINS IN MARYLAND CASE

State Commission Gives Up Licensing Power—Racing Bodies Get Free Hand.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 11.—The breach in the Maryland Racing Commission was widened and apparently made permanent, when the question of the power of issuing licenses to trainers and jockeys came before the commission for settlement today.

Commissioners Olivier and Kennedy carried out their intentions of taking all licensing power from the commission, letting the racing associations vest it in The New York Jockey Club or in any other organization they choose. This was done over the vehement protest of Commissioner Timanus, who declared that "every street corner will shortly ring with public denunciation of the two Commissioners for their action."

While the action was probably final, the last touches will not be put upon it until Attorney Alexander Armstrong rules upon the legality of the regulations adopted. A resolution requesting such a ruling was passed, also against the protest of Mr. Timanus, who declared he didn't want the Attorney General to have anything to do with the rules.

After the meeting, however, Mr. Timanus said he, too, would ask the Attorney General for an opinion, not as to the legality of the rules adopted, but as to the legality of the action of Commissioners Olivier and Kennedy in surrendering the licensing power: "I want to know if the law does not compel the commission to take the power of licensing itself. I believe it does, and I'm going to ask the Attorney General to give me an opinion," he said.

Race-track people, when they heard of today's action, made no secret of their feeling that the controversy has ended in a complete victory for The New York Jockey Club. It means, too, the death of the hopes of Jockey Shilling, who has been outlawed by the New York Association and whose only chance for reinstatement was through a license from the Maryland commission.

NEW YORK BOXERS VICTORS.

Win All but Three Matches in Intercity Tourney.

New Yorkers won all but three of the bouts contested in the intercity amateur boxing tournament, in which Pittsburghers and Bostonians, as well as local ringmen, participated last night at the New York Athletic Club. Bernie Sawyer of Boston won his bout in the 125-pound class, and McCalton of Pittsburgh won in the 108-pound class.

Sam Lagonia, the national amateur middleweight champion of the Bronxdale A. C., won his match in the 158-pound class from Joe Carey of Boston by the summary method of a technical knockout. The referee stopped the bout in the second round. Willie O'Connell of the Paulist A. C. won a fine victory from Thomas Fall of Boston. This was an evenly contested bout and four rounds were required before the judges could make up their minds as to where the decision belonged.

108-Pound Class—Willie O'Connell, Paulist A. C., defeated Thomas Fall, Boston, four rounds, judges' decision; Max McCalton, Pittsburgh, defeated Jack Rasserty, Paulist A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES

Code Committee at Biltmore Opposes Radical Alterations in Present Game.

Members of the Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee assembled at the Biltmore last night for their annual tussle with the code that governs the premier American college sport. Owing to the fact that so many new suggestions for changes and improvement have been offered during the period since the close of the last football season, the committee found itself fairly cobwebbed in the labyrinth of proposals, and late in the evening Chairman E. K. Hall announced that the committee would make no report on its deliberations, it being decided to continue the meeting today.

If the attitude of a few of the members is any indication, none of the radical suggestions made by various coaches and officials throughout the country will be adopted at the meeting. The consensus seems to be that the game as it now stands is in good shape and that to make any serious changes would only be confusing to the spectators, who are just now beginning to fully understand the game.

Every member of the committee, with the single exception of Dr. Carl Williams of the University of Pennsylvania, was on hand when the meeting was called to order by Chairman Hall. From the Eastern section of the country were E. K. Hall, Dartmouth, Chairman; Walter Camp, Yale, the dean of the American game; F. W. Moore of Harvard, Paul J. Dashiel of the United States Naval Academy, Dr. J. A. Babbitt of Haverford and William Roper, the Princeton coach. From the South came Dr. W. A. Lambeth of Virginia; from the Middle West came A. Alonzo Stagg, the old Yale star, who is now Director of Athletics at the University of Chicago; Dr. H. L. Williams, another former Yale star, who is now directing the destinies of University of Minnesota football teams, and C. W. Savage of Oberlin, and from the Far West came Walter D. Powell, head of major sports of Stanford University, a new member on the committee and the first representative that the coast has ever had on the committee.

Among some of the other prominent football officials who were around renewing acquaintances at the meeting were Bob Fisher, the Harvard coach; Major Charles D. Daly, the Army gridiron mentor; Major Philip Hayes, Director of Athletics at the United States Military Academy, and Colonel Koehler of the United States Naval Academy.

Just before the Rules Committee went into executive session Major Daly, who recently called a convention of football coaches and officials, was given an opportunity to present the results of that meeting to the Rules Committee. Major Daly presented a synopsis of the rules changes advocated at the meeting, and also asked the committee to give consideration to his plan to call section meetings of football coaches and officials immediately after the close of football seasons instead of waiting until the season is about to open, as is now the practice. He also told the members of the committee that in the opinion of the meeting held here last week, the machinery of football should be strengthened and more attention paid to the schooling of officials in the rules and in their proper interpretation.

According to members of the Rules Committee, during the last year more suggestions have been made in regard to the alteration of rules than ever before, and, while it is not expected that any major changes will be made, it is believed that some of the minor points will be clarified and altered to take care of deficiencies that were noticed during the last season.

BARNES MAKES NEW RECORD IN FLORIDA

Tall Golfer Establishes Mark With 69 in Open Championship Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 11.—Long Jim Barnes of the Pelham Country Club set a record for the Florida Country Club course here today in scoring a 69 on the second round of the Florida open championship golf tournament. As a result of his fine play the big fellow is leading a field of some thirty golfers with the fine total of 145. Clarence Hackney of the Atlantic City Country Club is second with a score of 149, while Tommy Kerrigan of Siwanoy, Jock Hutchinson of Chicago and Mike Brady of Detroit are tied for third place with 151 each. A triple tie also exists between George Fotheringham, Fred McLeod and Wilfrid Reid for the next position.

Barnes, in making his record score this afternoon, corralled five "birdies" on the round. His drives were tremendously long and straight and his short game was remarkably accurate. He was dead on the majority of holes in two shots.

His card was as follows:

Par out	4	3	4	4	4	4	5	4	4—36
Barnes	3	3	4	3	4	3	5	4	4—33

WOMEN HIT HYLAN FOR 'RHINE' MEETING

Ex-Service Organization Writes to Mayor, Denouncing 'Alien Propaganda.'

PROTESTS POURING IN

Coolidge Denies He Won't Speak at Garden Meeting on 18th Because He Opposes It.

More protests against the "Rhine Horror" meeting in the Garden last week were made public yesterday by American Legion posts and patriotic societies. One protest was sent direct to Mayor Hylan by the Overseas Service League, an organization of women who served in the war. This is the communication:

New York, March 11, 1921.
To His Honor Mayor Hylan, City Hall.

It was resolved at the meeting of the Overseas Service League, Thursday, March 10, that a most emphatic protest be registered against the permission granted for the holding of the "Horrors on the Rhine" meeting. As American women who served overseas, we denounce any agency which introduces alien propaganda, and have no words strong enough to express our resentment of the treatment of our ex-service men at that meeting.

ALICE HILL CHITTENDEN, President.
MARY A. BOGERT, Secretary.

"The purpose of the meeting was in reality an effort to sow discord and cause ill-feeling between the United States and the nations allied in the war," said the resolutions of the Richard J. McNally Post of the Legion, with headquarters at 584 West 183d Street. "This post condemns those persons under whose auspices such a meeting was held. Further, the post demands the expulsion of Lieut. Col. A. E. Anderson from the American Legion for lending his active support by appearing and uttering unpatriotic remarks at the meeting, and his immediate dismissal from the military service of New York.

"That meeting was called solely for the purpose of aiding and comforting Germany," said the resolutions of the United States Marines Post, "with which country we are still at war, and for the purpose of attacking and undermining the Government of the United States. The action of the Mayor of the city in permitting such a meeting without investigation at this time and apparently with his tacit approval is deserving of the condemnation of all good citizens."

J. W. Person Post, 14, American Legion, also adopted resolutions "denouncing all anti-American propaganda of any kind or breed whatsoever."

American Legion officials and Vice President Coolidge yesterday denied a report that Mr. Coolidge had declined to speak at the All-American meeting of the Legion and other patriotic societies in Madison Square Garden on March 18 because he thought it was to be merely a protest against the "Rhine Horror" meeting.

"Vice President Coolidge told me yesterday at Washington that he would be delighted to speak at the All-American meeting if he were able to arrange it," said Colonel F. W. Galbraith Jr., National Commander of the American Legion. "If he is unable to come, it will be because he cannot take the time, and for no other reason."

Vice President Coolidge authorized the statement in Washington that merely his personal desire not to make a speechmaking trip caused him to decline the invitation of the American Legion, and no other opinion about the meeting or its aims. American Legion organizations in thirty States have approved the plan of the committee in this city for the All-American meeting in the Garden on March 18, and hundreds of telegrams have been received from other patriotic societies and from individuals.

ACCUSED OF 200 ROBBERIES.

Ex-Chicago Policeman Said to Confess Getting $100,000 of Loot.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 11.—"If you've got the money you can get the wine, and if you have the wine you can win the women," according to Charles Cummings, a former policeman who, with Ollie Breen and George Richmond, are charged with more than 200 burglaries and street robberies. Their rendezvous was raided last night and six automatic pistols and $4,000 in jewelry were found.

Cummings admits he was strong for "wine, woman and song." He is said by the police to have confessed more than thirty of the robberies charged against him. According to this alleged confession he and his companions planned to hold up the cashier of a large manufacturing plant in South La Salle Street tomorrow and capture the $110,000 payroll.

Among the places Cummings is said to have confessed robbing are twenty-five Atlantic and Pacific tea stores, ten cooperative grocery stores and one jewelry house. He listed his share of the loot above $100,000, most of which he spent on women in cabarets.

TO BUILD GREAT DYE PLANT.

Largest Dry Color Works in World Planned by du Pont de Nemours Co.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 11.—Construction of the largest dry color plant in the world is being planned by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company, it was announced here today. The company is also considering the erection of a new unit in its chain of lithophone plants.

No anouncement of the site of the plant was made, but it is reported the works will be located at Carney's Point, N. J., and will eventually employ in the neighborhood of 30,000 men.

Carney's Point is across the Delaware River from Wilmington, where the main plant of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company is located, and several subsidiary plants of the company are located there. The company has recently been expanding its dye manufacturing facilities and a little more than a year ago built a large dye plant at Deepwater Point, N. J., nearby.

JAGER ADMITS PRISON TERM.

But Socialist Assemblyman Insists on Right to His Seat.

The hearing on the right of Henry Jager, Socialist Assemblyman, to retain his seat, was resumed yesterday by a sub-committee of the Assembly Judiciary Committee. It has been contended that Jager was a resident of New Jersey when elected.

Jager testified that he had moved from Maywood, N. J., where his wife still lives, in the Summer of 1918, and gave the addresses of about six places where he since lived in New York and Brooklyn. On cross-examination Jager told the committee that he was sentenced to six months on Blackwell's Island. The sentence was reduced and he served three months. The hearing may be concluded today.

Liner Grounds, but Gets Off.

The 12,977 ton passenger liner Stavangerfjord, which sailed late yesterday for Christiania with 225 passengers, went aground at the southerly end of Governors Island. Tugs succeeded in getting her out of the mud at 6:30 o'clock last evening and she went on her way. She was not damaged.

FRENCH BILL WOULD PAY LARGE FAMILIES

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 11.—The French Chamber of Deputies spent yesterday and is going to spend another day next week discussing the bill of one of the members to make State allowances to all French families having more than three children. The object of the measure is, of course, to encourage the repopulation of the country, the birth rate having been for years disquieting in spite of the recent post-war increase. The proposal made in the present bill is that 360 francs a year be paid at the birth of a fourth child and that an increase of 60 francs be made for each succeeding child.

The majority of the Chamber and most of the Ministers are in favor of the bill, but yesterday it hit up against the hard fact of the financial situation of the country. The cost of the measure would be at least 220,000,000 francs yearly, and with pensions, war damage and debts to pay the Chamber is hesitating about incurring any new expense, however much the benefit to the country and the race as a whole. Already in the income tax scheme provision is made for extra payment by those who haven't any families, and today, following yesterday's discussion, Dr. Marechal, Mayor of the richest arrondissement in Paris, comes forward with a suggestion for taxation of all married people without children for the benefit of those who have done their duty to the State.

Dr. Marechal, who has figures at his disposal, declared that his arrondissement, in which lies the district of the Champs Elysées, is the richest in Paris and that its birth rate is the lowest. The trouble is, however, he declares, that cost of bringing up a wealthy child in the same station or profession as its parents is much higher than that of bringing up a child of the working people. Doctors and other professional men, for instance, who are comfortably off themselves often cannot afford to educate their sons in their own profession and would much more readily pay a tax to educate other people's sons.

"If the State wants children," he concludes, "it has got to pay for them, and the only people it can reasonably make pay are those who haven't any of their own."

MEYER SAYS B. R. T. GOT $16,000,000 IN THE WAR

Former Head of the Finance Corporation Tells of Loan to the Company in 1918.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 11.—Eugene Meyer Jr., former head of the War Finance Corporation, spoke here this afternoon before the Department of Economics and Social Institutions of the university. Mr. Meyer made a statement in the course of his talk regarding the case of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company.

"In the Summer of 1918, when the Germans were advancing on the western front," he said, "it might have been very disastrous had the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company gone into the hands of receivers. The War Finance Corporation first rejected the proposal to assist it and it was only after careful consideration of the national and international consequences involved that we decided to aid. Thirty per cent. of the total capital, or $61,000,000, was lent the company.

"I feel that the War Finance Corporation can go on and do a remarkable service at the present time," said Mr. Meyer when interviewed afterwards. "We can't be prosperous by smashing prices and we can't grow rich by nonproduction. Some instrument is necessary to govern and organize deflation of prices, and in this the corporation can play a large part. In fact, it is necessary to assure justice to all in the present lowering of prices."

AMERICAN ART IN LONDON.

Some 200 Pictures and Sketches of Modern School on View.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 11.—The exhibition of contemporary American art at the Grafton Galleries will hold its private view tomorrow. About 200 pictures and sketches are on view, mostly of the modern, rather extremist school.

George Bellows has a striking picture of "The Murder of Edith Cavell," showing Miss Cavell being led down the prison stair through the midst of her sleeping guards to her execution in the dim light of dawn. Guy Pène Dubois is represented by a number of studies of types of the seamy side of city life, and E. W. Redfield exhibits a number of landscapes mainly in Winter-time, which are likely to attract much attention by the admirable way in which they present New England scenery. Kent Rockwell's studies of Alaska are all the more forcible by reason of the unconventional way in which he has treated it, and Theodore E. Butler's picture of Broadway by the Flatiron Building on Victory Day carries the spectator away by its swirl of life and the brilliancy of its coloring. Robert W. Chanler is showing a number of his decorative screens, notably his "Deep Sea Fantasy" and a peacock composition.

NEW CARDINAL'S MESSAGE.

Dougherty Sends "Affectionate Greetings" to All Americans.

ROME, March 11 (Associated Press).—Cardinal Dougherty, who was formally received as a member of the Sacred College at yesterday's public consistory, today sent to the United States his first message as a Cardinal. The message read:

"One of my chief joys in the dignity conferred on me by the Holy Father is the lustre which it sheds on my country. It is also a source of deep gratification that my fellow citizens, irrespective of creed or race, have hailed my elevation as a tribute to our common fatherland.

"I send all of them affectionate greetings and good wishes from the Eternal City."

Pope Benedict has appointed Mgr. Augustus J. Schwertner, Chancellor of the Diocese of Toledo, to be Bishop of Wichita, Kan., in succession to Bishop John J. Hennessy, who died in July last.

BRITISH AFTER BALTIC PORT

May Establish Shipping Base at Roenne, on Bornholm Island.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 11.—The German papers print a report from Swinemuende according to which a member of the German East Asiatic Company has arrived at the Danish island of Bornholm accompanied by several English shipping men to examine into the possibility of enlarging the port of Roenne.

It is reported that Roenne is to be made the central Baltic port for English shipping to compete with the German-American shipping concerns now dominating traffic between Bremen, Hamburg and the Baltic ports further east.

England has been growing deeply interested in Baltic traffic since she invested enormous capital in Danzig.

H. D. LYMAN ROBBED, CUTS GIFTS IN WILL

Omits Bequests Because of Business Losses Coupled With Ingratitude, He Says.

Banker States That Property Once Exceeding $100,000 Is Now Below That Sum.

Acts of "base ingratitude" on the part of a person intrusted with his business affairs, so reduced the estate of Henry Darius Lyman, one time President of the American Surety Company, and until his death Chairman of the Board of Trustees, that he was unable to leave relatives and friends the bequests which he had incorporated in other wills, it was stated in his will filed for probate yesterday.

Mr. Lyman, who died on Feb. 27, left an estate which he stated was below $100,000, all of which is left to his widow. The will is dated Sept. 12, 1910, and says:

"At one time my personal property much exceeded $100,000, but losses in business and particularly a gross robbery of me, coupled with the basest ingratitude to me on the part of the perpetrator in whom I trusted in an endeavor to help him, has reduced my property below said sum, and to a point where my decease would leave my beloved wife, Louise Corinne Lyman, with less income than she should receive, so bequests to all my relatives and some friends in previous wills destroyed cannot be incorporated herein."

All of Mr. Lyman's books, scrap books and newspaper clippings relating to the games of chess and draughts, many of which cannot be reproduced and are of value to draught players, are bequeathed to the Union League Club. The will leaves a few minor gifts of jewelry to relatives, and the remainder of the estate to his widow. The library not relating to chess, in his home in Rochester, N. Y., is left to Mrs. Lyman, with the request that such books as she may desire be given to a cousin, the Rev. E. Lyman Hood of Riveredge, N. J. He directs that his body be cremated and the ashes "thoroughly scattered."

The will was probated by Allan C. Rowe of 100 Broadway, whose office is next door that formerly occupied by Mr. Lyman. Neither Mr. Rowe nor those in Mr. Lyman's office would explain the reference to the ungrateful person who mismanaged his affairs.

SLEEPING SICKNESS KILLS CLERGYMAN

The Rev. Vincent C. Griffith Sought Cure for Stomach Ailment at Hospital.

The Rev. Vincent Colyer Griffith, a Protestant Episcopal rector, who was well known in Brooklyn for many years as an architect before he entered the church, died yesterday afternoon in St. Luke's Hospital from the sleeping sickness, so diagnosed by Dr. Samuel Lambert, on Monday, after the patient had gone to the hospital on Sunday to be treated for a severe stomach ailment. At first it was believed that Mr. Griffith was responding merely to the opiates administered to ease the pain of the old illness, but his sleepiness persisted so long that Dr. Lambert was called in. The periods of consciousness decreased each day, and for the last twenty-four hours he was in a coma.

Mr. Griffith was born in Brooklyn fifty-four years ago. He was graduated from the Columbia School of Architecture in 1889. After two years of study in Paris and Rome he returned to aid Russell Sturgis in the compilation of his Architectural Dictionary. He taught architecture at the Pratt Institute for a time and won several competitions here and in Boston. He was one of the designers of the tower of the Borough Hall in Brooklyn.

His health needed a change of climate and he moved to Oklahoma in 1911. There he studied for the ministry under the late Bishop Brooks of Oklahoma and was ordained in 1914, serving thereafter until recently as rector of St. John's Church, at Norman, and as chaplain of the Church Home for Girls there. He came East in September for medical treatment and lived with his brother, Walter R. Griffith, at 276 Marlborough Road, Brooklyn.

DECREE DUSTY WINDOWS.

Chicago University Authorities Seek a Medieval Atmosphere.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Orders have been issued that hereafter the windows of Hutchinson Commons, Mandel Hall, Harper and the Law Library at the University of Chicago are not to be washed. The Daily Maroon, official paper of the university, in making the announcement states that it is not in the interest of economy, but for reasons highly esthetic. According to the Trustees, leaving the windows to accumulate the dust and cobwebs "is to produce an atmosphere similar to that of European cathedrals and other structures of medieval architecture."

The Trustees, many of whom have studied abroad and felt the charm and enchantment of Continental buildings, decided the halls designated should have the charm which, they hold, comes from dust-laden windows and a mellow and softly diffused light.

In the discussion preceding the decision it was pointed out that many of the windows in European cathedrals had not been washed for more than 300 years. It also was agreed that Chicago's smoke and dirt will do the work in much less than three centuries. The order does not apply to classroom and laboratory windows, which are to be scrubbed regularly.

SHOCK HURTS KAISERIN.

News of Brother's Death Causes Another Heart Attack.

DOORN, Holland, March 11.—When former Empress Augusta Victoria of Germany was apprised today of the death of her brother, Duke Ernst Gunther of Schleswig-Holstein, she suffered another severe heart attack.

The physicians attending the former Empress considered her condition at the time of the Duke's death, late in February, too serious to permit her to be informed of it.

JEW HEADS LONDON COUNCIL

Major Percy Simmons the First to Be Elected Chairman of That Body.

LONDON, March 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—Major Percy Simmons, noted as a municipal reformer, has been elected Chairman of the London County Council. This is the first time a Jew has been elected to the office.

Schmuller With Philharmonic.

Alexander Schmuller assisted the Philharmonic Orchestra in a Beethoven program at yesterday's crowded matinee in Carnegie Hall, when his performance of the master's violin concerto was on a plane above much that Mr. Schmuller has done here. Mr. Stransky prefaced the solo number with the "Coriolanus" overture, and the afternoon ended with the "Eroica" symphony.

MAGGIE TEYTE TO WED AMERICAN TODAY

Opera Singer to Marry in London W. S. Cottingham of Cleveland, Who Was a Naval Aviator.

LONDON, March 11.—It is announced that Maggie Teyte, the singer, will be married tomorrow to W. S. Cottingham, formerly of Cleveland, Ohio, who now is in business in London. Mme. Teyte, it is said, will continue her operatic career.

Maggie Teyte, who was born in 1889 at Wolverhampton, England, made her first operatic appearance in Paris at the Opéra Comique in 1909, in Debussy's "Polleas and Melisande." She was married soon after to Dr. Eugene Plumon, a French lawyer, and later divorced. Coming to America in 1912, Mme. Teyte became a member of the Chicago Opera Company, appearing in the title rôle of Massenet's "Cinderella," with Mary Garden as Prince Charming, in one of that company's visits to the Metropolitan. More recently she sang the name part in Thomas's "Mignon" with the Society of American Singers, at the Park Theatre in this city. She had been a pupil of Jean de Reszke abroad and sang in the first Paris performance of Wolf-Ferrari's "Secret of Suzanne."

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 11.—W. Sherwin Cottingham, son of W. H. Cottingham, head of the Sherwin-Williams Company, whose engagement to Maggie Teyte was announced by Miss Teyte yesterday in London, is 24 and is manager of the Lewis Berger Company, London paint concern, which is a subsidiary of the Sherwin-Williams organization. He was born and reared in Cleveland and educated in University School here.

He enlisted early in the war and served overseas as a naval aviator. In 1916 young Cottingham was badly injured in an airplane accident, from which he subsequently recovered. He was at his father's home here during the Christmas holidays, when Miss Teyte was entertained at the Cottingham home.

FRITZI SCHEFF DIVORCED.

Her Third Decree From George Anderson on Ground of Cruelty.

WATERBURY, Conn., March 11.—Miss Fritzi Scheff, operatic singer, received her third divorce here today. She has been Mrs. George Anderson, but the decree, based on a charge of cruelty, permits her to resume her maiden name. Miss Scheff has had a Summer home in the adjoining town of Wolcott.

She told the Court her husband had frequently struck her in the face, blackening her eyes. He also refused to work, she said, and had a liquor bill of $75 a week. Her husband was "a charming man" when sober, she said, and on three different occasions she had withdrawn contemplated actions for divorce because he had promised to do better.

The first husband of Fritzi Scheff was Friedrich Wilhelm Gustav Carl von Bardeleben, a German lieutenant, who resigned his commission to come to America with his bride in 1902. This tie was severed in 1908 and a few months later the singer married John Fox Jr., author of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." The second alliance endured five years, her wedding to Mr. Anderson, actor and theatrical manager, occurring in 1913.

PAVLOWA AGAIN 'THE SWAN.'

Dancer Also Repeats "The Fairy Doll" and "The Enchanted Lake."

Anna Pavlowa repeated "The Swan" of Saint-Saens, a prime favorite of all her solo dances, before a sold-out house last evening at the Manhattan, where today's matinee and evening performances will similarly revive the famous "Pavlowa Gavotte." Two of the longer and more formal ballets seen again last night were "The Enchanted Lake," to Schubert's melodies, and "The Fairy Doll," with Pavlowa herself as the doll in the toy shop, devised by Ivan Clustine to sugar-candy airs of one Bayer and other composers.

Both these ballets are also repeated at today's matinee, while tonight the Russian star will revive the equally popular and musically more characteristic "Snowflakes" of Tchaikovsky.

CARUSO'S FEVER GONE.

Eats Solid Food, Has Good Rest, and Every One Is Pleased.

Caruso's condition continued favorable yesterday, with the singer's temperature virtually back at normal. He was able to eat solid food and rested at intervals through the day. His rest on Thursday night was good, and he awoke cheerful yesterday morning, according to reports from his apartment in the Hotel Vanderbilt.

He was said to be resting comfortably last night, and his physicians and members of his family were pleased with indications of steady convalescence. No opinion has been expressed yet as to when it will be safe to move the tenor to Atlantic City or to Italy.

Two Sopranos in Recitals.

Frieda Rochen, whose soprano voice has somehow the freshness of Spring gardens, a natural rather than cultivated charm, gave a matinée of pleasant songs at Aeolian Hall yesterday, varied with ambitious airs in Italian, German and French. Francis Moore assisted at the piano and as composer of one American lyric, with others by Rhea Silberta, Ganz, Lieurance and Hofsman.

Clara Deeks, soprano, who appeared last evening before a large and friendly house at Aeolian Hall, was assisted by Walter Golde at the piano in an air from Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and songs of Mahler, Fevrier and Ravel. Her voice and presence alike had rare animation, a quality of brightness best shown in simpler songs in English by Mrs. Maley, Proctor, Leighter and Schindler.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

A play dealing with the life of Lucrezia Borgia, written by Arthur Hornblow, editor of Theatre Magazine, has been accepted for production by David Belasco.

The monthly meeting of the Catholic Actors' Guild took place yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Astor. The annual benefit in aid of the league will be held at the George M. Cohan Theatre on Sunday night, April 3.

Additions to the Sunday night bill at the Hippodrome, to be given in aid of the Boys' Club, include Alice Delysia, Margaret Mower, Reginald Sheffield, Anna Wheaton, Oscar Shaw and Harry Carroll.

Liora Hoffman has been engaged to sing a special musical number at the Winter Garden in celebration of the tenth anniversary of that playhouse, during the week of March 21.

Margaret Anglin was the guest of honor at a reception at the Women's University Club yesterday.

Dudley Digges will give a reading of William Butler Yeats's "The King's Threshold" tomorrow night at the Irish Progressive League headquarters, 229 Lexington Avenue. There will be no admission charge.

The annual public performance by the Green Room Club, which will take place at the George M. Cohan Theatre on Easter Sunday night, will include a new one-act play by Zoe Akins.

CONVICTED PLUMBER DROPS PRISON FIGHT

Herbert Smith of Hemlin & Smith Goes to Penitentiary for Six Months' Term.

APPEAL HAD BEEN STARTED

Trial of Hettrick Goes On and Witnesses Tell of Fist Battle Over Code of Practice.

The plan to take an appeal for Herbert Smith of the plumbing firm of Hemlin & Smith, 144 West Ninety-ninth Street, convicted of coercion along with John T. Hettrick and two others, was abandoned yesterday when a stay of execution was vacated by Justice Joseph E. Newberger, on motion of counsel, who issued an order directing Sheriff David H. Knott to deliver Smith to the Warden on Blackwell's Island. Smith was convicted on Feb. 24 and sentenced to not less than six months and not more than two years.

When the verdict was returned Martin Conboy, counsel for Smith, requested Justice John V. McAvoy to impose sentence immediately. The request was granted and Smith lodged in the Tombs. Notice of an appeal was filed next day by counsel, who obtained from Justice Nathan Bijur an order to show cause why a certificate of reasonable doubt should not be granted pending an appeal. Counsel changed their plans and Smith entered the penitentiary yesterday.

Alleged methods used by the Master Plumbers' Association to compel other plumbers to join their organization were described yesterday at the trial of Hettrick and six other defendants for alleged violation of the Donnelly Anti-Trust law before Justice McAvoy and a jury. James Armstrong and his brother Charles Armstrong, members of James Armstrong, Inc., testified that after they had declined to join the association, at the solicitation of William H. Chapman and William J. Doran, labor leaders and co-defendants with Hettrick, they remonstrated with Chapman and Doran and objected to what they interpreted as threats. James Armstrong quoted the labor leader as saying:

"If you want us to make it in the form of a threat, we will."

Later the Armstrongs joined the association. It was brought out that at a meeting of the plumbers in Hettrick's office, where they went over the Code of Practice, the plan was adjudged a "bully good thing," and that it also was endorsed by the Credit Association of the Plumbing Supply Jobbers.

On another occasion, when the Code of Practice was discussed by the plumbers, the meeting broke up in a fist fight, according to the testimony of John McMillen. He also testified that at one of the meetings Charles A. Murphy, a defendant, moved to inflict penalties on W. G. Cornell & Co. for alleged failure to file with Hettrick a bid on the Garment Centre Industry contract.

Other witnesses were questioned about the alleged connection between the unions and the Code of Practice. Among them were Dred Delgan, Secretary; James F. Morrisey, Recording Secretary, and Timothy M. Hopkin, Clerk, of Local 463, United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters.

Morrisey told of a number of conferences with Hettrick prior to the adoption of the Code of Practice. Hopkin identified a letter sent by the union on Aug. 5, 1919, to Joseph Jasper, President of the Master Plumbers, advising him that the Code of Practice had been adopted by the union to "protect our members from injurious competition."

This letter was followed by another on Dec. 2, 1919, according to the witness, who said that it was signed by Hopkin. Among other things it said:

"I have been instructed by the Executive Committee of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steamfitters to inform you that the Code of Practice adopted by the union on Aug. 6 will be strictly enforced." Similar advices were sent to Bronx members of the journeymen plumbers' organization.

The trial will be resumed on Monday at 10 o'clock.

Major George Horsfield Collection in American Galleries.

Tables are the note of the Major George Horsfield collection now on view at the American Art Galleries. Tables such as rarely come into the auction rooms and such as the modern cabinetmaker has grossly neglected in seeking sources of inspiration. These are the oak draw-top tables of the seventeenth century, the most convenient, practical and good-looking extension table ever devised. By an ingenious but perfectly simple device the additional leaves when not in use may be slipped out of sight under the central leaf of the table. The mechanism is primitive, its workings obvious and the result most satisfactory; and these massive oak slabs worn smooth as glass by time, incapable of warping, bear witness to the folly of fashion in supplanting so admirable a design by the modern extension table with its abominable removable leaves, or even by the drop-leaf table with its forbidding apron that bumps against the knees when one tries to use the table "small."

Another section of the Horsfield collection consists of walnut chairs, Hogarth chairs, Norfolk chairs and other styles of forgotten names, all demonstrating the great beauty of the wood that again is coming into its own and shoving mahogany into the corner. There also are oak "Windsor" chairs with wooden seats and arms at precisely the right angle.

Much of the enthusiasm over antique furniture is not of a kind to bear analysis, but when the furniture is as good as this there is no difficulty in supplying reasonable reasons for it. The beautiful wood with its long seasoning is one good reason and perhaps the best, but another is the attention paid by the designers to comfort in determining the proportions. No beauty of carving or inlay can compete with the satisfaction to the eye of a finely proportioned piece of furniture, and when the piece is a chair, the whole virtue of which lies in its comfortableness, the old Windsors far outclass more pretentious styles.

The pewter in the collection accords with the character of the furniture, the gleam of its gentle gray surface having a special charm in connection with oak and walnut. Of course it is absurd to collect these things with the idea of reproducing the atmosphere of the ancient environment. No modern persons could for a moment bear to reproduce an environment more than fifty years old. Something would creep in, hot-water heating, electricity, a rabbit-edge mattress, vacuum cleaning, and presto! gone would be the atmosphere. But any one can collect with a standard of taste in his mind, and especially a standard of his taste. He may want things that neither shine nor sparkle, but glow and gleam, then pewter and oak and wools are his. Or he may want silver and silk and rosewood. Whatever he wants he may have, and he may cull from an old-fashioned garden of expensive bargains as mixed a bouquet as he likes; everything will be all right. It is all wrong when he sticks viciously to a special period and forgets the electric light and modern heating.

FOUR KILLED, 3 HURT BY AUTOS IN A DAY

One Woman Dies as Husband Loses Control of Car—Two Children and a Man Victims.

Four persons were killed and three others were injured, one of them perhaps fatally, by automobiles in and around New York City yesterday. Mrs. Mary H. Doyle of 613 West 214th Street died yesterday afternoon in the Dobbs Ferry Hospital from injuries she received in an accident early in the morning in that place, where the machine, driven by her husband, apparently got beyond the driver's control on a steep grade in Cedar Street and was wrecked. Richard E. Doyle, the husband, received a fracture of the leg, and Mrs. E. R. Johnson and Marvin Johnson of 562 West 191st Street suffered minor injuries.

Julia Tarnowski, 5 years old, of 61 Kent Avenue, Brooklyn, was struck and killed while crossing Kent Avenue between North Tenth and North Eleventh Streets yesterday. The truck, owned by the Franklin Trucking Company, was driven by Joseph Shields, 363 Forty-fourth Street, Brooklyn, who was locked up in the Bedford Avenue Police Station. He said that the child stepped in front of his vehicle.

Forest Baker, 21 Hamilton Street, Newark, in a collision on Riverside Avenue, between Newark and Lyndhurst, received injuries from which he died while being taken to a hospital. Helen Mazura, 5 years old, of 161 Prospect Avenue, Bayonne, N. J., was struck and killed by an automobile at Twenty-second Street and Prospect Avenue. The driver was held on a charge of manslaughter.

Frank W. Ducaj, 22, of 506 West 160th Street, was sentenced to fifteen days in the workhouse by Magistrate Frederick E. House in the Traffic Court, following his conviction on charges of reckless driving made by Henry Burnley, a bank clerk, of 526 West 152d Street. Magistrate House said that the fatilities, due to reckless driving last year, amounted to 707, but there has been a marked decrease in the figures so far this year, due to the vigilance of the police.

FALL KILLS A SINGER.

Herbert M. Owen, as Robert Morosini, Had Been in Comic Opera.

Herbert M. Owen, known in musical circles as Robert Morosini, who was said to have appeared in the original company of "Erminie," was found dead yesterday morning at the foot of a flight of stairs in a pretentious house at 2,518 Avenue L, Brooklyn, where he lived alone. He was attired only in his underclothing, which led the police to believe that he might have fallen down stairs while on his way to answer the telephone in the lower hall. The cuts about his head and legs were such as one would receive in a fall, it was said. An ambulance surgeon said the man probably had been dead for two days.

Medical Examiner Weston reported that death had been due to an accident. There were no signs of an intruder having been in the house.

The house was expensively furnished and the walls were covered with autographed photographs of operatic stars and prominent stage folk. An expensive ivory-covered piano and rare antiques were in the drawing room.

Morosini had been married twice, but both wives were said to be dead. He had no children of his own, but neighbors said four of his stepsons had died in the World War. Morosini at various times had been a member of the Duff Opera Company and the Emma Abbott Opera Company. More recently he had been organist and choirmaster of the Labor Temple, Manhattan, it was said.

"ROOKIE" NABS SUSPECTS.

Patrolman, on First Tour, Captures Three Accused of Robbery.

On his first tour of police duty, Patrolman John J. Cooney of the Bergen Street Station, Brooklyn, early yesterday morning captured three alleged burglars who he found in the restaurant of Anthony Viczen, at 170 Butler Street.

Cooney was passing the place when he saw a light, left burning by the proprietor, go out. He entered the unlocked door with drawn revolver, and cried into the darkness:

"Hands up!"

A big man came forward with his hands held aloft, and Cooney ordered him to switch on the lights. Behind the icebox the policeman saw two negroes crouching. They, too, had their hands up. Cooney took his captives to the station house, where they described themselves as Otto Huhn, 20 years old, of 211 Duffield Street; Reginald Matthews, 17, of 158 Third Avenue, and Harry Page, 17, of 551 Warren Street. Matthews and Page are negroes. Magistrate Walsh, in the Flatbush Court, held the prisoners in $2,500 bail each for a hearing today.

FIGHT AT A SCHOOL DANCE.

Charge Ex-Pupil Wouldn't Go and Knocked Instructor Down.

Frank Tobie, 19 years old, was locked up in the Poplar Street Station, Brooklyn, late yesterday afternoon charged with having assaulted Louis S. O'Dell, assistant principal of the Manual Training High School, Brooklyn. He lives at 524 Fifth Street, Brooklyn.

After school hours yesterday the senior class gave a dance in the High School hall and Tobie, a former pupil, was present. When his presence became known Mr. O'Dell went to him and asked him to leave, explaining that the dance was only for members of the class. It was charged that Tobie, after some talk, struck the principal in the face, knocking him down. Mr. O'Dell was attended by Dr. Atisforf, and it was said last night that his condition was such that he probably would be unable to appear today in the Flatbush Court to press the complaint.

FRENCH DUEL CALLED OFF.

Former Director of War Stock Sales Challenged a Deputy.

PARIS, March 11.—Arbitration has prevented a duel to which Deputy Emile Constant, former Director of the Liquidation of War Stocks, challenged Deputy Lesache, charging that M. Lesache had made offensive accusations of irregularities in disposing of surplus war material. M. Constant's witnesses demanded an immediate meeting on the field of honor, but the seconds of M. Lesache wanted to await the decision of a Parliamentary commission investigating the charges.

After a number of conferences both sides agreed to abide by the arbitration of Herbrard de Villeneuve, Vice President of the Council of State, who decided that Lesache's remarks be considered as withdrawn. Therefore there was no occasion for the duel.

BOND THIEVES' GANG SOON TO BE CAUGHT

Identity of Those Who Helped Dispose of $466,000 Worth to Be Established.

SUSPECT GIVES OUT CLUE

Abe Cohen Said to Have Admitted Handling $60,000 of Stolen Securities.

Following an all-day interrogation of Abe Cohen, who was arrested Thursday night in front of the Broadway Central Hotel in connection with the theft of $466,000 in Liberty bonds from two messengers employed by Kean, Taylor & Co., bankers, in a hold-up in Brooklyn, in November last, District Attorney Lewis of Brooklyn announced he expected to establish the identity of the band who disposed of the bonds for the three robbers and recover almost $100,000 worth of the bonds which have not been accounted for.

Supreme Court Justice Manning held Cohen in $50,000 bail, pending investigation. Cohen was taken into court on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by his counsel, but Justice Manning decided to hold him in high bail.

Cohen, Mr. Lewis said, admitted that he handled $60,000 worth of the stolen Liberty bonds which were traced to Nathaniel H. Wheeler, a mining promoter, with offices in the Arcade Building, 10 East Forty-third Street, Wednesday last. Wheeler and seven other men were arrested as material witnesses in the case, and were held in bail Thursday when arraigned in the Kings County Court.

The District Attorney said that Cohen admitted he had obtained the $60,000 worth of bonds from a man known as "Shorty," in a rendezvous in Bleecker Street, Manhattan, and turned them over to Elan R. Seeley, a broker, in the Woolworth Building, living at 2,105 Beverly Road, Brooklyn. Seeley, who also was held in $20,000 bail as a material witness, told Cohen he would obtain $21,000 on the bonds through a loan, but Cohen, the District Attorney stated, declared he received only $10,000 from Seeley. He told the District Attorney he turned the money over to "Shorty."

Mr. Lewis declared it was obvious that Cohen was withholding important information about his connection with the disposal of the missing bonds, and when he pressed him for a more detailed account of the matter Cohen suddenly exclaimed: "Well, I guess you've got me licked." The prosecutor said he would continue his questioning of Cohen today and expected him to break down and tell all he knows.

Daniel G. Stebbins of Philadelphia, who surrendered himself at Police Headquarters several days ago, and later was held in $35,000 bail in the Kings County Court as a material witness in the Kean-Taylor robbery, appeared before Justice Manning shortly before Cohen's arraignment on the writ, and through his counsel, Henry Ginnane of the law firm of Fallon & McGee, sought to have his bail reduced, but the court refused to do so.

MRS. NICOLL MAY WALK.

Hope of Discarding Crutches Given by Dr. Albee's Operation.

Hope was expressed yesterday that Mrs. De Lancey Nicoll, who lost the use of her right leg after an automobile accident while she was doing war work in England in 1915, would be able to walk without crutches by and by, as the result of an operation performed some months ago by Dr. Fred H. Albee. Parts of the bone which became infected after the fracture were removed from Mrs. Nicoll's thigh, and after she had recovered from the operation the limb was useless. Dr. Albee removed a long splinter from the tibia and substituted it for the missing bone in the thigh.

Mr. Nicoll, asked yesterday about the operation, said the graft was stronger and at the same time the tibia was recovering its thickness, and the doctors anticipated that after some months Mrs. Nicoll would be able to discard her crutches.

RIFLED MAIL FOR "ADS."

Clerk Answered Several, Saying He Was a "Long-Lost Brother."

Thomas Pericles, a drug clerk employed at Palisade Park, N. J., was arraigned before Judge John C. Knox, charged with having used the mails in furtherance of a swindling scheme, in which he is alleged to have represented himself as "the long-lost brother" in replies to advertisements in search of relatives. He was arrested on Jan. 28 and has since been in the Tombs. Judge Knox, on his arraignment yesterday, ordered Pericles to be sent to Bellevue Hospital.

The indictment charges that under the name of Peter Karazon, Pericles answered an advertisement inserted in a newspaper by Andrew Karazon, East Pittsburgh, Pa. Pericles, it is charged, mailed a leter to the advertiser, saying that he was sick in New York and that he would go to Pittsburgh if fare money were sent to him.

X-RAY SHOWS TOOTH IN LUNG

Operation Is Necessary, but May Cause J. B. Broad's Death.

WILMINGTON, March 11.—An X-ray photograph of James B. Broad, Controller of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Company, who is in a critical condition at a local hospital, showed that the cause of his illness was the lodgment of a tooth in his lungs, attending physicians announced today. They say Mr. Broad had four teeth extracted several weeks ago, taking gas for the operation, and they believe that one of the extracted teeth accidentally slipped down the windpipe.

The physicians assert that unless an operation is performed at once Mr. Broad cannot recover, while, on the other hand, it is feared an operation may prove fatal, as the patient is extremely weak.

VANDERBILTS ASKED TO RENDER ACCOUNTING

Petitioner Claims Over $100,000 Left by the Commodore to Daughter Catherine.

Application was made in the Surrogate's Court yesterday for an order directing William K. Vanderbilt Jr. and Harold S. Vanderbilt, as executors under the will of their father, William K. Vanderbilt, to account for the elder Vanderbilt's stewardship of a trust fund left by his father, Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, who died in 1877. The beneficiary was Miss Adele Schmidt Barker, who died in Bonn, Germany, last July, and the accounting was demanded by her nephew, Harold C. Barker.

The petition said that Commodore Vanderbilt left a trust fund for his daughter, Catherine Lafitte, whose children were to get the income after her death. Mrs. Lafitte died in 1887, leaving four children, one of whom was Miss Barker. The petitioner said that he was her only next of kin and that two wills she made were not valid in this country to dispose of Lake Shore & Michigan securities worth $129,000, part of the legacy left by Commodore Vanderbilt.

Mr. Barker set forth that one will made in 1911 gave $69,000 of the securities to a sister, Virginia Barker; $40,000 to a friend, Anna Klepper, and $20,000 to the Clarence Barker Memorial in Baltimore, Md. The other will made in 1918 canceled the $40,000 legacy to Anna Klepper and directed that he receive the $69,000 if his aunt, Virginia Barker, did not survive. She has since died and the petitioner was entitled to all of the funds, he contended, but intended to carry out his aunt's wishes as to the $20,000 memorial gift. He also contended that since the late William K. Vanderbilt was the last of the three trustees to die the estate should turn over the securities to him.

REMITS GIRLS' SENTENCE.

Magistrate Changes Picketers' Jail Term From Five Days to One.

Two young women pickets in the clothing strike were yesterday sentenced to five days each in the workhouse by Magistrate Bernard J. Douras in Yorkville Court. They were Leah Gessler, 21 years, 132 East 113th Street, and Vera Romonoff, 22, of 544 Fox Street, the Bronx. The charge against them was disorderly conduct. Miss Martha Nanke of 165 Woodlawn Street, Jersey City, testified that she was set upon last Thursday night by the two girls and beaten as she was leaving a clothing factory where she is employed at 21 East Twenty-eighth Street. Before he adjourned court, the Magistrate called the two girls from their cells. They were weeping.

"I believe one day in jail has given you the feeling that it pays to obey the law," said Magistrate Douras. "I am going to rescind the five-day sentence and put you on probation for six months under a bond of $500. However, you must promise first that you will never resort to trouble again. If you must picket, do it peaceably, in accordance with the law."

The two prisoners promised to obey the Court's injunction.

The Committee on Inquiry, appointed on Thursday by Mayor Hylan to investigate the dispute between the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America and the Clothing Manufacturers' Association of New York, with a view to effecting a speedy settlement of the fourteen weeks' controversy, will take up its work atcively this morning. George Gordon Battle, Chairman of the committee, did not receive notice of his appointment until yesterday. He immediately wrote the Mayor accepting the appointment, and requested other members of the committee to be at his office at 10:30 o'clock this morning to formulate plans of procedure.

JUDGE TIERNAN SUES CITY.

Asks $998.85 for Damages to Auto Hit by Richmond Trolley Car.

County Judge J. Harry Tiernan of Richmond has begun civil action against New York City to recover $998.85 damages which he said were caused to his automobile by a municipally operated trolley car at Port Richmond on Jan. 10. The complaint and the answer of the city were filed yesterday in the New Brighton municipal court.

Attached to his complaint is a statement in which Judge Tiernan describes the municipal operation of trolleys on Staten Island as a "notorious public nuisance to the city and the public, the taxpayers and others of Staten Island." The accident happened at Jewett Avenue and Castleton Avenue. The city alleged that the rear light of Judge Tiernan's car was not lighted, and that the motorman of the car did not see the automobile until it was too late to avoid hitting it. No date has been set for the hearing.

BORN MARCH 4 AT SEA.

Harding Dougherty Arrives on the Santa Marta From Colon.

The stork visited the United Fruit Company's steamship Santa Marta on March 4 when she was one day out from Colon on her way to this port. It was the first baby to be born on the company's steamships in seven years, and as such an event is always considered good luck Captain Alexander Berks received the congratulations of the line officials when the Santa Marta arrived yesterday.

Little Harding Dougherty, named after the President because he was born on inauguration day, is the son of James Dougherty of 1,652 Atlantic Avenue, Brooklyn, an official of the Consolidated Gas Meter Company of 111 First Avenue.

JEWELER IS SLAIN IN DAYLIGHT HOLD-UP

2 YOUNG SUSPECTS SOUGHT

Victim Bound and Gagged, but May Have Partly Freed Himself When Killed.

Abraham Harris, 42 years old, a jeweler, was bound, gagged, robbed and murdered in his shop at 2,268 Eighth Avenue, near 123d Street, about 9:30 yesterday morning, while hundreds of people passed in front of his store on a busy block.

Policeman Broderick was at 122d Street and Eighth Avenue when Patrick Harris, colored, of 316 East 129th Street, reached him out of breath and said:

"Two young fellows just came out of that jewelry store in an awful hurry with some trays under their arms. There's a dog barking inside and I think there's been a robbery."

The policeman found the body of Harris lying across a doorway in the rear of the store. His dog, a bull terrier, sat beside the body, growling. The policeman pacified the dog, but could not entice him away from the body, which blocked the passage into the room where the murder had been committed.

There was no collar on the dog by which he could be dragged away. Although not a savage animal, the dog protested so much against efforts to move him or his master's body that the policeman had to desist. Finally he untied the leather on his nightstick and looped it around the neck of the dog. Then Broderick and two other men took hold of the nightstick and pulled. The dog struggled to brace its feet on the wooden floor and strained every muscle. Still emitting half-strangled barks and attempting to plunge in the direction of the dead man, the dog was tied some distance away.

All Safeguards Failed.

Harris had relied for protection from burglars on three things—the dog, his pistol and the safety afforded by the busy street. Why the dog, which showed such marks of faithfulness after the murder, had failed to act before the shooting has not been explained. As to the pistol, one of the shots which killed the jeweler apparently came from his own weapon, which was found on the floor. And the jeweler had cut himself off from any protection, having screened the inside of the shop, filling every inch of space in the windows with cards on which jewelry was displayed and with small pictures and placards.

Scores of persons were in the adjoining shops, in the apartments overhead and on the sidewalk when the shots were fired, but the roar of the elevated railroad in Eighth Avenue and the blasts of automobile cutouts had so accustomed the neighborhood to noise that the shots went unnoticed.

Detectives found Harris dead of two bullet wounds, one in the neck just above the collarbone and one in the chest. He was tangled in telephone wire and rope attached to a chair beside the body, and had been gagged with a necktie. Harris had freed himself from the ropes and wires, which were tied hastily with the object of keeping him out of the way for the few minutes the thieves required. But the robbers had run toward the rear room and shot him before he could tear out the gag and scream for help. One of the bullets, Chief Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Norris found later, had severed the spinal cord, causing instant unconsciousness and death within a minute or two.

Loot of Slight Value.

The robbers evidently had been plundering a small open safe when they broke off to kill Harris and probably fled at once with the trays from the safe.

Apparently the robbers were not in the place more than five minutes. David Harris, a brother of the dead man and a partner in the business, checked over the stock with Detectives Senff and Trainor of the homicide squad and found that the value of the stolen goods was trifling. The trays taken from the safe were the only things disturbed. These contained gold-plated jewelry of small value and mounted chip diamonds, the whole worth a few hundred dollars.

What took place between the robbers and the proprietor could be only surmised. One theory was that after one man had covered the jeweler, the second took his pistol and used it later for the shooting. It also was thought that the robbers, after disarming Harris, forgot about his weapon and allowed it to lie within reach, so that he was able to get free, seize the weapon and fire a shot before being killed.

The two who left with the trays were described as little more than boys, and the job, according to the detectives, was the work of inexperienced robbers. This was shown by their picking out the store, which carried a cheap line of goods, and by satisfying themselves with the plated articles in the safe when there were more valuable articles at hand. That one or both may have been sellers at the shop was suggested by the failure of the dog to intervene when his master was forced into the rear room and tied to the chair.

BUCKET SHOPS HIS TARGET.

Senator Pitcher Explains Proposed Wall Street Inquiry.

No official comment was made in Stock Exchange circles yesterday in relation to the resolution presented to the State Senate on Thursday by Senator Pitcher, which provides for a legislative investigation of certain practices in Wall Street. The resolution, however, was a topic of discussion in brokerage houses, and several concerns endeavored to obtain information for their own use as to what the scope of the investigation would include.

One Stock Exchange house communicated with Senator Pitcher direct and was informed that the resolution was directed against bucket shops primarily and would not affect Stock Exchange houses, whose business conduct is governed by the rules of the Stock Exchange's Committee on Business Conduct. The reply said in part:

"My bill introduced yesterday (Thursday) is not aimed at Stock Exchange houses, as the New York Stock Exchange has its own rules, which are very drastic. It is aimed at brokers who advertise to buy low-priced stocks and who either don't buy them at all or buy and immediately sell them out at great injury to small investors. When the customers wish to secure their stock certificates they find that it is almost impossible to do so."

In the offices of numerous Stock Exchange firms the opinion was freely expressed that such an investigation would be welcomed, with the hope that once and for all time the so-called "bucket shop" would be eliminated.

STOPS ANTI-TRANSIT PETITION IN SCHOOLS

Ettinger Blocks Effort to Get Pupils' Signatures Against Miller Bill.

Dr. William L. Ettinger, Superintendent of Schools, stopped yesterday an attempt to obtain the signatures of thousands of school children to petitions protesting against the passage of Governor Miller's Traction bill. The circulars, responsibility for which was disclaimed by city officials opposed to the bill, were sent out by the "Public Welfare League and Students' Aid Society," through its Secretary, Mrs. Rae Dymond of 294 Montauk Avenue, Brooklyn.

The circulars were printed on yellow paper, with a space for signatures, and were distributed to high school pupils and those of the Seventh and Eighth Grades throughout the city. The text of the circulars read as follows:

> Petition to Legislature at Albany to prevent the Traction Trust from raising car fares in New York. We are against the fare grab bill. The Public Welfare League and Student Aid Society, through Mayor Hylan of New York, are making a strenuous effort to prevent the passage of the fare grab bill. We, the undersigned, students of the Seventh and Eighth years of the grammar schools, and including all high schools of New York, respectfully request that the Legislature use all proper means in vote against the increase fare bill, their power to oppose the passage and By co-operating with us you will obtain your rights.
> Mrs. RAE DYMOND,
> Committee Secretary.
> Indorsed and approved: Hon. Mayor Hylan of New York City, Hon. H. La Guardia, President of Board of Aldermen; Hon. H. Johnson, United States Senator; Gustave Straubenmueller, Associate Superintendent Board of Education; Arthur S. Somers, Board of Education.

On receipt of information concerning the circulars, copies of which were sent to many schools, Dr. Ettinger sent out the following letter:

> To District Superintendents and Principals:
>
> I am informed that blank forms of a petition to the Legislature in reference to a protest against legislation applying to railroad fares have been sent out to the public schools of this city for the purpose of securing signatures of pupils in high schools and in the Seventh and Eighth Grades of elementary schools.
>
> Your attention is called to the fact that there has been no official authorization for the circulation of such a petition in our schools and such circulation is hereby prohibited. Dr. Gustave Straubenmueller, Assistant Superintendent of Schools, and Arthur S. Somers, member of the Board of Education, whose names appear on the petition, state that the use of their names is without authorization.

City officials seen disclaimed all knowledge of the circulars. No comment could be obtained from Mayor Hylan when he was asked through John F. Sinnott, his secretary, concerning the circulars. John P. O'Brien, Corporation Counsel, denied that Senator Johnson had approved them.

Mr. LaGuardia said he did not authorize the use of his name and disapproved the circulation of petitions of any kind in the schools. "It is ridiculous to ask children to sign such a protest," he said. "This is no child's fight; it is a man's fight."

A debate on the Governor's Traction bill will be conducted at the Broadway Tabernacle Forum, Fifty-sixth Street and Broadway, next Tuesday evening, under the direction of the League of Women Voters of Manhattan Borough. Travis H. Whitney, former Public Service Commissioner, will speak for the Governor's plan, and Henry H. Curran, Borough President of Manhattan, against it.

TRANSIT BILL MAY BE PASSED TUESDAY

Making Today Legislative Day Allows Supporters to Push Measure Ahead.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—Additional amendments were made today to Governor Miller's Transit bill. They were minor changes, and for the most part to correct clerical errors.

With these incorporated, the measure was immediately sent to the printer and was back in the Senate and Assembly this evening. Tomorrow will be made a legislative day in both houses for the first time this session so that the leaders may push through the bill just as fast as the legislative law will allow. This action indicates that an attempt to pass the bill will be made next Tuesday.

Senator Duggan of New York, Republican, resumed his attacks on the transit measure in a statement he issued tonight.

"Exposure of the 'widows and orphans' of the financial world who will be benefited by passage of the Knight-Adler bill shows beyond a shadow of a doubt that this measure is brought forth in the interest of big business," said the statement.

"I have shown that the public utilities companies in New York City alone will be benefited to the tune of approximately $600,000,000 in increased rates to be charged by the Public Service Commission operating under the Knight-Adler-Miller law.

"I have charged that the 'widows and orphans' class of investor in traction securities holds less than 1 per cent. of the capital stock of these companies.

"I will not show that the real widows and orphans who will be benefited by the passage of the act are the Rockefellers, Morgans and Pratts, the insurance companies and the banks and the great contributors to political campaign funds.

"In the face of this exposure of the true intent of the Knight-Adler bill, I do not see how any legislator can vote for the measure and claim he is upholding the public interest.

"If the framers of the utility steal were sincere they would not attempt to pander to public sentiment by merely giving the New York City Transit Commission permission to include the claims of widows and orphans created by the Malbone Street wreck in Brooklyn. They would have made such care mandatory and level legislative guns against the 'widows and orphans' of the Rockefeller, Morgan type who are the real beneficiaries of the Knight-Adler bill."

NEW PICKFORD BRIEF FILED.

Attorney Disputes Authority of Nevada Official in Divorce Case.

MINDEN, Nev., March 11.—District Judge Dangan had under consideration today a brief filed by the attorney for Mary Pickford (Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks), contending that the Attorney General of Nevada was without authority when he filed an action to have set aside the divorce to her from Owen Moore.

The brief contended that the State was represented at the trial by the court and that the court's action in granting the decree was conclusive and final. The brief also said the Attorney General had failed to disclose anything in the Nevada laws countenancing the theory that he had the right to review divorce cases.

Removal proceedings have been filed against Judge Langan in the Legislature because of his alleged failure to perform certain judicial duties and Miss Pickford's attorney filed his brief today so there would be no conflict with the removal proceedings.

TEACHERS ATTACK BILLS AS RADICAL

ONE ENDS CHECK ON SPEECH

Creation of Board of Appeals for Passing on Charges Against Teachers Opposed.

The Teachers' Council disapproved yesterday of three Senate bills, Nos. 542, 543 and 544, introduced by Senator Duggan, and asked that they be not passed. Aaron I. Dotey of De Witt Clinton High School said that the bills were approved by the Teachers' Union, a radical organization. Three other associations, he declared, also favored them, but did not know fully about them or they would oppose them.

One of these bills, he said, allowed a teacher to express his opinion on subjects without being held responsible by any one at the Board of Education building. Without mentioning the name he read a statement by a member of the Teachers' Union, said to have been made at a public meeting, which defended Boshevism and favored a treaty with Soviet Russia. It was such things as these, Mr. Dotey said, that the bill would permit a teacher to say without any interference from the City Superintendent.

He said that he did not criticise Senator Duggan for introducing the bills, because often a Senator or Assemblyman introduced a bill simply because he was asked to do so. He said that the teacher, whom he had not named, had defended the three teachers who were dismissed from the service for their radical views, and that he had declared he was again prepared to defend them. It was not wise, he thought, to allow such a teacher to speak as he wanted to do and not have any one who could call him to account.

Another of the Duggan bills, Mr. Dotey continues, created a Board of Appeals, to which an accused teacher could carry his case. The Board of Appeals was to consist partly of teachers, who might belong to the same association as the person to be tried. Such a thing, he maintained, would not be permitted in any court in the land.

Mrs. Edna M. Bryant, President of the Progressive Elementary Teachers Association, defended the bill. She said that she was with Mr. Dotey in his attitude toward radical teachers, but she believes that the bills were good. She did not think that under them a teacher would be allowed to say things in her class room that the educational authorities did not sanction.

Edward B. Stryker said the people would deal in the proper way with the radicals when occasion demanded. After further discussion the motion to disapprove of the three bills was carried with apparently only one dissenting vote.

The Antin bill, which calls for the teaching of Americanization in the public schools, was approved so far as its spirit was concerned, but certain amendments to the bill, such as a trial before a teacher could be dismissed, were declared to be necessary before it could be approved as a whole.

The bill regarding teachers, introduced by Mr. Yeager, said to be a Socialist member of the Legislature, was disapproved.

It was resolved to request the Board of Education to name one of the new high schools after the late Jerome A. O'Connell, member of the Board of Examiners. Several members spoke in high eulogy of Mr. O'Connell.

Teachers, principally from the Teachers' Union, the Teachers' Interests Organization, Professional Elementary Teachers' Association and the Teachers' Welfare League, held a mass meeting in Public School 59, Fifty-seventh Street, last evening. The system of rating teachers was denounced. Senator William Duggan was one of the speakers. He said that his bills were in the best interests of the teachers and that he would support them heartily. They upheld principles under which the teaching force should be governer, he said. He hoped to have enacted into law a bill, he said, that would give justice to the teachers by giving her the right to appeal to the Supreme Court for a legal adjudication of her case.

Assemblyman Frederick A. Wells of Brooklyn, said that if his bills passed he would see that Governor Miller signed them.

Petitions in favor of his bills were circulated and will be sent to Albany.

14 DRY YEARS COMING, SAYS FRENCH PROPHET

Abbe Moreux Says Rain and Drought Alternate in 17-Year Periods.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 11.—The dry Winter and Spring, which have caused the rivers of France to fall to Summer level at the time when they should be highest, is nothing out of the ordinary, if one is to believe Abbé Moreaux, director of the Observatory of Bourges. All it means is that one of the dry periods in European history is now in full swing. This period, the Abbé says, began in 1918, when a seventeen-year rainy period ended simultaneously with the war, and the weather began to brighten up. This dry period is scheduled to reach its driest about 1926 and will last till 1935, when the next rainy period is due.

Abbé Moreux does not make this prophecy about the weather without due historical consideration. On examination of the statistics of rainfall and sunshine for Western Europe since the beginning of the nineteenth century he has found that there have been four wet and three dry periods, and that the fourth dry period is now in progress. In the equatorial region, where the same phenomenon is observed, the length of both wet and dry periods is about eleven years; but in Europe the periods vary from fourteen to seventeen years.

The reasons for these alternating periods is to be found, the Abbé declares, in recurrent periods of solar activity. When the sun is normal the dry periods come, and when it is disturbed by spots on its surface then the rains are heaviest and most frequent. During the rainy period the mean temperature of the year is higher than during the dry years, when cold Winter are scheduled as a compensation for dry and sunny Summers.

According to the Abbé's calculation, France is in for another fourteen years of dry weather, and the Seine bargers are desolate at the news. Already at the season when the rivers and canals ought to be at their highest, they find it impossible to make voyages on the smaller canals, and, like the farmers, they are crying out for rain.

MORE NEW STABLES THAN APARTMENTS

Realty Men Insist Rent Laws Curb Home Construction Despite Tax Exemption.

COSTS CALLED TOO HIGH

Tenants Will Not Pay Price In Buildings Put Up Now With Old Ones Vacant.

The new rent laws have stopped the construction of dwellings, according to a statement yesterday by Victor M. Earle, Vice President and Treasurer of the real estate firm of Earle & Calhoun, who took issue with recent statements by Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland and Arthur J. W. Hilly, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Housing. Mr. Earle said that both Commissioner Copeland and Chairman Hilly have stated that the real estate interests have overlooked the fact that these statutes do not apply to new construction. Mr. Earle denied this.

"There were four times more office and loft buildings erected than apartment buildings in spite of equal cost of labor and material and in spite of a far greater demand for apartments," said the statement, referring to the last year. "There was twice as much spent in construction of garages and stables as apartments. Office and loft buildings, garages and stables were not restricted by the rent laws and builders turned to them from the construction of apartments, which were greatly restricted by the rent laws. We believe the conclusion is too obvious to mention.

"Although new buildings do not come under the rent restrictions, they are directly affected by rent legislation. They must compete with the old buildings, and tenants will not pay the rent in new buildings, which of necessity is very high, when they can go to or remain in old buildings where the rents, as regulated by the rent laws and as compared to the rent of new buildings, are low. A tenant will pay a higher rent for the privilege of getting possession of a new apartment, but not to the extent that a builder would have to charge in erecting a new building."

Mr. Earle said that overcrowding in apartments had been caused by the scarcity of apartments due to the rent laws, and was at a loss to explain why Commissioner Copeland should become such a strong advocate of the new laws in the face of these conditions. He added that restriction was not the solution of the problem, which could be solved only by experts.

WATERWAY PLEA TO HARDING

Mississippi Valley Association Asks Support of Its Program.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—President Harding was urged today to co-operate with the efforts of the Mississippi Valley Association to develop inland waterways, extend the American merchant marine through the creation of new overseas routes from Southern ports, and continue equal export freight rates from Central Western States to South and North Atlantic ports. The appeal was contained in a letter to the President from Harry H. Merrick of Chicago, President of the Mississippi Valley Association, and which was delivered to President Harding by Senator Ransdell of Louisiana as representative of the Congressional delegations from Mississippi Valley territory.

Mr. Merrick's letter informed the President that the twenty-seven States of the Mississippi Valley region were jointly striving to obtain the following objectives:

First—The completion of the demonstration of the practical economy of inland waterway transportation through the operation of the Mississippi-Warrior Barge Lines, initiated by the people of the valley and put into operation by the Federal Government, and the development of an adequate inland waterway system of transportation through the completion of the principal channel projects.

Second—The continued development by the United States Shipping Board, under Section 7 of the Merchant Marine act, 1920, of overseas trade routes from uncongested Southern ports, thus enabling shippers from the Middle West to utilize any port through which they may move products with the greatest economy and efficiency.

Third—The continuation of the justified export rail rates from the Central Western States to Southern ports on a parity with the rates to North Atlantic ports, as developed by the United States Railroad Administration.

"At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Valley Association, held in St. Louis," Mr. Merrick wrote the President, "I was directed to bring these facts to your attention. We want you to know our hopes and endeavors, and, in the interest of the welfare of this great region, we ask your sympathy and co-operation."

Found Three Floridans Adrift and Took Them to Corunna, Spain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Three men who had been adrift in an open boat at sea for six days have been rescued in a starving condition at a point seventy miles east of Jupiter Lightship, off the Florida coast, according to information reaching the State Department today.

The men are Richard Lee, James Ferguson and Ira Simmons of Miami, Fla. They went fishing in a motorboat, which became damaged and floated out to sea. After they had been adrift six days they were sighted and rescued by the Dutch liner Zeelandia on Feb. 26. They were landed in good condition on March 9 at Corunna, Spain. The American Consulate at Corunna will assist these Americans by arranging for their transportation homeward via Cuba on the Black Arrow, leaving Corunna March 15.

TRADE IS UNSTABLE, AND UNREST GROWS

Grains, Dairy Products and Iron Are All Lower Than Was Expected.

CLOTHING IS ACTIVE

But the General Offer of Lower Wages Has Reacted Everywhere.

Reports of trade conditions in various parts of the country indicate that considerable irregularity still prevails, while there is also an increase in unrest in industrial centres, due to the lower wages offered. It is reported, however, that activity is noticeable in the clothing trade, but that a less optimistic feeling exists. Bradstreet's review says:

"Continued irregularity in trade and industrial lines; something like a transference of distributive trade activities from primary to secondary lines and markets; rather less steadiness in commodities, especially grains, which are generally lower on larger than expected Government estimates of old supplies, and dairy products, iron and steel and other metals; some weakness in securities markets set over against rallies in exchange rates, and last, but not least, a very general move on the part of the country's railways to readjust cost of operation in the matter of wages of their employes, are among the outstanding features in the week's dispatches.

"Indeed, the general labor situation is more than recently a subject of interest and presumably a cause of caution in buying. Withal, there may be said to have been a fair to quiet trade at wholesale and with manufacturers, slightly more activity in retail buying, especially in women's wear, despite rather cold weather in some sections, and a continuance of the slow collections previously noted."

Dun's Review says: "With the advancing season, there is some stimulation of activities in certain directions, and an early opening of Spring trade is foreshadowed. Favorable weather and the near approach of Easter are helpful to retail distribution in different sections, and offerings of new merchandise are meeting with a readier sale than had been expected in some quarters. The reported paucity of supplies in a few lines, as in some textile branches, also gives moderate impetus to buying and a measure of support of prices after a protracted period of yielding.

Broadly considered, however, the situation is still marked by various unsatisfactory features, especially in industrial channels, and revised estimates of the general purchasing power are necessitated by the frequent wage reductions and restricted manufacturing operations."

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—7½ to 7¾% for the best names.
Thursday—7½ to 7¾% for the best names.
The quotations are for six months' paper.

More Gray Goods Prices Break.

Although a pretty fair volume of business was transacted in the local market for gray goods yesterday, it was confined quite largely to certain constructions of printcloths that had eased off over night. Most important among them were 39-inch 68-72s and 38½-inch 64-60s at 7¼ and 6⅝ cents, respectively, which were taken for March delivery. Trading in 5.50-yard sheetings was done at 5 cents, but there was not much else put through in the line of coarse-yarn fabrics. Specialties also were quiet.

Re-orders Not Heavy.

One unsettling factor in the garment trade as well as in other store lines is the lack of a satisfactory or usual re-order business. Even though conditions have greatly improved with the liquidation of surplus stocks and a restored consumer demand, most buyers have not deviated much from the policy which was laid down at the turn of the year and which called for purchases almost immediately needed. Slight scarcities have developed in certain trades, but these have not had the effect of encouraging future orders to any great extent.

Novelty Sweater Demand Good.

The approach of Easter has brought with it an increasing demand for all kinds of novelty sweaters for women. Silk and fibre silk goods are generally in favor, but in the wool sweaters the call is quite largely restricted to very light-weight effects. In the latter, high-necked smocks are in great vogue, while in the silks and the fibres the demand is divided between tuxedo models and "tie-backs." The color trend is all in favor of the bright shades. Silver gray is leading, with Harding blue coming strongly for second place. Other "good" shades are sand, tomato and rust. Jade green and burned orange are returning to favor.

Cotton Dresses to the Fore.

New lines of cotton dresses, which were opened up some ten days ago, are proving good sellers, and retailers are confident of doing a brisk business on them when they are offered in the stores. Wholesale surpluses are said to be very small, owing to the price reductions which were made to promote their liquidation when cotton goods values were slashed. The business now being placed on the new lines has caused somewhat of a slump in the demand for taffeta dresses, and these are now offered at concessions. Crepe dresses, however, do not seem to have suffered much from the swing of orders to cotton garments.

Sale of Dress Goods.

General reports have it that the Fall bookings on dress goods have been unusually heavy, and to support this opinion there is the evidence of lines which have been sold up and withdrawn shortly after the openings. Some buyers, however, are taking this sudden return of prosperity with the proverbial "grain of salt." From their study of the market and the operations of the garment manufacturers they are not so willing to believe that an entire season's business has been taken. They tend rather to the theory that the mills have taken all the orders they wish to take in the circumstances, and production is to be arbitrarily limited to a period which will provide a clearer view of the future. With respect to this view, the rumor of a second Fall opening is mentioned.

Demand Stronger for Coats.

A much stronger demand has been noted lately for women's coats on so-called "wrappy" lines. The business started late, it is said, and as a result stocks are not plentiful now that such garments are wanted. In the lower-priced lines the favored fabrics are velours, and those on the duvetyn order, as well as tricotines. The higher-priced ranges favor the very soft finishes and materials of the bolivia character. Satin coats still occupy a rather uncertain position, and quilted effects especially. The latter are expected to see a popular but short run in this city and to be played up more prominently out of town.

Future Business on Tricotines.

A short while ago a mill which makes a good grade of tricotine reported an offer for its season's production from several garment manufacturers, and from this it was inferred that future business on this fabric would be just as large or larger than the present demand. All dress goods buyers, however, are not this confident, and have not settled for themselves whether tricotine will continue as popular as it has been. In looking forward at Fall prospects, it is figured that dress manufacturers will continue to use quantities of the material, but it is considered doubtful that either the suit or skirt manufacturers will use very much of it. This, of course, would serve to reduce the outlet. Another opinion in the market, however, is that tricotines have largely replaced serge as a staple.

Buyers Acted Very Quickly.

Local buyers of napped cottons, both jobbers and manufacturers, broke all records for prompt action in placing business yesterday morning following the pricing of these goods for Fall delivery by the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company at levels approximately two-thirds lower than the same goods were quoted a year ago. The new prices cover goods to be made and shipped between June and October. They are based on 12½ cent net for narrow Daisy cloth, against 37½ cents last year, and 12 cents net for "1921" cloth. The latter was priced last year at 35 cents for "lights" and at 37½ cents for "darks." The 36-inch goods used by the manufacturing trade are priced in proportion. The prices made on the narrower goods to the jobbers will permit them to be retailed this Fall considerably below the 1920 quotations at the mills. While it was impossible yesterday to say how much of the goods would be produced during the months specified, one of the selling agents asserted that none of them had been made for four months.

Hard Coal Demand Poor.

The demand for anthracite coal is at such a low ebb, Saward's Journal will say today, that it is a question if the companies will be able to maintain full-time operations throughout the remainder of the month without stocking considerable tonnage. Quite a good many of the independents have already closed down or are running on reduced schedules, and even some of the companies have begun to curtail. The soft coal trade is characterized by a continued absence of new business on a scale broad enough to impart greater strength to current quotations.

⁂

The Hats That Are Wanted.

Women's hats of fabric and straw, used in combination, are most in demand in the local millinery trade at the moment. Milan is the most popular straw, but as it is extremely scarce and expensive its use is confined to the higher-priced hats. In the less expensive models milan hemp, liseré, fancy straws and yedda are much used. As to colors, gray is still holding its own. Although earlier in the season the demand for bright colors was large, the trend seems now to be toward the darker shades. Black is reported to be "good." Red is growing in demand. Henna is still liked, but the call for "tangerine" is said to be dwindling. Delft and other light shades of blue are well thought of, but the new blue named for the President's wife has as yet made no headway to speak of. Cherries, currants and small berries are the best-selling trimmings.

CANTON STEEL MILLS MERGE

Three Concerns Will Have Gross Balance of $42,000,000.

CANTON, Ohio, March 11.—Announcement of the proposed merger of the United Alloy Steel Corporation with the Berger Manufacturing Company and the United Furnace Company, all of Canton, was made by the United Alloy Steel Corporation this morning. The consolidation will have a gross balance sheet of $42,000,000.

A meeting of the stockholders of the three companies has been called to ratify the merger, which will mean the construction of an additional blast furnace, several open hearth furnaces and a finishing mill.

It was also announced that the United Alloy plants would resume operations next Tuesday on a reduced production basis. Employment will be given several hundred men. The plants have been closed since late in November.

Spot Copper Down to 11¾.

Another drop in the price of copper was registered yesterday, when sales for spot delivery were made at 11¾ cents per pound, another new low record for the current downward swing.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

A Continuance of the Excess of Declines Over Advances.

Nearly three declines to every advance in wholesale commodities prices was shown this week by Dun's list, making the forty-fourth week in succession in which there have been more "downs" than "ups." Of the eighty-one revisions noted this week in a list embracing more than 300 articles, fifty-nine were downward. Last week, in eighty-eight changes, there were sixty-six declines. The foodstuffs group showed the current week's largest number of fluctuations, twenty-six, of which only ten were advances.

The following table gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on commodities selected from the list mentioned above. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for last week and the corresponding week a year ago:

*Nominal.

Save for bacon, which advanced, all of the changes in the local provisions prices were downward. Both Spring patent and Winter straight flour were lower, and Middle Western lard also dropped. In the Chicago market mess pork and short ribs were unchanged, with live sheep higher. Live beef and pork went down there.

More changes were seen in the dairy products list than for some time. The best creamery butter broke 5½ cents a pound, and there was a drop of a cent a pound in State dairy stock of the common to fair grade. The best cheese advanced slightly, but a rise of 3 cents a pound was noted in the under grades. Egg prices were again lower. Fancy nearby eggs fell off 3 cents a dozen, while the best Westerns declined half that much.

A rise of 50 cents a barrel in common apples was the only change recorded in the listed fresh fruits. Declines in citron, prunes and raisins contributed the revisions in the dried ones. For the first time in quite a while the vegetables list showed no changes in the price of beans, but onions and potatoes advanced 25 cents a bag and barrel, respectively. Both basic grades of Brazilian coffees declined. In the spices, a rise in Cochin ginger contrasted with declines in mace and nutmegs. Raw sugar advanced, as did fine granulated. The latter is now quoted at 8 cents a pound, against 14 cents at this time a year ago.

All of the revisions in the grains list were downward. They included wheat, corn, oats, rye and prime timothy hay. The listed leathers again were unchanged, but in the hides lower prices were named on No. 1 Texas, Colorado, branded cows and No. 1 country steer stock. Spelter and lead were higher in the metals, these being the first advances seen in that part of the list for some time. Against them, however, were nine declines covering a wide range of things. Long leaf yellow pine, Douglas fir timbers and pine air-dried "roofers" were quoted lower in the lumber section.

Only five of the twenty-two changes in drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils were upward. Features were lacking. Advances in resin and turpentine took place in the naval stores. Both Brazilian and Eastern crude rubber moved up in price, and there was also a rise in Japanese raw silk. Hemp declined.

The feature of the week in the textile markets was the drastic cuts made in napped goods for Fall delivery by one of the biggest factors in the industry. Gray goods also eased off during the week. In the woolens the most interesting happening was the pricing of Fall fancy suitings at levels substantially under those current last year. Burlaps were again lower, due in part to the weaker position of the rupee in international exchange. Cables from Calcutta telling of curtailed production were not enough to offset it.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

General Decline in Railway and Industrial Stocks—A Million Shares Dealt In.

Yesterday's decline on the Stock Exchange, which affected industrial and railway shares alike, was more general and in some respects more severe than any that has occurred since last December, and the actual business done reached a million shares for the first time in nearly nine weeks. In the railway stocks there was more irregularity than perhaps might have been expected from their movement yesterday; for some of them recovered in the early trading, and, although many of them fell 1 to 2 points afterward, all closed above the lowest. But the unsettlement in that quarter of the market was made the basis for heavy selling of the industrial stocks, partly, though not wholly, from professional sources. Declines of 2 to 3 points were fairly numerous in that group and there was little recovery at the last.

The market did not move in response to any new turn in the general situation; except for the railway wage-cut announcements, there was less news than usual such as would affect financial sentiment. But although the railway shares were not the weakest, the market clearly pivoted on the railway situation. This meant only that the announced program of the railway managements has drawn attention to the peculiar character of the position. Taken by themselves, these proposals are neither novel nor unusual for a period of severe business reaction, with the resultant decrease in traffic. But the real cause of perplexity is the coincidence of such a trade reaction, not predicted beforehand in the scope that it has assumed, with working costs which had just been jacked up to a level measured by the business of abnormally active times.

In face of the changed conditions since the Labor Board's increase of 25 per cent. in railway wages by the award of last July, the present move for revision of the wage schedules was inevitable. The board itself, in rejecting last month's request for immediate abrogation of the war agreements on pay for unskilled labor, did not pass judgment on the principle but objected to making decision without hearing both sides. When making the wage award last July, the same board stated that cost of living "has increased approximately 100 per cent. since 1914," but admitted that "in many instances the increase to employes hereby fixed, together with prior increases granted since 1914, exceed this figure." Since then the cost of living has come down; even the Department of Labor's estimate, which last Summer averaged retail food prices as 119 per cent. above 1913, reports for January a decrease of 21 per cent. from the preceding June, making the rise as compared with 1913 not 119, but 72 per cent.

Yesterday's attitude of the market was influenced also by dislike at the language in which the plan for a Congressional inquiry was first reported, especially the reference to an inquiry into "charges of gross mismanagement." But in that matter Wall Street apparently overlooked the fact that the Chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee was referring to hostile allegations which had been made in precisely those words, and which would naturally have to be disposed of, whenever the general situation should be officially considered. But the mood of Wall Street yesterday was one in which questions of that sort were discussed chiefly in the light of prices on the Stock Exchange.

Other markets were not as a rule affected by the decline on the Stock Exchange. Europe's political difficulties had apparently fallen into the background. Foreign exchange rates yielded fractionally, but recovered practically all the early loss with the German mark closing higher, while a sharp rise in European government bonds brought French rentes up ½ point for the day and British 5 per cents a full point. The wheat market declined 4½ cents per bushel; a movement ascribed on Wall Street to the industrial condition, but better explainable on the ground of the very high estimates of stocks of wheat still on hand from the 1920 harvest.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1921.

Money on call on the Stock Exchange ruled at 7 per cent. all day. New borrowing was on a small scale. There was no change in time money rates, borrowers bidding 6½ per cent. on mixed loans and 7 per cent. on all industrials. Market is quiet. Bankers' acceptances, ninety-day bills and first grade commercial paper were in good demand at prevailing quotations.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Violent Break in Stock Prices.

Yesterday's stock market was subject to extremely heavy selling pressure, which carried prices down from 1 to 2 points in the railroad list and from 2 to as much as 10 points in the industrial. In the market of Thursday the rails were weakest and the industrials held fairly well, but the reverse was the case yesterday when industrials were weakest, especially the oil issues. Total sales were more than 1,000,000 for the first time since Jan. 10. It was again the opinion on the floor of the Exchange that the greater part of the day's total was due to business originating in professional quarters, but it was admitted that the declines of the last few days have attracted some real liquidation, especially in the better grade of railroad shares. Many issues again made new low records for the year. Of the professional business, a good part came from individuals other than floor traders, but the actual source was a mystery.

Oil Shares a Target.

Due to the hesitancy of outsiders to buy stocks at current levels, there was naturally a dearth of buying orders in the market except from those who were covering short commitments. This has been the case for some time. With this in mind the professionals again scouted around for so-called weak spots and found one in the oil group, these shares breaking badly as a result of the pressure against them. Declines of from 3 to more than 10 points were registered. Mexican Petroleum sold down to 143, a new low record for the year and also the lowest price since 1919. The next sharpest decline was in Pan-American Petroleum B, which lost more than 6 points while the common lost 4½ points. The minor oils also declined, including California Petroleum, Texas Pacific Coal & Oil, Pacific Oil and others. There was nothing new in the oil situation which could be described as being responsible for such a sharp break. The decline in the oils unsettled the entire list in the afternoon.

⁂

Stocks Which Held Their Own.

In the turmoil of selling there were several stocks which held up staunchly and actually ended the day with fractional gains. And these stocks proved to be ones against which speculators devoted all their efforts up to a short time ago. The issues included American Sugar, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, American Woolen and American Agricultural Chemical. Several stocks which have declined heavily of late, but which scored only small losses yesterday, were Central Leather, Anaconda, Utah Copper and a few of similar character.

Character of the Trading.

Almost 30 per cent. of the trading on the Exchange yesterday was in the oil stocks and approximately 20 per cent. was in railroads, the total of the two groups making up almost half of the day's business.

⁂

The Liquidation of Railroads.

Some have been contending that once labor was thoroughly liquidated along with commodities, all of the ills of the country would be cured. Already there have been drastic cuts in wholesale prices of commodities and reductions in wages have been announced in numerous branches of industry. But now that railroad wages are coming down and probably freight rates, also, the speculative element is selling stocks on a very large scale. This is explained, however, by the fact that it is not the reduction in railroad wages or the probable cut in freight rates which is responsible for such selling. The factor of doubt in the present situation is, How will the labor interests accept the reductions in wages?

No Tax Selling.

Beset with many other ills, the investment market has so far got by with surprisingly little tax selling. Investment bankers have found this the one real ray of sunshine in an otherwise dismal situation and are duly thankful for it. But they are uncertain as to whether this absence of liquidation for the purpose of raising funds with which to pay Federal taxes is because of lack of securities or is caused by the fast that so few have tax payments to make. A good many holders of securities sold them long ago; the December payments were supposed to represent a lot of liquidation, and because so many securities were disposed of at losses, and the losses were properly recorded in the returns which are now going in, this year's tax payments may have been reduced very greatly.

Competition for Gold.

It was announced yesterday that the National City Bank had acquired about $2,600,000 Transvaal gold which is being shipped to this country on the steamers Celtic, Olympic and Aquitania. It was also announced that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had $1,000,000 coming on the Olympic and $775,000 on the Aquitania, this also being Transvaal gold bought in the London market. Ever since the movement of this metal toward our shores started early in 1920, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. has been bringing it in, with very few others ever participating. In all, this firm has obtained $116,025,000 of the Transvaal metal. Now, some people think, there may be a more active competition for the gold, and the fact that the City Bank has got some is supposed to bear out this supposition.

Today's Bank Statement.

It will be interesting to note whether the preparations for Tuesday's tax payments are sufficiently heavy to interrupt the steady improvement which the Federal Reserve system has been showing since the week of December 23, last. Since then, with one exception, the ratio of reserve to liabilities has mounted steadily, week by week, and the gain has been from 45.1, on Dec. 23, to 50.8 at the end of last week.

⁂

Will Wage Cuts Be Legal?

One of the phases of the wage-cutting campaign started by the railroads which has aroused a great deal of interest in the financial district is the interpretation of the Transportation act which the companies will make in the wage revisions. In many quarters it is believed that all the roads can now do is to confer with employes and announce a new schedule which they intend to make operative at some future date. The labor leaders who attend the conferences will not agree to yield all of the ground asked by the roads and the matter will then be in dispute and ready for the attention of the United States Railroad Labor Board in Chicago. That the roads may inaugurate lower rates before there has been a ruling by the Labor Board is not the understanding of many railroad lawyers. At the same time there were those in Wall Street yesterday who asserted that the law made the rulings of the Labor Board final but gave the board no enforcing or police powers, such powers being vested in public sentiment.

EASY TERMS URGED FOR MEXICAN TRADE

EUROPE IS MORE LIBERAL

Reviving Prosperity Indicated With Cuts in Apparel, but Foods Remain High.

That a new understanding must be reached between American exporters and Mexican buyers was the opinion expressed in a report made public yesterday by the Irving National Bank from Joseph W. Rowe, its representative in Mexico City.

Americans were cautioned that the abnormal conditions which have ruled for the last few years cannot continue to dictate our commercial policy, and that a sound and mutually fair credit arrangement must be made. The United States merchant or manufacturer, Mr. Rowe wrote, should treat Mexico as a permanent domestic market and become familiar with local credit requirements, so as to grant such terms as the business rating of the purchaser justified.

If the buyer in Mexico must pay for American goods sixty or ninety days before he receives them, the report said, and then must give sixty or ninety days' credit to the domestic purchaser, it was obvious that he would prefer the easier terms which European competitors offer him, and the United States be in danger of losing this rich and promising market.

Cause of Conditions.

Four distinct causes have combined to create present conditions in Mexico, Mr. Rowe explained—the long period of internal warfare, the war in Europe, transportation difficulties and the terms on which goods must be sold in domestic transactions. Until General Carranza began his campaign to oust Victoriano Huerta from the dictatorship revolutionary activities had had little effect on the nation's foreign commerce. A great part of the country's needs had been supplied by European firms, which sold on long-term credits and frequently granted time extensions.

The Mexican merchant sells only a small portion of his imported goods for cash, the report continued. Usually, when he ships to his customers he mails a bill which apparently makes the sale a cash transaction. In reality, the sale is made on open account. The average time granted is sixty days, which means—when delays due to slow mails and other causes are taken into account—that payment is made in about ninety days. As a rule, a draft is attached to the documents only when the purchaser is not considered a first-class risk.

Foreign Credits Differ.

Credit terms on foreign purchases very. In a few cases, cash payment in full is demanded with the order; in others, partial payments of from 25 to 50 per cent. cash. Some orders are taken on terms as liberal as ninety days open account. In such cases, the goods are shipped direct to the consignee with or without draft. Buyers are accustomed to getting commercial letters of credit from local banks. Most of these are sight credits, but often the bank will carry the merchant up to ninety days after payment has been made abroad.

Many shipments are made to Mexico with the understanding that documents will be surrendered to the buyer upon his acceptance of a 30, 60 or 90 day sight draft. This practice has been found satisfactory. The accepted draft, or trade acceptance, is more desirable from every standpoint than a promissory note. It is considered the best kind of paper security in Mexico. Attachment of property can be obtained within forty-eight hours if the acceptor fails to pay at maturity.

Price conditions in Mexico, Mr. Rowe added, have not as yet reflected all of the reductions which have taken place in the United States. Textiles, shoes and wearing apparel have shown decreases of 25 per cent. or more, but the prices of foodstuffs and many other articles remain high.

MOTORS SHOW PROFITS.

International Co. Earns $5.32 Per Share for 1920.

The International Motor Company's annual report for 1920 shows gross sales of $34,071,365 and net profits of $4,583,151 before write-off for inventory depreciation. After inventory shrinkage and tax reserves the profit available for the stock is $2,644,013, equal to $5.32 per share on the common stock after allowing for the preferred dividends. There are 283,000 shares of common stock outstanding.

The report shows that at the close of 1920 the corporation had net quick assets of $19,174,196, compared with $12,654,875 at the end of 1919. Since the close of the 1918 fiscal year net quick assets have increased $11,638,978, or 154 per cent.

During 1920 the company delivered a total of 7,020 trucks, an increase of 54 per cent. compared with the previous year. Its plants are now developed to a point where they could sustain an output of 9,000 to 10,000 trucks per annum. While the outlook is for a period of moderate earnings during the first half of 1921, officials of the International Motor Truck are confident of a decided revival in earnings during the second half.

ENGLAND GAINING, SAYS SELFRIDGE

THINKS DEPRESSION PAST

Believes Labor Adjustments Will Be Brought About Quietly—Cost of Living Lower.

Business conditions in England are on the up grade, according to Harry Gordon Selfridge, the American merchant of London, who yesterday told the members of the Bond Club of New York that accumulations of merchandise in Great Britain were beginning to disappear and that a growing spirit of optimism is to be discerned.

Mr. Selfridge proclaimed himself an optimist and he said that he and those with whom he is associated are confident that the worst of the depression had passed. England, he thought, would return to normal conditions rapidly.

"England," he said, "seems to be like a great ship, a wonderful ship of undoubted strength and ability to weather any storm, and while the ship still is in rough water, as the storm grows less it is going to reach an even keel quicker than any other in Europe."

Speaking of the elimination of the excess profits tax, the merchant explained that by the remission of this business would be able to get back to a sounder state. More earnings will be returned, greater amounts may be set aside for depreciation and reserve, and because of this there is a greater confidence as to the immediate future of business than has been possible at any previous time since the beginning of the war.

The cost of living in England, Mr. Selfridge insisted, was coming down more rapidly than the statistics published by the British Department of Labor would seem to indicate. He attacked the method of computing the cost of living index in England as unfair. The Labor Department, he said was dominated by the Fabians, "which really means the class of people that tried to make the best representations possible from the standpoint of labor, so that as much remuneration as possible could be obtained for labor."

Yet, in January, the cost of living came down 17 points even under the Labor Department's figures, and, the speaker said, as great a reduction was made in February. This, he thought, warranted reduction in wages, and he was pleased to state that labor in England was taking a lower wage "with fairness and equanimity which we like most.

"I was told by my bankers a month ago," he continued, "that a number of departments of activity in Lancashire were paying their people less than the union scale, and the unions were looking the other way, knowing all about it, which, of course, is a good sign. So gentlemen, you can make up your minds that the labor conditions of England are going to be adjusted in that same unexcitable and unhysterical way with which the people of England do things."

Grosvenor Farwell, President of the Bond Club, announced that the annual outing of the club would be held at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club on May 20. A feature of the day will be a ball game with the Bond Club of Chicago. At the monthly luncheon in April Norman H. Davis is to speak.

MORE DIVIDENDS PASSED OR REDUCED

Firestone Tire and Rubber Omits Quarterly Payment on Common Stock.

HAD BEEN PAYING $1.50

West Jersey & Seashore Railroad Passes Its Semi-Annual 2½ Per Cent. Dividend.

The list of the number of corporations which are reducing or passing their dividends is being added to daily. Yesterday numerous additional suspensions and reductions were announced. The directors of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company announced the passing of the quarterly dividend of the common stock. The company had been paying at the rate of $1.50 per share quarterly up to the present time. In announcing the reduction it was stated that the action was taken by the Directors because they deemed it advisable to conserve all cash resources possible because of existing conditions. Advices from Akron pointed out that last year the company wrote off $17,000,000 for inventory depreciation, but in spite of this it was stated that net earnings last year were slightly in excess of $1,000,000. It was also stated that the profit and loss surplus at the close of 1920 was carried in the balance sheet at $33,000,000, of which $7,500,000 was in cash.

Another important dividend suspension announced yesterday was that of the West Jersey & Seashore Railroad which passed its semi-annual dividend of 2½ per cent., the payment having been deferred by the Directors "until business and financial conditions for the year can be definitely ascertained." The company has been paying semi-annual dividends on the common stock regularly since 1896, when the road was incorporated, the rate varying between 2 and 3 per cent. semi-annually. The rate of 2½ per cent. had been paid regularly since 1910. Of the $11,586,000 of common capital stock of this company the Pennsylvania Railroad owns more than 50 per cent.

The passing of the dividends on the classes A and B common stock of the Hanes Knitting Company also was announced. The company had been paying 2 per cent. quarterly.

The Directors of the Manhattan Electrical Supply Company have declared a quarterly dividend of $1 a share, as compared with a rate of $1.50 a share paid three months ago. The American Window Glass Company declared a quarterly payment of 1½ per cent., compared with 3 per cent. disbursed during the four previous quarters.

The American Hawaiian Steamship Company has declared a payment of 75 cents, against $2 three months ago.

An extra dividend of $1 per share, in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 2 per cent. quarterly, was declared by the Independent Pneumatic Tool Company of Chicago.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Grains Are Weak and Lower—Copper Continues to Decline to Record Point.

The recessions in yesterday's wholesale markets, while continuing in some of the metals, notably in copper, included most of the grains, the declines in this latter group running to 4¼ cents in wheat, 2¾ cents in corn and 1½ cents per bushel in oats. Flour, Minnesota, was unchanged. Coffee and sugar were unchanged, with a drop of 2 cents per pound in butter, eggs unchanged. There were no changes in the provisions. In the metals, lead dropped 5 cents per 100 pounds, and copper ¼ of a cent per pound, to a new low level since October, 1914. The only advance in this group was a recovery of 25 cents per ton in tin, class A. In the textiles, spot cotton dropped 20 cents per 100 pounds, with a decline of ¼ cent per pound in printcloths, to a new low for the year.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Friday, a week before and a year ago:

COTTON SELLS OFF 20 TO 30 POINTS

Weakness Attributed Largely to Sympathy With Stock Market.

The cotton market was quiet again yesterday. It sold off 20 to nearly 30 points in the late afternoon, but the weakness was explained largely by Wall Street selling, doubtless in sympathy with the weakness in the stock market, and some liquidation by New Orleans. The trade did not sell. The Southern spot people, who have been out of the market for the last two or three days, after weeks of steady selling, were not again in the market yesterday.

Our market started rather well. Liverpool was somewhat better than expected and there was nothing in the domestic news to inspire local selling. With the South fairly well eliminated as a factor, this allowed prices to advance slightly at the opening, despite the small demand. For the first hour or so business was in small volume and prices scarcely moved. Then they began to taper off and in the afternoon broke 20 to 29 points. March stood up rather well in this decline and the worst sufferers were May and July, in which most of the local trading has been centred.

Reports from the trade quoted one of the big mills as having marked down prices sharply, and other trade news was not good. But the trade was not a factor in the contract market and did nothing, so far as could be ascertained, throughout the day. The price reduction, which was by the same mill which started the cutting last Fall, was interpreted unfavorably and when Wall Street started selling on the break in security prices the movement became general.

Southern spot markets again were quiet but it was noticeable that in the few instances where price changes were made, they were on the declining side. Liverpool spots were quiet and steady, down only 9 points to 6.94d.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

Internal Revenue Bureau Issues a Ruling for Persons Married in 1920.

William H. Edwards, Collector of Internal Revenue for Manhattan, announced last night that to care for the final rush of income tax returns and payments the offices at the Custom House and at 310 Lenox Avenue, 306 West Fifty-eighth Street, 146 West Thirty-fourth Street and 4 Union Square would be open until midnight Monday and Tuesday nights. Mr. Edwards asks taxpayers to use the branch offices nearest their homes or places of business to avoid congestion at the Custom House.

"At the Custom House and all the branch offices taxpayers will be given aid and advice in the preparation of their returns," said Mr. Edwards. "At the offices on Lenox Avenue and West Fifty-eighth Street cash, check and money order payments will be received by cashiers of the Internal Revenue Department. These offices are as fully equipped, although on a smaller scale, as the offices at the Custom House.

"At the Thirty-fourth Street and Union Square offices no cash will be received. Checks and money orders will be accepted, however, and there will be tax men to assist the taxpayer. The taxpayer who wishes to make a cash payment at these two offices will be cared for by men from the Money Order Department of the Post Office, who will be ready to issue money orders for cash. The money orders will be accepted by the cashiers."

With regard to returns from persons who have married in 1920, concerning which many inquiries have been received at the Custom House, Mr. Edwards gave out the following statement, which has been issued by the Internal Revenue Bureau at Washington:

"Many inquiries from newly weds as to the amount of taxable income for the year 1920 are received by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. In many cases both parties were employed up to the wedding date and the point on which advice is sought is whether the joint income must be shown. The ruling of the Bureau of Internal Revenue is that if they were married on or before Dec. 31, 1920, a return must be made of their combined income if it equaled or exceeded $2,000.

"The newly weds are entitled to a $2,000 exemption plus the additional $200 for each dependent under 18 years of age or who is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective."

UNITED ALLOY SHOWS GAIN.

$5.66 a Share on Common, With Net Profits of $2,971,833.

The annual report of the United Alloy Steel Corporation shows net profits after Federal taxes of $2,971,833, equivalent to $5.66 a share on the 525,000 shares of capital stock, which compares with $2,183,838 or $4.16 a share earned in the preceeding year. The total net profit for the year was $3,599,838. Federal tax deductions amounted to $628,000. The net income of $2,183,838 reported for 1919 was after deductions for depreciation and profit sharing, amounting to $873,895, but in 1920 the amount was figured before depreciation. Had there been any deductions for this account the amount earned a share would have been less than last year. The surplus for 1920 after payment of $2,100,000 in dividends amounted to $871,000, bringing that account up to $22,460,530. In the balance sheet, inventory was carried at $3,686,000 compared with $4,032,000 last year. Cash on hand amounted to $2,370,000 against $1,101,000.

It was reported that plans were being considered for consolidating the Berger Manufacturing Company and the United Furnace Company with the United Alloy Steel Corporation, and it was expected that stockholders would act upon this later in the month.

REPUBLICANS AWAIT MELLON ON TARIFF

Conference Monday Is Expected to Result in Some Definite Fiscal Program.

MAY URGE TAX LAW FIRST

Treasury Experts Are Said to Consider Revenue Revision as Greater Aid to Business.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—It is becoming apparent that the Republican leaders in Congress who deal with revenue and tariff matters are so divided and influenced by local conditions as to compel a decision as to precedence in revising the revenue and tariff laws by either President Harding or Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and the taxation experts of that office.

It is understood that the Treasury experts, especially Dr. C. T. Adams of the office of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, have prepared a statement in which is presented an argument for revising the taxation laws first, contending that a proper modification of these laws would stimulate business more than a raising of the tariff schedules. All of the experts who approach the matter from the point of view of the greatest benefit to the Government and the country have, it is said, advised revision of the taxation laws first.

The reasons given by these experts are that more revenue comes from this source and that therefore business is more interested lessening the burdens of the revenue laws than in a tariff wall around the country when foreign competition is negligible. These experts say that money will not be put into business ventures until the war laws are amended. They likewise point out that men of money are diverting their investments from business which affords employment, to exemption investments such as municipal and State bonds.

Business Funds Are Diverted.

One expert informed a member of the Ways and Means Committee today that several billions of dollars had recently been taken out of trade and placed in tax-exempt bonds because of the heavy income surtax. He advised that this surtax, now as high as 73 per cent., should be reduced to 40 per cent. at the earliest possible moment, so that money which heretofore found its way into business should be employed in such ventures rather than in bonds not subject to surtaxes.

Those who know the situation well are inclined to believe that with the committees divided they will accept the recommendations of the Secretary of the Treasury and his experts at the conference Monday. If this plan is followed they need not make, it is said, any explanations to the elements who are pressing for action for selfish interests.

Senator Penrose, while he has not committed himself definitely on these matters, agrees with the Treasury experts. On the other hand, he is called on by manufacturers of his own and other States for relief from foreign competition and may throw his weight finally for tariff revision first. One of the arguments urged against temporary revision of the tariff laws is that such action will require double work and that almost as much time will be consumed in the passage of an emergency act as a permanent one. Senator Penrose does not believe that much time will be wasted. He said today that methods employed in times past would be resorted to and the agreement on rates be made the subject of party caucus.

Predicts Early Enactment.

"Under the influence of a disciplined party and the reference of rates to a caucus if necessary we should be able to get a tariff bill through in quick time," he said.

"Does that not savor of the steam roller?" he was asked.

"No, there is plenty of precedence for that. The Democrats got the Underwood bill through by a decision in party caucus."

Mr. Penrose said that business conditions were growing worse in the country and that reports coming to him from Pennsylvania showed that there was a gradual decline in prosperity.

"We cannot look to improved business conditions until tax legislation is revised and Government extravagance is abolished," he added. "My reports show increasing depression and I do not believe that business will improve until the country is given assurances of changes in the laws which are now hampering business. If given such assurance confidence will be restored just as it was in 1892, when the country was told that the Dingley tariff law would be enacted.

"What must be done is to practice economy in Government; abolish all unnecessary boards and surplus employes in the Government. Business is standing still because of natural trade condition. But legislation can be employed to aid business restoration by amending laws which are now hampering it and which were enacted for war-time conditions."

FEWER U. S. FAILURES.

Total for Week Is 293, or 11 Below Last Week's Total.

For the third successive week commercial failures in the United States show a reduction, numbering 293 this week. This is a decrease of 18 from the 311 defaults reported to R. G. Dun & Co. last week, and is 120 fewer than the 413 insolvencies of two weeks ago. In this week last year, however, there were only 129 failures. Aside from the Pacific Coast, where an increase of 13 appears, defaults in each of the geographical divisions this week are fewer in number than last week, there being a decrease of 18 in the East, 8 in the South and 5 in the West.

Despite the smaller total of failures, on the other hand, the number of insolvencies involving $5,000 or more in each case is larger this week, 173 such defaults comparing with 169 last week. The proportion of the failures for $5,000 or more to the aggregate number is 59 per cent., as against 54.3 per cent.

Commercial insolvencies in Canada show some increase, numbering 38, or 7 more than last week. The number two weeks ago was 48, while in this week last year there were only 16 Canadian defaults. Of the total number this week, 18 failures involved $5,000 or more of liabilities in each instance, the same number as last week.

Postal Savings Gain in Seven Cities.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Despite financial conditions postal savings deposits last month amounted to more than $10,000,000, the Post Office Department announced today. Total deposits in the system on March 1 were approximately $163,350,000. Seven Post Offices reported gains in deposits of $20,000 and over for February as follows: New York, Boston, Seattle, Brooklyn, Tacoma, Roslyn, Washington, and Ironwood, Mich.

Seven-Cent Drop in Food Average.

This week's food index number, based on the prices per pound of thirty-one articles used for food, is $3.15, which compares with $3.22 last week and $4.84 for the week ended March 11, 1920. This week's number shows a loss of 2.1 per cent. from last week and of 34.9 per cent. from the like week of last year. Of the eighty commodities quoted, eight advanced as compared with last week, twenty-six declined and forty-six remained unchanged.

WHEAT NOT RALLIED BY EXPORT BUYING

Chicago Market Depressed by Federal Estimate of Larger Surplus Than Figured.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 11.—The Government report showing total holdings of wheat to be only 18,000,000 bushels less than on March 1 of last year, had a depressing effect on that grain, and prices declined 4½ cents and closed within ⅛@⅛ cent of the bottom, with net losses of 4@4¼ cents, March leading. Livermore and Cutten were credited with being heavy sellers early, while the most effective buying was by the Armour interest on scale orders and by holders of bids.

The close, however, was rather heavy with a nervous and distrustful feeling; and a number of radical bears were to be found on the curb last night. The general run of news was bearish, crop and weather reports being very favorable, with the Missouri State condition estimated at 90, the same as on Dec. 1. Green bug talk in Oklahoma was ignored, as were claims of the spread of Hessian fly in Missouri.

Export demand was very active, with sales in all positions reported at over 1,000,000 bushels, mainly hard Winters, via the Gulf, on the basis of around 20 cents over Chicago, May f. o. b. Sweden took 80,000 bushels Manitobas at the seaboard. The Gulf wheat was said to have gone partly to Holland and Germany. It was noticeable, however, that the market failed to show much rallying power, despite the removal of hedges here against the sales abroad, while on Wednesday it had a telling effect. Premiums on hard Winters were 1 cent lower today.

While sentiment is extremely bearish, some close observers believe that prices will continue to hold within comparatively narrow limits, with good support on any further decline, while, in case of a bulge, selling orders will appear. Economic conditions are again a big factor in influencing the markets, and, with the immense stocks of coarse grains and ample supplies of wheat, the pit generally expects low prices ultimately.

Exporters took 300,000 bushels corn in the West today at 11¼ cents over May, track Baltimore, without affecting the market. Receipts have fallen off materially, and, at the last, No. 4 yellow was relatively ½ cent higher, as compared with the May. Corn closed ⅝@1 cents and oats 1¼@1⅜ cents lower. Trade was mainly of a local character.

Primary receipts aggregated 867,000 bushels wheat; week ago, 704,000; year ago 554,000. Shipments were 558,000; week ago 620,000; year ago 328,000.

Corn receipts were 1,108,000; week ago, 1,570,000; year ago, 870,000, and shipments, 834,000; week ago, 1,050,000; year ago, 426,000.

DU PONT DE NEMOURS NET.

Sales and Earnings Drop—Settling Suspended War Contracts.

WILMINGTON, Del., March 11.—Net earnings of $5,058,022 and sales of $93,983,291 are shown in the annual report for 1920 of E. H. du Pont de Nemours & Co., made public here tonight. These figures compare with sales of $105,437,923 and net earnings of $11,620,953 in 1919.

Earnings applicable to common stock were $10,749,807, of which $6,267,747 was paid in cash dividends. In addition, the undivided earnings accruing to the company through its stock holdings in subsidiary and other companies, aggregated approximately $13,000,000, making a total of $23,749,807, equivalent to approximately $37.50 per share of common stock.

The company's suspended Government war contracts form a chapter of the report. There were thirty-seven of these claims, aggregating $26,375,692, on Dec. 31, 1920; but, by reason of advances from the United States and credits due the United States for purchases of materials in claims, the net cash due the company was only $2,013,410.

As to twenty-one of those claims, aggregating $23,075,327, agreements have been reached with auditors and the local army boards showing that there is due the company in cash $345,693. The remaining sixteen claims, aggregating $3,300,365, on which there is $1,658,716 cash due the company, are still in process of settlement.

BRITISH INTEREST RATE CUT

Treasury Bills Put on 6 Per Cent. Basis—Stock Tone Improved.

LONDON, March 11.—The Bank of England announced today that the rate of interest on Treasury bills had been reduced one-half per cent. and that three months' and twelve months' bills now may be purchased at 6 per cent. The reduction from 6½ per cent. caused a corresponding easing in discounts and imparted a distinctly better feeling to the Stock Exchange, where gilt-edge securities, industrials and oils improved in the hope that the monetary situation, allowing the reduction in the interest rate on Treasury bills, may be followed by a corresponding reduction in the bank rate in the near future.

It is recalled that last April, when the Treasury bill rate was advanced to 6½, the bank rate was raised the following day. The latter cannot possibly be reduced until Thursday next, however, and the money market considers it improbable a reduction will be made until the end of the present quarter and until the American money rate has been reduced.

DENIES RAIL MERGER STORY.

Southern Pacific Head Contradicts Report About Rock Island Deal.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—William Sproule, President of the Southern Pacific Company, said today that there was no truth in reports from Los Angeles that a consolidation of the Southern Pacific, Rock Island and El Paso & Southwestern railroad systems was being considered.

The Los Angeles dispatch quoted N. L. Amster of Boston, one of the Directors of the Rock Island Road, as saying the merger was under consideration. He said, however, that no formal proposal had yet been made to any of the lines.

N.Y. HAS RIGHT TO TAX NON-RESIDENT HERE

Court Holds Connecticut Exporter Must Pay on His Business Income.

HE EARNS HIS MONEY HERE

Has Protection of Laws and Police Power in Person, Property and Business.

New York State's right to tax a nonresident exporter on business income in New York has been upheld by the Appellate Division of the Third Department, according to a statement issued yesterday by the New York State Income Tax Bureau.

George A. Stafford, a resident of Connecticut, reviewed an income tax assessment by State Controller Wendell on his earnings from sales in Constantinople and Buenos Aires of American made cotton goods manufactured outside of New York State. His only business office is in New York City and his foreign salesmen cable orders to him, after which he buys the products at the mills, has them shipped to New York, stores them if necessary, and then engages cargo space for their further shipment to the consignees.

In disagreeing with the contention of the taxpayer that he is engaged in an export business, Judge Van Kirk, who wrote the opinion, which received unanimous affirmance, says that "the goods are not goods passed through the State as a part of a movement of interstate or foreign commerce, and if this taxpayer earns an income, he earns it in New York and nowhere else. He has the protection of the laws and police power in New York in his person, his property and his business, and he derives benefit therefrom; else why does he conduct his business in New York?"

"This opinion," says the bureau's statement, "sustains the argument of Deputy Attorney General James S. Y. Ivins, who represented Attorney General Newton, that the tax is upon net income and profits of the taxpayer's business and not upon the business itself. On this point the opinion states that the source of the taxpayer's income as the skill and ability which he exercises in conducting his business.

"After referring to the decision last year of the United States Supreme Court in Shaffer versus Carter, that in a similar case the income from manufacturing was taxable in the State where the mill was located and not against the exporter, Judge Van Kirk concludes that there seems to be no greater difficulty in the taxing of a nonresident than a resident. The fact that the taxpayer's home is in Connecticut and that when in that State personal jurisdiction of him cannot be acquired, only bears upon the means of enforcing the tax rather than the right to assess it."

THE WORLD'S WHEAT STORE

China in the Competition for Western Export Trade.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The wheat surplus for export and carryover of the United States and Canada is 165,000,000 bushels, according to estimates of the Bureau of Markets based on official and commercial reports, it was said today at the Department of Agriculture. The combined crop of the two countries with the carryover from the 1919 crop was placed at 1,163,000,000 bushels. The surplus estimate, it was explained, took into account bread and seed requirements and export clearances from seaports to Feb. 21.

According to some French estimates, department officials said, the exporting countries now have 293,000,000 bushels of surplus wheat, while the import requirements of countries that can buy are 260,000,000 bushels, leaving a net surplus of 33,000,000 bushels.

"Some new features of interest, but of uncertain importance at present, have appeared in the world situation," officials said. "Manchurian wheat is being sold to Western Europe, and flour made in China is being imported into Egypt."

Wheat available for export from Argentina was said to total 120,290,000 bushels.

Ohio Utility's Earnings Up 74%.

Gross earnings of the Trumbull Public Service Company of Warren, Ohio, a subsidiary of the Cities Service Company, amounted to $1,868,200 in 1920, an increase of 74 per cent. over the gross for 1919. Net earnings were $517,223, an increase of 47½ per cent. over the preceding year. The company had an output of 91,905,710 k. w. hours of current, an increase of more than 22,000,000 k. w. hours over 1919. More than 900 meters were added during the year, and the connected load of the company showed an increase of 16,000 horsepower.

Record Realty Deal Transfers Holdings of Joseph Shenk to New Corporation.

BARNET KLAR THE PRINCIPAL

High-Class Elevator Properties of Riverside and Heights Sections Included.

The ownership of sixty-five apartment buildings located in Manhattan and the Bronx, housing hundreds of families, was affected yesterday by the formation of a new corporation which purchased for about $8,000,000 the realty holdings of Joseph Shenk, formerly a well-known real estate operator.

The transaction, which is by far the largest of its kind in this city, has been in preparation for several months owing to title searches.

Contracts were signed yesterday by the Ardsmore Realty Corporation, which was organized by Morrison & Schiff, attorneys, with a capital stock of 2,000 shares of preferred stock of the par value of $100 each and 50,000 shares of common stock of no par value. The total assessed valuation of the property covered by the contract was approximately $8,000,000. Barnet Klar, head of the new corporation, has been engaged in real estate enterprises for several years.

Among the largest and most valuable parcels embraced in the deal were the following: The Barnard, a ten-story elevator apartment house occupying a plot 125 by 100 feet on the southeast corner of Central Park West and Seventy-first Street; the Cathmere apartments, on the northwest corner of 135th Street and Broadway, on a plot 100 by 125; the Hispania Hall apartments, at the northwest corner of Broadway and 156th Street, a six-story elevator apartment on a plot 168 by 133; the southeast corner of Broadway and 148th Street, a six-story elevator apartment on a plot 100 by 125; the Alahama apartments on the northwest corner of Riverside Drive and 127th Street, on a plot 86 by 146; the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 139th Street, a six-story elevator apartment on a plot 167 by 100; the Herald Court apartments, on the southwest corner of St. Nicholas Avenue and 183d Street, on a plot 105 by 150; the Madrid apartments, a six-story elevator apartment, at 552 Riverside Drive, on a plot 78 by 176; the Garfield apartments on the southeast corner of Claremont Avenue and 127th Street, a six-story elevator apartment, 120 by 100; the Northern apartments, at the northwest corner of 181st Street and Northern Avenue on a plot 100 by 100; the Jessica and Jasper apartments, two six-story elevator apartments, 200 by 150, at 728 to 736 West 181st Street; the Riverview apartments on the southwest corner of Broadway and 149th Street, a six-story elevator apartment on a plot 100 by 100.

As part of the consideration for the sale of the property, Mr. Shenk receives a substantial amount of cash and a purchase money mortgage of about $1,000,000.

The sale does not cover all of Mr. Shenk's holdings, as he retains the ownership of his commercial buildings and hotel property and about ten apartment buildings.

$1,650,000 DEAL ON RIVERSIDE DRIVE

The Paternos Buy Four and a Half Lots on Eighty-eighth Street Corner.

ADJOINING SCHINASI HOUSE

Buyers Will Erect a Fourteen-Story Apartment House on the Property.

As a site for the erection of a fourteen-story apartment house, Captain Francis S. Paterno, President of Paterno & Son, contractors, has purchased the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and Eighty-eighth Street.

The site, which adjoins the Schinasi residence, contains about four and one-half lots and fronts 115 feet on the Drive and 123 feet on Eighty-eighth Street, with northerly and easterly lines measuring 100 and 100.8 feet, respectively.

The property was sold by Klein & Jackson, who bought the corner from the Altman estate and erected the present four-story dwellings. That character of improvement was carried out in compliance with the restrictions on the site calling for the first improvement to consist of private residences.

The houses have been occupied since their erection and at present are tenanted by J. Hartley Manners and H. R. Mallinson.

When the present leases expire Captain Paterno plans to reimprove the site with a fourteen-story apartment house of the highest type of construction, with suites of six, seven and eight rooms and three and four baths.

In part payment for the Riverside Drive corner Captain Paterno gives an upper Riverside property at the north corner of 144th Street, a vacant site, fronting 100 feet on the Drive and 128 feet on 144th Street. There he originally planned to put up a tall apartment. The exchange involved about $1,650,000. Slawson & Hobbs negotiated the transaction.

Last month Captain Paterno disposed of the westerly block front on Convent Avenue from 133d to 134th Street, improved with the Santa Rosa apartments, which he erected prior to the war.

Brooklyn Realty Activity.

The four-story residence at 579 Franklin Avenue, lot 20 by 90 feet, has been sold by the Bulkley & Horton Company for James Clarke.

The two-family house at 865 Lafayette Avenue has been purchased by Eva Goldberg and Sarah Aronson. Samuel Zirn represented the buyers as attorney.

Meister Builders, Inc., have sold the three-family house, on a lot 20 by 100, at 1,662 Nostrand Avenue.

The six-family flat at 354 Sixty-first Street has been sold by Kilcoyne Brothers for I. Ipp to Frank Solerino, and the two-family house at 1,166 Fifty-sixth Street for M. Priest.

Private Dwelling Sales.

The three-story dwelling at 143 West Ninety-fourth Street, on lot 20 by 100 feet, has been purchased by Jane E. Luckings from Maria Bassave. The broker in the sale was Leroy Coventry.

Edmund Coffin purchased from Mrs. M. B. Mitchell 153 East Forty-sixth Street, a four-story and basement dwelling, 20 by 100, which the buyer will alter into studios and apartments.

E. C. Shepherd sold to John A. Burns 144 West Eighty-second Street, a four-story and basement dwelling, 18.9 by 102.2.

Buys Bronx Theatre Site.

A plot, 89 by 150 feet, at the northwest corner of Burnside and Creston Avenues, has been purchased by Samuel Friedenberg, representing a syndicate, for improvement with a motion picture theatre having a seating capacity of 1,650. The total cost of the building, which will have stores on the ground floor, will be $350,000. The property was bought from Samuel Rossef.

Sale Near Queensboro Plaza.

The Roman-Callman Company has sold for the Merritt Holding Company the plot containing 6,000 square feet on the southeast corner of Wilbur and Ely Avenues, one block from the Queensboro Bridge Plaza in Long Island City. The purchasers will improve this property with a four-story building.

William J. Roome & Co. have sold through the Empire Trust Company for John H. Williams and others the four-story building at 242 East Thirty-fifth Street, on lot 16.10 by 98.9 feet, to Eugene Coulon.

Commercial Leases.

The store and basement at 106-8 West Thirty-second Street has been leased by the 106-8 West Thirty-second Street Corporation, Irving Cohen, Treasurer, to Frederick W. Anderson for a restaurant. The lease is for ten years at $15,000 a year. Julius Rosenberg was the broker.

The Brett & Goode Company has leased a floor containing 20,000 square feet in the Williams Printing Building, on the west side of Eleventh Avenue from Thirty-sixth to Thirty-seventh Street, to the Twisted Wire and Steel Company.

Cyrille Carreau leased the store at 155 East Thirty-third Street to Robert E. Denike, Inc., electrical contractors.

Realty Notes.

Douglas L. Elliman & Co., Inc., have leased two apartments in 64 East Fifty-fifth Street to the Princess Margaret Ghika. The building was planned and erected by Harry Allen Jacobs, architect, and is unique in that it contains several small duplex apartments. A number of the apartments have private roof gardens.

WHISKY RAIDERS RESCUED BY POLICE

PULLMAN CAMPAIGN STARTS

Supervisor Dobbs Arrests Five in Drive Against Waiters and Porters.

Two Federal prohibition enforcement agents on the staff of Harold B. Dobbs, Supervising Prohibition Agent in Brooklyn, were held prisoners for a short time yesterday afternoon in the storeroom occupied by Allan Black, formerly a wholesale liquor dealer at 170 Tillary Street, Brooklyn, when they went to seize 500 cases of whisky a few minutes after the shipment had been unloaded from the delivery trucks. Several agents who had been barred from the building when the other two agents were locked in sent a telephone message to Supervisor Dobbs, who in turn called on the police for aid. Nearly a dozen policemen, under Sergeant "Broadway" Jones, rushed to the scene, rescued the imprisoned agents, who asserted that they had been threatened, and stood guard while the confiscated whisky was loaded on trucks and taken to the warehouse of Burns & Hurley.

Accompanied by other agents, including Squad Leader J. J. Davis, Mr. Dobbs hurried to the store. He found employes of Black and his counsel still arguing with the agents. Just as Mr. Dobbs entered something was said about gunplay. Mr. Dobbs, who had previously warned his men against the use of their guns unless it was absolutely necessary, drew up his clenched fist and declared that whatever force was necessary he would use with his natural weapon. The argument ceased and the attorney quietly withdrew from further discussion.

Another person connected with the establishment then took up the matter with Mr. Dobbs, saying that special permission had been received through Supervisor Daniel J. Chapin for the delivery of the consignment. It was represented to Mr. Dobbs that special permission had been received by Mr. Chapin from Washington to allow the 500 cases to be delivered. Mr. Dobbs got in touch with Mr. Chapin's office in Manhattan and then instructed the men from the warehouse to proceed with the loading of the whisky.

The seizure was made on the ground that the shipment was unlawfully made by the distillery, although there was a permit said to be genuine. Under a recent ruling of the Prohibition Department there are no longer any wholesale liquor dealers and distilleries have been notified not to fill any more orders except on permits issued to wholesale druggists. No arrests were made yesterday and the Government will proceed against the distillery company, Mr. Dobbs said.

Crusade On Bootlegging.

In addition to the 500 cases of whisky, the agents found in the storeroom five barrels of alcohol and nearly 100 empty five-gallon cans, usually used in handling alcohol. The seized whisky is valued at between $60,000 and $80,000.

Mr. Dobbs announced the beginning of a drive to break up an alleged extensive bootlegging ring among Pullman porters and waiters in the Sunnyside yards, Long Island City. Five were arrested Thursday night and yesterday in connection with the campaign. According to Mr. Dobbs large quantities of liquors are handled on the sleepers and diners operating between this city and other points throughout the country.

As a result of investigations, Mr. Dobbs, accompanied by Agents Westmoreland and Harvey, Thursday night entered an apartment occupied by Frank Desori at 287 Crescent Street, Long Island City, and closed a transaction for four cases of whisky for $280. Mr. Dobbs said that the whisky was newly made with alcohol and coloring. The bottles, he said, bore fraudulent revenue strip stamps, and the labels also were spurious. The agents arrested Desori and two men said to be his assistants, who gave their names as Sylvester Williams, 85 Prospect Street, Long Island City, and Samuel Provisero of 17 Sherman Street, Long Island City. Arraigned yesterday before Commissioner Hennessy the defendants were held in $2,500 bail for hearing.

While Mr. Dobbs was thus employed Agents Fleming and Burke, who had been stationed outside, observed a Ford automobile belonging to the Greenpoint Biscuit and Cracker Exchange pull into the garage at 87 Henry Street. Investigating, they found the truck backed up at the door of King's pharmacy, where a seizure of liquors had previously been made by prohibition agents. The agents found ten cases of whisky in the automobile. The driver, Walter Smith of 266 Franklin Street, Brooklyn, was arrested on a charge of transporting liquor without a permit. Frank Jankowski formerly a partner in the corporation owning the pharmacy, claimed ownership of the whisky, the agents say, and he was placed under arrest. Mr. Dobbs said that Jankowski gave one of the agents $500 in bills to drop the proceedings. The money was turned over to Mr. Dobbs and an additional charge of bribery was preferred against Jankowski, who lives at 128 India Street. Both were held for hearing yesterday by Commissioner Hennessy.

Saloonkeeper Is Arrested.

Two agents on Mr. Dobbs's staff yesterday arrested Thomas Colgan, owner of a cafe at 21 Boerum Place, Brooklyn. The agents said they bought drinks in the place.

The Ritz restaurant, in Brooklyn, at 8-12 Nevins Street, against which United States Attorney Leroy W. Ross recently brought injunction proceedings in an effort to have the place sealed up for twelve months under the Volstead act, is soon to be sold to a Chinese syndicate if the suit in equity results in favor of the owners of the property, according to information given to Federal Judge Edwin L. Garvin in Brooklyn yesterday. Counsel for the restaurant owners asked for the immediate trial of the case, on the ground that the negotiations could not be closed until the case is disposed of. Judge Garvin set April 7 as the date for trial.

Edmond J. LaBrecque, owner of a bonded warehouse in Newark, from which the Government alleges 167,000 gallons of whisky, valued at $5,000,000, have disappeared, and Oscar Friedrich Jr. and John Liebold, also of Newark, pleaded not guilty in the Federal Court at Trenton, N. J., yesterday on indictments charging conspiracy to sell liquor illegally. There are three counts in the indictment against LaBrecque, while there is only one count against the other two men. LaBrecque was held in $20,000 bail and Friedrich and Liebold in $10,000 bail each for trial.

Charged with extortion, two prohibition enforcement agents were arrested by Detective Skelly of the East Sixty-seventh Street Police Station. They are Joseph Dunn of 285 St. Nicholas Avenue and John O'Connor of 462 East 137th Street. The complainant, Max Varga, conducts a store at 309 East Seventy-fifth Street. The men were held by Magistrate Douras in $7,500 bail each for hearing on March 15.

RAIDING PARSON HOLDS MOB AT BAY

Dr. Johnson of Philadelphia Asked to Give Up Pulpit for Enforcement Work.

Special to The New York Times.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., March 11.—The Rev. Dr. Robert E. Johnson, Philadelphia's raiding parson, whom prohibition officials describe as the most efficient enforcement agent in the country, has been the centre of stirring incidents since he and his aids started a liquor war here and in Central City yesterday afternoon.

Thus far $40,000 worth of liquor and a quantity of drugs have been seized, and there has been some thrilling gun play, in which the pastor of the Twenty-ninth Street Methodist Church in Philadelphia has come off victor. As a result of the clergyman's successes here and elsewhere, Pennsylvania enforcement authorities have asked Dr. Johnson to resign his pastorate and devote his entire time to prohibition work.

This morning the pastor and his raiders descended on the Alinkoff store, in East Market Street, Central City. A crowd gathered, and Agent Murray got into a fight with Charles Duggert, whom he was trying to arrest. The crowd becoming threatening, a number of agents threw themselves into the fray, and Dr. Johnson drew an automatic pistol and cowed the bystanders until Duggert had been hustled into a waiting automobile. Duggert's sister, who had been ill for some time, became unconscious as the automobile was driving away, and the crowd, charging that the chauffeur had run into her, became so angry policemen were summoned to quiet it.

Agents McConnville and Sisson of the clergyman's staff last night returned fire directed at them from the running board of an automobile in which they assert one passenger was Lee Levy, proprietor of the Acme Products Company, from which the raiders took thirty-two barrels of alcohol this morning, though Levy insisted he held a permit to have alcohol on his premises.

The visit to the Acme place resulted from an arrangement an agent said he had entered into with Mrs. Maurice Jones of Carey Avenue to get a large quantity of liquor, for which he said the woman demanded an advance payment of $1,000, saying she could procure it through Levy. Mrs. Jones denied the charge, but agents said they saw her son throw fake labels over the fence from the Acme store, and that when they tried to recover the labels shots were fired at them from outside the fence.

WESTERN UNION WINS AGAIN

Right to Lay Cable Sustained by Federal Court of Appeals.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals in an opinion rendered by Judges Henry G. Ward, Charles M. Hough and Martin T. Manton yesterday afternoon affirmed the decision of Judge Augustus N. Hand in the Federal District Court refusing the Government a preliminary injunction to prevent the landing by the Western Union Telegraph Company of the Barbados cable at Miami Beach, and also to prevent the sending of messages originating in or addressed to Brazil over the Key West-Cojimar (Cuba) cable.

The Appellate Court in its decision spoke of the necessity of getting the case before the Supreme Court, and continued:

"Concededly the right to permit or to prohibit the landing of cables between foreign countries and the American coast is in Congress under its power to regulate commerce between States and foreign countries. In point of practice, Congress on several occasions has done so by acts of Congress, and sometimes the President has done so as Chief Executive, and sometimes cables have been laid by corporations without any permit at all.

"We think no practice has been established sufficient to sustain the contention that the President has such power as Chief Executive, and our inclination also is to think that the Western Union Telegraph Company has the right to land its cable on the beach near Miami, Florida, under the Post Road act."

The application for the preliminary injunction was made in an equity suit by United States Attorney Francis G. Caffey and his assistant, Earl B. Barnes.

Attempt in Ohio to Wreck Trains.

CLEVELAND, March 11.—New York Central Railroad detectives tonight were investigating what is believed to have been an attempt to wreck eastbound fast trains half a mile west of the Willoughby (Ohio) station, some time last night. Spikes had been drawn for the entire length of one rail and for one-fourth the length of another with tools taken from a tool house, which had been broken into.
